SC to hear pleas seeking stay on CAA on April 9

Govt. refuses to state that it would refrain from granting fast-tracked citizenship to non-Muslim migrants from Afghanistan, Bangladesh and Pakistan during the pendency of the case

Krishnadas Rajagopal
NEW DELHI

The Supreme Court on Tuesday agreed to consider the question of staying the operation of the rules notified under the Citizenship (Amendment) Act or CAA on April 9, days before the first phase of the Lok Sabha election, even as the government refused to make a statement that it would not grant fast-tracked citizenship to non-Muslim migrants from Afghanistan, Bangladesh and Pakistan during the pendency of the case.

"I am not ready to make any statement," Solicitor-General Tushar Mehta, appearing for the Centre, said.

A three-judge Bench headed by Chief Justice of

The big test

Arguments coming before the Supreme Court on April 9:

- CAA rules operate solely on the basis of religious identity
- Once the process of granting citizenship starts under the CAA rules, it cannot be reversed
- CAA rules have done away with the scrutiny of applications of citizenship by District Collectors, and recommendations of State governments on applications

India D.Y. Chandrachud sought to calm the apprehensions of 237 petitioners that the government would go ahead and implement the CAA rules in the meantime.

"They do not even have the infrastructure in place," Chief Justice Chandrachud told the petitioners' side, led by senior advocates Kapil Sibal and Indira Jaising.

However, Ms. Jaising, for Trinamool Congress leader Mahua Moitra, cautioned the court against relying on a "hope-and-trust jurisprudence" in favour of the government.

"But we are here," the Chief Justice assured her. Mr. Sibal and advocate Haris Beeran, for the Indian Union Muslim League, said they should be given the liberty to mention in court if the government began the citizenship process under CAA.

Violation of rights

Mr. Sibal said if the Centre could wait nearly five years to notify the CAA rules, they could wait till July 2024. He said citizenship, once granted, was irreversible. Fast-tracking citizenship based on the religious identity of a person violated the fundamental rights to non-discrimination and equality under the Constitution.

Advocate Kaleeswaram Raj supported the argument, noting that the top court had stayed the controversial farm laws.

SC issues summons to Ramdev in Patanjali misleading ads case

The Hindu Bureau
NEW DELHI

Baba Ramdev

The Supreme Court on Tuesday asked self-styled yoga guru Baba Ramdev to personally appear in a contempt case initiated against Patanjali Ayurved for publishing misleading advertisements in violation of the Drugs and Magic Remedies (Objectionable Advertisements) Act, 1954 despite an undertaking given to the court in November last year.

A Bench of Justices Hima Kohli and Ahsanuddin Amanullah issued a show cause notice to Baba Ramdev to file his response against initiating contempt proceedings against him.

The Bench further directed Acharya Balkrishna, the Managing Director of Patanjali Ayurved, to be present in the court along with Baba Ramdev for the next hearing on April 2.

The court ordered the presence of Balkrishna after learning that he did not file a response to the show cause notice issued to him on February 27. The Bench brushed aside the explanations offered by senior advocate Mukul Rohatgi, appearing for Patanjali, for not filing a reply.

The Bench indicated that Baba Ramdev should be heard in the case as he had endorsed the Patanjali advertisements prohibited by the court on November 21, 2023.

Will bring out a 'chargesheet' against BJP MPs, says Congress

The Hindu Bureau
NEW DELHI

The Congress's Delhi unit on Tuesday said it will bring out a "chargesheet" against the Delhi BJP MPs, highlighting their "inaction and non-performance" over the past 10 years. In response, the BJP said its MPs as well as the Centre had made "immense contributions" towards the city.

Kejriwal moves HC against ED summons in excise policy case

The Hindu Bureau
NEW DELHI

Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal on Tuesday moved the Delhi High Court challenging the summons issued to him by the Enforcement Directorate (ED) in a money-laundering case pertaining to the now-scrapped Delhi excise policy.

The petition filed by the Aam Aadmi Party convener, who has been asked to appear before the probe agency on Thursday, has been listed for hearing on Wednesday before a Bench comprising Justices Suresh Kumar Kait and Manoj Jain. Mr. Kejriwal has, so far, skipped eight summonses issued by the ED between December 2023 and March 2024 in the money-laundering case, terming them "illegal" and "politically motivated".

Granted bail
A magistrate court here had on Saturday granted bail to the AAP chief on two complaints filed against him by the probe agency for skipping six of the previous eight summonses in the case. On Monday, the CM had skipped ED summons for questioning in another case related to alleged irregularities in the Delhi Jal Board (DJB).

DJB case
The DJB case is based on an FIR registered by the Central Bureau of Investigation alleging that former Chief Engineer Jagdish Kumar Arora had awarded a contract worth ₹38.02 crore to a private firm even though it did not meet the eligibility criteria. The work was related to supplying, installing, testing, and commissioning electromagnetic flow meters.

In February, the ED had arrested Mr. Arora and a contractor, Anil Kumar Aggarwal.

ED has become a political weapon, says AAP; the noose is tightening around CM: BJP

AAP says the agency is issuing 'political press releases' at behest of BJP, which is scared of Kejriwal and wants to jail him before LS poll; agencies often issue releases in high-profile cases, retorts BJP

The Hindu Bureau
NEW DELHI

The Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) on Tuesday accused the Enforcement Directorate (ED) of becoming a "political weapon" a day after the probe agency said the Bharat Rashtia Samithi (BRS) leader K. Kavitha, along with others, had "conspired with the top leaders of AAP, including Arvind Kejriwal and Manish Sisodia", to get "favours in the Delhi excise policy formulation and implementation".

The case pertains to allegations of irregularities in formulating and implementing the now-scrapped 2021-22 excise policy.

Two senior AAP leaders — Manish Sisodia and Sanjay Singh — are in judicial custody in connection with the case.

On March 15, the ED arrested Ms. Kavitha in the same case, alleging that she played a "key role" in lobbying for a "south

The BJP is scared of only one political leader — Arvind Kejriwal, said senior AAP leader and Finance Minister Atishi. PTI group" of liquor manufacturers to get licence in Delhi.

In a press statement on Monday, the agency said, "In exchange for these favours, she was involved in paying ₹100 crore to the leaders of AAP."

'They're after the chief'
Attacking the ED, AAP said the ₹100-crore kickback claim had been dismissed by the Supreme Court last year while hearing Mr. Sisodia's bail plea and that the agency aimed to stop Mr. Kejriwal, the party's national convener and Delhi Chief Minister, from campaigning in the Lok Sabha election.

"Political parties issue press releases. Why did the ED issue a political press release? This means that ED has become a political weapon. The BJP is scared of only one political leader — Arvind Kejriwal," senior AAP leader and Finance Minister Atishi said.

The Health Minister Saurabh Bharadwaj said that in connection with the liquor 'scam', raids have been conducted at over 500 locations, testimonies of over 1,000 people have been recorded, and over 50,000 documents were included in the ED's chargesheet.

"However, despite this extensive investigation, the ED has not been able to produce any evidence of illegal funds, illegal assets, or benami properties. Only baseless allegations continue to be made in this case," he added.

'AAP frustrated'
Reacting to the AAP's statement, Delhi BJP chief Vinendra Sachdeva said, "The noose of law is tightening around Mr. Kejriwal. The frustrated AAP leaders have forgotten that investigative agencies release press statements on the crucial developments of every high-profile case."

"The manner in which the entire AAP leadership is creating a stir over Kejriwal's possible arrest, it is evident that he is corrupt and his imprisonment is certain," he added.

'Assault' on shopkeeper triggers protests in Bengaluru, several BJP leaders detained

Several shopkeepers in Nagarathpete area down shutters for the day; protesters raise 'Jai Shri Ram' slogans and chant 'Hanuman Chalisa'

The Hindu Bureau
BENGALURU

Tension prevailed at Nagarathpete area in Bengaluru on Tuesday as the BJP staged a protest demonstration against the assault on a trader by a group of youths for allegedly playing 'Hanuman Chalisa' over a loudspeaker in his shop during azaan (Islamic call for prayer) even as two more persons were arrested in connection with the incident.

The rally was taken out even though police had refused it permission on the ground that the Model Code of Conduct was in force, sources said.

All three BJP candidates from Bengaluru – Tejasvi Surya (Bengaluru South), P.C. Mohan (Bengaluru Central) and Shobha Karandlaje (Bengaluru North) – who led the protest, were detained by the police and shifted to CAR Ground.

Senior police officials said that around 40 BJP leaders and workers were taken into preventive custody and released later.

Several shopkeepers in Nagarathpete downed shutters for the day. Protesters raised 'Jai Shri Ram' slogans and chanted 'Hanuman Chalisa'.

The rally was prompted by an incident that occurred on March 17 when an argument broke out between a group of youth and a mobile phone shop owner over a loudspeaker. The argument turned ugly when the accused allegedly slapped the shop owner. The police had later arrested the accused.

'Govt. anti-Hindu'
BJP MPs blamed the Siddaramaiah-led Congress government in Karnataka for the incident, terming it 'anti-Hindu' and said the ruling party's 'appeasement politics' had brought on this situation. "The appeasement politics of the Siddaramaiah government has become a security risk for Hindus. It started with pro-Pakistan slogans, followed by a terror attack and now this assault," said Ms. Karandlaje.

On the other hand, Health and Family Welfare Minister and local Congress MLA Dinesh Gundu Rao accused the BJP of trying to spread hatred.

"The boys who attacked the shopkeeper are both Hindus and Muslims. Why will Hindus attack a Hindu shopkeeper over azaan? What makes you jump to the conclusion that it was a fight over azaan versus bhajan? Whatever the fight was all about, the people who acted wrongly should be punished," he wrote X (formerly Twitter).

Meanwhile, the Congress has lodged a complaint with the Election Commission accusing Mr. Surya of violating the poll code and trying to incite communal passions.

'Discrimination', 'anti-national' rhetoric: issues at forefront of JNU student polls

Ashna Butani
NEW DELHI

Better infrastructure, inclusive spaces, and reinstatement of the Gender Sensitisation Committee Against Sexual Harassment (GSCASH) are some of the key promises being made by the candidates in the upcoming Jawaharlal Nehru University Students' Union (JNUSU) elections. The contest, which is being held after a four-year gap, promises to be keenly fought given the diverse backgrounds of the candidates.

The university is set to hold the student body elections on March 22 and declare the results on March 24.

Dhananjay, a Dalit PhD scholar from Bihar's Gaya district, who is the presidential candidate of the United Left Alliance, the banner under which all left parties are jointly contesting the polls, said, "For many of us from marginalised communities, even paying ₹6,000-₹7,000 a month extra was crushing. The issue of the four-year undergraduate programme and fee hikes pulled me towards student politics."

Umesh Chandra Ajmeera, who hails from a Scheduled Tribe, is the presidential candidate of the RSS-affiliated Akhil Bhartiya Vidyarthi Parishad (ABVP).

Mr. Ajmeera comes from a remote village near Warangal in Telangana. "I have grown up without proper infrastructure and roads. We would cross rivers to get to school. Even in JNU, there are numerous infrastructural issues. The roof can fall on one's head any time," he said.

The ABVP candidate wants to counter the "anti-national" rhetoric on the campus. Biswajit Minji, who also belongs to the ST community, is the presidential candidate of the Birsam Ambedkar Phule Students' Association. He hails from a family of farm labourers in West Bengal.

"When I came to campus and participated in a protest for Rohith Vemula, I became increasingly aware of the systematic oppression our communities face," he said. He hopes to address "the discrimination in the viva examinations", reservation policies in hostels, and hostel infrastructure issues.

Swati Singh, originally from Bhagalpur in Bihar, found her calling at a young age. She became actively involved in student politics in 2015. Her resolve to have safe spaces for dissent became stronger after the university rusticated her in 2023 for an alleged run-in with security guards during a protest. Last month, the High Court quashed the rustication order. She is now the candidate for joint secretary of the United Left Alliance.

Painful to see temples approaching courts for funds: HC

The Hindu Bureau
NEW DELHI

A petition in the Allahabad High Court said that the annuity of nine temples in Vrindavan town in Uttar Pradesh had been withheld for the last four years by District Magistrate and Senior Treasury Officer, Mathura. The High Court noted that it is "painful" that temples and trusts have to knock the doors of the court for getting their dues released from the U.P. government.

The Bench was hearing a petition filed by Thakur Rangji Maharaj Virajman Mandir. The petitioner told the court that the annuity amounting to ₹9,125,07 had not been released to nine temples due to lack of permission by the Board of Revenue.

Stalin deplors Karandlaje's comments, seeks action

The Hindu Bureau
CHENNAI

Condemning Union Minister Shobha Karandlaje's "reckless" comments against people from Tamil Nadu living in Karnataka, Chief Minister M.K. Stalin on Tuesday sought legal action against her.

Tamil Nadu Chief Minister M.K. Stalin

Bengaluru incident
Addressing presspersons, Ms. Karandlaje reportedly said that "people from Tamil Nadu, who come to Karnataka, get trained in Tamil Nadu and plant bombs in Karnataka." She had also reportedly said that they had placed the bomb in the cafe, in an apparent reference to the recent incident in Bengaluru.

"Clearly, she lacks the authority for such assertions. Tamilians and Kannadigas alike will reject this divisive rhetoric of the BJP," Mr. Stalin said in a social media post, accusing her of "causing threat to peace, harmony and national unity".

From the Prime Minister to cadre, "everyone in the BJP should stop engaging in this divisive politics," he said, adding that the Election Commission should take note of the "hate speech" and take action.

AIADMK general secretary Edappadi K. Palaniswami, too, condemned the Union Minister for "intending to generalise the people of Tamil Nadu as extremists".

In a social media post, he urged the EC to take stringent measures to ensure that such hate speeches, with divisive intent, are not delivered.

Retracts comments
Late Tuesday night, the Union Minister apologised for her remarks and posted on X (formerly Twitter) that she was retracting them.

"To my Tamil brothers and sisters, I wish to clarify that my words were meant to shine light, not cast shadows. Yet I see that my remarks brought pain to some, and for that, I apologise. My remarks were solely directed towards those trained in the Krishnagiri forest, linked to the Rameswaram Cafe blast. From the depths of my heart, I ask your forgiveness. Furthermore, I retract my previous comments..."

JD(U) leader Ashraf Fatmi quits, likely to rejoin RJD

Janata Dal (United) general secretary and former Union Minister Mohammed Ali Ashraf Fatmi on Tuesday resigned from the party to protect his "moral values". Mr. Fatmi is likely to return to the Opposition Rashtriya Janata Dal (RJD) with the hope of contesting the upcoming Lok Sabha poll from Darbhanga or Madhubani constituency. As per the seat-sharing arrangement finalised among NDA allies on March 18, the Madhubani and Darbhanga seats both went to the BJP. Mr. Fatmi has won the Darbhanga seat four times so far. He had joined the JD(U) ahead of the 2019 Lok Sabha poll.

'Not feasible to hold Civils exam in Manipur hill districts'

The Manipur government on Tuesday informed the Delhi High Court that it was not in favour of setting up examination centres for the 2024 Civil Services (Preliminary) Examination (CSE) in Churachandpur and Kangpokpi districts of the violence-hit State. A letter written by Manipur Chief Secretary was handed over to the court, which was hearing a plea by Zomi Student Federation seeking to set up examination centres in the hill districts of Manipur for the coming CSE. As per UPSC's notification issued in February, Imphal is the only centre in Manipur where the CSE could be held. The High Court would hear the matter again on March 22.

M.P. student preparing for exams kidnapped in Kota

A 20-year-old student from Madhya Pradesh's Shivpuri was allegedly kidnapped in Kota, Rajasthan, where she was preparing for competitive examinations, the police said on Tuesday. According to the police, the student's father received her pictures and videos on his mobile on Monday along with threats and demand of ransom of ₹30 lakh, after which he approached the police. Meanwhile, Union Minister Jyotiraditya Scindia, who is BJP candidate for Guna-Shivpuri Lok Sabha seat, also spoke to Rajasthan Chief Minister Bhajan Lal Sharma and requested a speedy probe into the matter to ensure the safe release of the student.

Portal for water level in dams, canals launched in Rajasthan

A dedicated portal launched in Jaipur last week will provide real time information on the water level in dams and reservoirs and the quantity of water available in canals in different parts of Rajasthan. The portal is expected to help in an efficient water management and facilitate prediction of floods and drought. Water Resources Minister Suresh Singh Rawat said while launching the portal that Rajasthan was the first State to develop a system which would bring the information on the availability of water in the public domain. "This is going to be a milestone in the water and disaster management in the State," Mr. Rawat said.

Regulator snubs revenue projections at Adani-controlled airport

Jagriti Chandra
NEW DELHI

The Adani-controlled Thiruvananthapuram airport's projection of revenue from non-aeronautical services such as the sale of food and beverages – used to subsidise costs levied on airlines and passengers – is just a "minuscule" 12% of the norm, according to the country's airport tariff regulator. In fact, it is only a third of what the airport earned before privatisation.

The Airports Economic Regulatory Authority (AERA) has recommended that this revenue projection should be hiked four-fold, from the ₹103 crore proposed by the airport to ₹395 crore, over five years. The Adani-run airport has dismissed the AERA's projection as "notional revenue".

The AERA has also questioned how the master contract for non-aeronautical services was awarded to an Adani group subsidiary, with restrictive bid criteria and "a low revenue share of 10%".

This structure led to the airport operator reducing the mandatory 30% of non-aero revenue – which must be funnelled back for cross-subsidising the costs borne by airlines and passengers – to 30% of only the 10% of revenue shared, that is, a mere 3% of the total. The global airlines body, the International Air Transport Association, has also said that this formula is "not justified".

New West Bengal DGP shunted out by ECI in a day

Election Commission appoints Sanjay Mukherjee as replacement for Vivek Sahay, who was named on Monday in place of Rajeev Kumar

The Hindu Bureau
KOLKATA

Senior IPS officer Sanjay Mukherjee was on Tuesday appointed West Bengal Director General of Police (DGP) by the Election Commission of India (ECI).

On Monday, the commission had transferred West Bengal DGP Rajeev Kumar and the State government appointed Vivek Sahay as the new DGP. Sources in the West Bengal administration said Mr. Sahay was appointed by the State government based on his seniority but since he was set to superannuate before the completion of the election process under way, the ECI may have looked at another official for the key position. This has rendered Mr. Sahay the shortest-serving DGP of West Bengal.

Services, was the second on the list of three officers recommended by the West Bengal government for the post of DGP to the ECI after the poll panel directed the removal of Mr. Kumar from that position.

While Mr. Sahay's appointment notification was made by the State Home Department in which it referred to the ECI order to post Mr. Kumar to a "non-election related assignment" in line with "efforts to maintain a level-playing field and ensure the integrity of the electoral process", the corresponding notification for Mr. Mukherjee a day later was made directly by the commission.

Meanwhile, Trinamool Congress leader Derek O'Brien on Tuesday said the party wants Supreme Court-monitored Lok Sabha polls as the BJP's "filthy tricks" are "destroying" institutions like the Election Commission. "... Are BJP so nervous to face people that they are turning ECI into a party office to target Oppn?" he posted on social media.

The transfers of officials in West Bengal by the ECI has not gone down well with the Trinamool Congress over the years. On several occasions Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee reinstated officials to their earlier posting after elections. During the 2016 Assembly polls in West Bengal, the ECI had removed Mr. Kumar from the post of Kolkata Police Commissioner. He was reinstated by the Chief Minister in the post after the polls.

Action sought against school staff for taking students to PM's rally

The Hindu Bureau
COIMBATORE

Coimbatore District Elementary Education Officer Punitha Anthoniyammal on Tuesday conducted an inquiry into an incident where schoolchildren were brought to participate in a roadshow by Prime Minister Narendra Modi in Coimbatore on Monday.

She instructed the management of the government-aided Sri Sai Baba Vidyalayam Aided Middle School to take strict action against the headmaster and staff, and submit a detailed report of the incident.

24-hour deadline

"The school has 24 hours to submit its report, and the findings will be shared after the Election Commission of India (ECI) is informed," she said.

Maharashtra Navnirman Sena (MNS) chief Raj Thackeray on Tuesday called on Union Home Minister Amit Shah in New Delhi amid intense speculation of his party joining the ruling Mahayuti coalition in Maharashtra and the National Democratic Alliance (NDA) at the Centre.

Mr. Thackeray also met BJP's national general secretary Vinod Tawde in a plush Delhi hotel strongly hinting at a pre-Lok Sabha deal being seal between the two parties.

The MNS president was accompanied by his son, Amit, and Mr. Tawde during the half-hour talks with Mr. Shah.

According to sources, the meeting with Mr. Shah was the result of mediations by Maharashtra BJP leader Devendra Fadnavis,

BJP allots 10 Lok Sabha seats to PMK; party leaders sign seat-sharing pact

The Hindu Bureau
CHENNAI

The BJP and the PMK on Tuesday morning finalised a seat-sharing arrangement for the upcoming Lok Sabha election, as per which the latter would contest in 10 constituencies in Tamil Nadu as part of the National Democratic Alliance (NDA).

The pact was signed by PMK founder S. Ramadoss and BJP State president K. Annamalai at the former's residence at Thailapuram in Villupuram district after a two-hour deliberation in which PMK president Anbumani Ramadoss and BJP's former State president L. Murugan were present.

Political developments had picked up on Monday when the PMK, which has a substantial political base in the northern Tamil Nadu and parts of the western region among the Vanniars, inclined towards the BJP after having held protracted talks with the AIADMK. It finalised and announced its decision to join the NDA after its district secretaries' meeting at Thailapuram.

Murugan, who attended Prime Minister Narendra Modi's roadshow in Coimbatore on Monday, reached the PMK founder's residence to seal the deal on Tuesday. In a joint press conference, after the finalising the pact, Mr. Anbumani said that his party had been a part of the NDA in New Delhi for the past 10 years. "The PMK has decided to contest in the 2024 election as a part of the NDA in the interest of the nation, and of Tamil Nadu...." "The people of Tamil Nadu have had a strong dislike towards the State's rulers for the past 60 years and they want a change. The NDA will secure a massive win, both in Tamil Nadu and in India," he added.

List in two days

Mr. Annamalai said it was an important decision taken by the PMK to strengthen the objective of Mr. Modi to secure over 400 seats in the 18th Lok Sabha. He thanked Mr. Ramadoss and recollected the PMK leader's close association with the BJP and former Prime Minister Atal Bihari Vajpayee. The list of constituencies that the PMK will contest from is expected to be announced in two days.

Haryana CM Saini expands Cabinet, adds 8 new Ministers

The Hindu Bureau
CHANDIGARH

Haryana Chief Minister Nayab Singh Saini on Tuesday expanded his Cabinet by inducting eight MLAs as Ministers, in which seven are new faces.

Mr. Saini was last week sworn in as the new Chief Minister of Haryana after Manohar Lal and his Council of Ministers resigned, as the strained ruling coalition of the BJP and the Janayak Janta Party broke apart amid differences over seat sharing for the general election. Governor Bandaru Dattatreya administered the oath of office to the newly-inducted Ministers here in which one has been inducted as a Cabinet Minister, while the rest are Ministers of State. BJP MLA Kamal Gupta is the lone new Cabinet Minister to have earlier figured in the Lal Cabinet.

GUWAHATI

Seventy-seven educationists, intellectuals, cultural and literary activists in Assam have asked the Assam Pradesh Congress Committee (APCC) to leave the Barpeta Lok Sabha seat to the Left Front so that a key ally of the BJP can be defeated.

In a letter to APCC president Bhupen Kumar Borah on March 17, the signatories said the Congress party should withdraw its candidate for the Barpeta seat in favour of the Communist Party of India-Marxist (CPI-M) to defeat the Asom Gana Parishad (AGP) candidate.

The Congress denied a ticket to Barpeta's incumbent MP Abdul Khaleque and fielded Deep Bayan, the former president of the Assam unit of Seva Dal.

The CPI(M) is one of four Left Front constituents of the 16-party United Opposition Forum, Assam headed by Congress. The others are CPI, CPI (Marxist-Leninist) Liberation, and All India Forward Bloc. "Such a liberal and realistic approach on your part will not only take the image of your party in Assam to greater heights but will also ensure the defeat of the BJP and its allies and remove them from power," the signatories led by academician Hiren Gohain wrote.

The Thiruvananthapuram International airport is being run by the Adani Group. SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT paper floated by the AERA on February 12 to determine the revised tariff for the five-year control period, from April 2022 to March 2027. It invited various stakeholders, such as airlines, airports, and ground handling agencies, to submit their comments by March 15, after which it will issue a tariff order.

The Thiruvananthapuram Kerala International Airport Ltd (TKIAL) is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Adani Enterprises Ltd, which signed a concession agreement with the Airports Authority of India in January 2021 after a privatisation process to operate, manage, and develop the airport for a period of 50 years.

Adani Airport Holdings Limited (AAHL), incorporated in 2019 as a 100% subsidiary of Adani Enterprises Ltd., holds eight airports in its portfolio, including TKIAL.

The AERA noted that the non-aeronautical revenue (NAR) projected by TKIAL for the five-year period was "significantly lower" as compared to that of other public-private partnership airports such as those in Delhi, Mumbai, Bengaluru, Hyderabad, and Cochin, where it is at least 50% of the total operation and management (O&M) expenses.

While Thiruvananthapuram airport's O&M expenses are at ₹1,752.25 crore, its non-aero revenue for the five years was only ₹102.76 crore, or just 12% of the norm. The AERA called this sum "minuscule". Instead, it has recommended a sum of ₹395 crore from 2022-2027.

"This will impact the interest of the airport users, as 30% of the non-aeronautical revenue is used for cross-subsidization," the AERA said.

Under the hybrid till mechanism for determining airport tariffs, 30% of the non-aero revenue is to be used to offset aeronautical costs such as aircraft landing and parking charges, which are paid by airlines, and passenger security fees and user development fees, levied on air travellers.

Absence of Muslim candidate triggers row

BJP's Malappuram candidate M. Abdul Salam was allegedly denied permission to accompany Modi during his roadshow in Palakkad; CPI(M) accuses the party of insulting not only Dr. Salam, but the Muslim community as well; this was the Prime Minister's second visit to Kerala within a week

The Hindu Bureau
PALAKKAD

Prime Minister Narendra Modi took out a roadshow in Palakkad town on Tuesday, infusing enthusiasm and excitement in thousands of BJP workers who gathered here to greet him. It was Mr. Modi's second visit to Kerala within a week as part of the BJP's election campaign. He had addressed a rally in Pathanamthitta on March 15. BJP leaders said Mr. Modi would visit the State again to campaign for the party's key candidates in April. The roadshow started at 10.45 a.m. from the Anjivilakku Junction. Thousands of BJP workers lined up on both sides of the road and cheered for the Prime Minister. Mr. Modi was flanked by BJP's Palakkad candidate C. Krishnakumar and Ponnani candidate Nivedita Subramanian. BJP State president K. Surendran and two SPG guards stood behind him. 'Not allowed' However, BJP's Malappuram candidate M. Abdul Salam was denied permission to accompany Mr. Modi during the roadshow. enter the vehicle as his name was not on the SPG list. Dr. Salam left Palakkad saying that "his name was not there on the list." BJP sources said that Dr. Salam could not be accommodated as there was no space in the vehicle. CPI(M) leader A.K. Balan accused the BJP of insulting not only Dr. Salam, but the Muslim community as well. "The BJP had announced earlier that the candidates of Ponnani, Malappuram and Palakkad would accompany the Prime Minister. But by denying Dr. Salam, the BJP has sent a wrong message. It can be interpreted that Dr. Salam was denied entry because he is a Muslim," said Mr. Balan. He said that minorities would have to suffer more such insults from the BJP. However, Dr. Salam denied Mr. Balan's allegation, saying that it was a fabricated story. "His job is to fabricate such stories," Dr. Salam said in Malappuram. Dr. Salam told a channel that he went to Palakkad to meet Mr. Modi, to take a photo with him, and to invite him to Malappuram. Dr. Salam added that he was disappointed at being denied the opportunity to board the Prime Minister's vehicle. "Who will not like to accompany the Prime Minister? I have no complaint. I knew I was not eligible. But my opportunities are coming," he said. The roadshow covered nearly one kilometre in half-an-hour and concluded at Head Post Office. Elaborate security arrangements were made for Mr. Modi's visit. More than 2,000 police personnel were deployed across the town.

Karnataka HC stays ban imposed on 23 'ferocious' dog breeds

The Hindu Bureau
BENGALURU

The Karnataka High Court on Tuesday stayed the operation of a circular issued by the Union government banning 23 breeds of 'ferocious and dangerous' dogs.

However, the court clarified that the stay of the circular, issued on March 12 by the Animal Husbandry and Dairying Department of the Centre, would be limited only to Karnataka. Justice M. Nagaprasanna passed the interim order on a petition filed by Bengaluru residents. The High Court also directed the Centre to produce those documents, based on which the circular for banning the dog breeds was issued, for examining the prior consultation process. The circular stated that all those who have reared these breeds as pets should sterilise the dogs to stop further breeding.

The Centre's counsel told the court that the circular was issued based on a direction issued by the Delhi HC asking the department to consider the representation of the PIL petitioner for banning certain dog breeds. Noticing that the Delhi HC's order was "unequivocal in directing that all the stakeholders must be consulted before consideration of representation for banning dog breeds..", Justice Nagaprasanna said that there is a need to examine the documents for the decision-making process to ascertain whether the Kennel Club of India was consulted, as consultation with all stakeholders was essential. Some of the banned dog breeds are: Pitbull, American Staffordshire Terrier, Fila Brasileiro, Dogo Argentino, American Bulldog, Boerboel, Kangal and Caucasian Shepherd.

SC permits BRS leader to withdraw 2023 plea challenging ED summons

The Hindu Bureau
NEW DELHI

The Supreme Court on Tuesday permitted Bharat Rashtra Samithi MLC K. Kavitha to withdraw a writ petition filed in March last year challenging summons issued by the Directorate of Enforcement (ED) to her in connection with the now-scrapped Delhi excise policy case. Ms. Kavitha is the daughter of former Chief Minister and BRS leader K. Chandrasekhar Rao. Appearing before a Bench headed by Justice

K. Kavitha

Bela M. Trivedi, Ms. Kavitha's counsel, senior advocate Vikram Chaudhri, submitted that his client would like to withdraw the petition as she had already been arrested on March 15 and remanded in ED custody. The plea was dismissed as withdrawn with liberty to Ms. Kavitha to pursue appropriate remedies in accordance with law. Mr. Chaudhri said a separate petition has been filed in the Supreme Court challenging her arrest and remand. The withdrawn petition filed on March 14, 2023, came two days before Ms. Kavitha was scheduled to appear before the ED for questioning. The BRS leader said she had already been questioned on March 11, 2023. She had argued that the ED summons was an intimidation tactic. Ms. Kavitha alleged that she was compelled to produce her mobile phone and was questioned after sunset the last time. She said her personal details had also been outed. The 2023 petition said she was implicated in the case on the basis of statements extracted out of certain persons using coercion.

Radhakrishnan gets charge of Telangana and Puducherry

The Hindu Bureau
NEW DELHI/HYDERABAD

President Droupadi Murmu on Tuesday gave Jharkhand Governor C.P. Radhakrishnan additional charge of Telangana and Puducherry. She also accepted the resignation of Tamilisai Soundararajan who had stepped down from the posts. "The President of India is also pleased to appoint Shri C. P. Radhakrishnan, Governor of Jharkhand to discharge the functions of the Governor of Telangana and Lieutenant-Governor of Puducherry in addition to his own duties, until regular arrangements are made," a Rashtrapati Bhavan communique said. On Monday, Ms. Soundararajan resigned from the posts amid speculation that she could contest the Lok Sabha election. She is said to be a contender for the Chennai South seat. Mr. Radhakrishnan thanked Ms. Murmu for giving him the additional responsibility.

Efforts on to keep wild tusker away

The Hindu Bureau
IDUKKI

The Kerala Forest Department is continuing its mission to chase wild tusker Padayappa back to forest from the residential areas in Munnar. The department plans to purchase aircraft-model drone elements to monitor the wild elephant's movements. According to officials, the tusker has damaged several shops, blocked vehicles, and terrorised local residents in the past month. A team is closely monitoring the movements of the tusker with the help of drone cameras and is trying to chase it back to forest. According to sources, the fruit shops at Mattupetty attract the tusker.

Selection and election

The Election Commission needs a selection panel free of executive bias

The quick, if not hasty, filling up of two vacancies in the Election Commission of India (ECI) has attracted justified criticism. The multi-member body got two new members within days of the resignation of Arun Goel, an Election Commissioner (EC) whose appointment itself came in the midst of a Constitution Bench hearing for a truly independent process of selecting members of the panel that conducts and supervises India's elections. Critics are not wrong when they point out that the Act setting out the process of selecting the Chief Election Commissioner and other ECs appeared to fall short of the sort of independence the Constitution Bench verdict of March 2023 envisaged. The selection took place at a time when a petition challenging the validity of the Act was about to be taken up for hearing. To add to the unfortunate set of circumstances, Mr. Goel's resignation for "personal reasons" has gone unexplained. It is a matter of grave concern that an EC whose term was set to go on for a few more years should choose to resign just days before the Commission finalised the Lok Sabha election schedule. It goes without saying that the discussion on the process selecting the ECs has no bearing on the competence or suitability of Gyanesh Kumar and Sukhbir Singh Sandhu, the two new ECs.

The real problem may lie with the law that Parliament chose to enact last year in response to the Supreme Court of India questioning the absence of any legislation since the inception of the Constitution, as required under Article 324, laying down an appointment process for the ECs. The Court's emphasis was on the ECI's independence from the executive so that the elections the panel conducts are truly free and fair. Towards that end, it sought to fill the vacuum by an interim arrangement under which the Prime Minister, the Leader of the Opposition and the Chief Justice of India (CJI) formed the selection committee to choose the CEC and ECs. However, it was meant to be in place only until Parliament enacted a law. In response, the government enacted a law that constituted a panel comprising the Prime Minister and any Union Minister, besides the Leader of the Opposition, or the leader of the largest single party in the Opposition. The question now before the Court is whether a committee in which the executive has a two-one majority can be a truly independent authority. The argument that Prime Ministers have always been selecting the CEC and ECs seems attractive, but, ultimately, an executive-driven process has to yield to one more rooted in the constitutional principle of having an independent body to hold free and fair elections, even if the CJI, as an institutional head, might not be the person most suited to be a part of the selection process.

Length and breadth

Rahul Gandhi's yatras have energised the Congress, but unsettled some allies

The second edition of Congress leader Rahul Gandhi's Bharat Jodo Yatra, the Bharat Jodo Nyay Yatra, concluded in Mumbai on March 17 with a rally that also saw the participation of some of the party's allies. Through the two editions of this yatra, Mr. Gandhi traversed a distance over 10,000 kilometres across the length and breadth of the country, meeting multitudes of people from across society. In the process he has also travelled some distance in his own evolution as a leader, to emerge as the most strident face of anti-Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) politics in India. If there was novelty and euphoria around the first edition, that was from Kanniyakumari to Srinagar, the second one, from Manipur to Mumbai, was more clinical and functional. With Mr. Gandhi tramping through the picturesque countryside, the first yatra delivered a nebulous message of love and harmony framed around the slogan, Nafrat Ke Bazaar Mein Mohabbat Ki Dukaan (outlet of love in a market of hate). To insulate Mr. Gandhi from expectations of immediate politics, the Congress insisted that the yatra was not an electoral exercise, but an ideological campaign. The yatra gained the Congress some electoral advantage in Karnataka and Telangana which it went on to win in the Assembly elections that followed, but the party lost in the elections in Chhattisgarh, Madhya Pradesh and Rajasthan.

In the second edition, the yatra's theme was built around social justice, a euphemism for a wider representation of caste groups in power. Both the yatras have achieved the goal of energising the party cadres, who found themselves suitably employed and connected to the party leadership in the run-up to the general election. The paradox for the Congress leaders is that the more success they meet, the stronger will be the push-back from their own allies. A wobbly, weak and flexible Congress at the centre of the anti-BJP alliance is a stronger glue to keep the alliance together. In States where the Congress is subservient to the regional forces, from Tamil Nadu to Bihar, the alliance is in better shape. But in West Bengal, where the State party chief, Adhir Ranjan Chowdhury, refused to bow down to the Trinamool Congress, the alliance fell through. The planning and management of the two editions of the Bharat Jodo Yatra also turned out to be a notable renewal of the party's organisational capacity. But, equally, the 2024 general election will put to the test Mr. Gandhi's brand of politics centred around left-leaning welfarism and inchoate secularism.

The curious case of Sosamma Iype and the Vechur cow

This is the unusual story of a quiet, unassuming woman who won the Padma Shri in 2022 for one of the more remarkable reasons imaginable: she saved and resurrected a breed of indigenous cattle, the Vechur cow. Dr. Sosamma Iype's story is located at the heart of India's tussle to industrialise rapidly while seeking to preserve its sublime biodiversity, at a time when the former was fashionable and the latter was not.

Agrarian transformations, erasure of breeds Steeped in abject poverty and food scarcity at the time of Independence, India had to lay the foundations of a vigorous industry, which would catapult us into the future, and simultaneously ensure that the most basic necessities of our citizens were met. Exacerbating our woes was the fact that the major bulk of our populace subsisted solely on agriculture and animal husbandry, thus making their modernisation vital. Establishing a host of agricultural universities soon after Independence, we embarked on the quest to modernise our farming and livestock rearing practices, hoping to retrieve them from the depths of antiquity. And though our agricultural output soared with the advent of the Green Revolution and dairy production spiked with the onset of the White Revolution, these miraculous transformations also came at a pernicious cost. They reduced indigenous breeds such as the Vechur cow to the brink of extinction.

Acknowledged as one of the world's smallest cattle breeds, the Vechur cow had little value in the India of the White Revolution. In its pursuit to boost milk production through the crossbreeding of indigenous cattle with high-yielding foreign breeds, the White Revolution's corollary was the erasure of smaller breeds such as the Vechur cow. Cross-breeding served to dilute the genetic purity of native breeds and diminish their population, and the Vechur cow, prized for its adaptability to local environmental conditions, found itself imperilled in the face of a sweeping shift towards larger, more commercially viable cattle. As the White Revolution gained momentum, traditional farming practices that relied on smaller-sized cattle breeds fell into disfavour. The Vechur cow, with its unique characteristics, became a casualty of changing agricultural dynamics and dwindling demand. Indeed, it would have disappeared altogether, had it not been for the selfless efforts of one unassuming Indian: Professor Sosamma Iype.

The professor is an authentic Indian heroine who has left an indelible impression upon India's cultural and agricultural landscape

"I don't remember drinking my mother's milk," writes Prof. Iype, "but I remember clearly the taste of the Vechur milk that my mother gave us to drink." Having grown up in an idyllic era when Vechur cows abounded, with a mother and calf in the compound of her own ancestral home in rural Kerala, it must have been disheartening for Prof. Iype to realise, while teaching at a veterinary college in 1989, that the Vechur breed had all but disappeared. Neither in animal husbandry reports nor in official surveys could this cow be traced, leading many a Keralite environmentalist, including Prof. Iype, to conclude dejectedly that it had become extinct. Conveying as much to her students, she resigned herself to the loss of an animal she deeply loved.

A student's search

But that is where the story takes a turn. Reluctant to accept the depressing reality of the Vechur's loss, Anil Zachariah — one of Prof. Iype's students who is today a renowned veterinarian — set out in search of an animal that, to him, had assumed mythical proportions. After much wandering and asking, he stumbled upon a Vechur cow in Vaikom, Kerala. Exhilarated beyond measure, and unable to keep the news from his mentor, he scaled the wall of Prof. Iype's house at midnight and leapt into her compound, thrilled to be breaking the marvellous news.

No sooner was that first Vechur cow discovered than Prof. Iype poured herself wholeheartedly into a mission to resurrect and nurture not only the Vechur but several of Kerala's other endangered indigenous breeds, such as the Kasargod, Vilwadi and Cheruvally cattle and the Attappady goat. Her Vechur Conservation Unit, founded at the Kerala Agricultural University with only eight cows, rose from strength to strength, boasting of more than 24 cows at the end of the first year itself — a tremendous testament to Prof. Iype's ardour. Yet, the road ahead was riddled with landmines. As with all idealists in India, she and her team had to contend with various obstacles, even as they blazed a trail. Simultaneously contending with government officials averse to her outlook; envious colleagues who sought to foil her efforts, going so far as to cast bizarre aspersions on her; well-known environmentalists falsely claiming she had facilitated the "patenting" of an Indian animal abroad; and a brutish media accusing her of treachery and "gene theft," Prof. Iype negotiated a perilous terrain. But not once did she flounder or cower. She persevered, she soldiered: a gentle colossus, Kerala's "Vechur Amma".

The project that became a template

The allure of this pioneering movement was destined to transcend the bounds of Kerala; and it soon gained widespread traction, finding partners in national governmental institutions. Visiting the veterinary college and seeing the glory of the Vechur Conservation Project, R.M. Acharya, of the Indian Council of Agricultural Research (ICAR), incredulously asked Prof. Iype how she had conceived of such a project — and led it to fruition — when even the ICAR had not contemplated it. In the event, the ICAR adopted the Vechur Conservation Project, using it as a template for the whole of India.

For Prof. Iype, it has never simply been about performing a scientific miracle and making history with the astounding success of her mission. Instead, she believes firmly in giving back to society, especially to the destitute farmers and cattle rearers in whose homes the Vechur once occupied pride of place. It was in this spirit that, in 1998, she established the Vechur Conservation Trust, whose purpose was to evolve a culture of community participation and enable innumerable impoverished farmers to rear the Vechur by providing them its germ-plasm. This has empowered them and their families to attain a greater degree of self-reliance.

Prof. Iype does not project herself as a messiah. But she is one — a visionary for whom translating an ideal into reality was always more important than any exercise in self-aggrandisement. Not only has she saved the Vechur cow, but she has also left an indelible impression upon our cultural and agricultural landscape, for which we shall forever remain indebted to her. No one will make a movie about her, but she is an authentic Indian heroine.

Ties that epitomise India's neighbourhood first policy

People have always marvelled at how little Bhutan with an area of 38,394 square kilometre and a population of 7.7 lakh as compared with its giant neighbour India with an area of 3.28 million sq.km and a population of 140 crores have been the closest of partners and the best of friends over the past 50 years and more.

The answer is quite simple. Both nations look to each other as equals, we treat each other with the utmost respect and we have long realised that size does not really make a difference in relations between two sovereign nation states. Thus, India has constantly respected Bhutanese identity, Bhutan's unique religious practices and its desire to be economically prosperous while retaining its own way of life. On its part, Bhutan has long known that there is no real threat to its sovereignty or identity from its southern flank. Hence, it has looked to India to help it grow, develop and prosper. India has lived up to this expectation. Over the decades this has developed into a unique level of trust amongst the leadership of the two countries. It has been in evidence in the recent past.

The Gelephu project

The King of Bhutan paid a visit to India in November 2023 during which he hinted at his plans for a Mindfulness City at Gelephu in southern Bhutan. It is to be like a Special Economic Zone to attract foreign investment and advance prosperity for that nation. Naturally, India, including its business entities, is expected to play a significant role in this effort. Simultaneously, the Gelephu Mindfulness City is to keep sustainability, well-being and environmental concerns at the forefront. Such a project is expected to lead the people of Bhutan to higher income levels while allaying any

There is much evidence of the unique level of trust between the leadership of Bhutan and India that has led to a strengthening of relations concerns about its impact on Bhutan as a carbon negative country. Gelephu city is expected to focus on human well-being too with an emphasis on yoga, rest and recreation, spa therapies and mental relaxation channels.

The visit last week by the Prime Minister of Bhutan to India was a follow-up to the king's earlier visit and there were excellent discussions with Prime Minister Narendra Modi as well as the President of India, Droupadi Murmu. This week, Mr. Modi is to pay a return visit to Bhutan. We must understand that any relationship, whether it is between two individuals or between two nations, needs constant tending, regular dialogue and a lot of care and cooperation. The back-to-back visits of the Prime Ministers of Bhutan and India to each other's nations is a manifestation of this attention placed on the relationship by both governments.

This is a good augury for the continued growth and development of India-Bhutan ties. It epitomises India's Neighbourhood First policy approach.

The anchor of hydropower cooperation

Hydropower cooperation is the bedrock of India's relations with Bhutan. Several cooperative hydroprojects have been completed and commissioned by the two governments which supply clean electricity to India and provide Thimphu with a stream of revenue due to which it has graduated out of the Least Developed Country status. The delayed Punatsangchu-II hydropower project is expected to be completed in 2024 — yet another successful example of the government-to-government model of cooperation in hydropower.

In recent years, a new joint venture model was developed for the construction of hydroprojects between India and Bhutan, but none of the proposed five projects has really taken off. Perhaps, it is time to acknowledge that this new proposed model is flawed and there is a need to go back to the drawing board to work out a more practical and potentially successful new model for hydroprojects.

India has also been a major development assistance partner to Bhutan and contributed ₹5,000 crore to its 12th Five Year Plan which just concluded. Critical in this process of development assistance is the fact that India does not merely undertake projects which are of benefit to it but pays a lot of attention to the priorities of the Bhutanese people so that projects of direct benefit to them are constructed. Such confabulation and discussion is an integral part of the successful partnership for prosperity between New Delhi and Thimphu. It is critical that this model continues in the future too.

Measures to consider

In the years ahead, India must contribute to the success of the Gelephu Mindfulness City and can perhaps consider the following measures: commence direct flights between Mumbai/Delhi and Gelephu; provide our technology and knowledge in building hard infrastructure to Bhutan (the private sector will take the lead); encourage high-end Indian tourists and businesspersons to visit Gelephu in controlled numbers; Encourage Indian businesses to set up shop in the city.

Gelephu is next to remote parts of West Bengal and Assam and the success of the Mindfulness City will have positive socio-economic spillovers for these geographies as well. It will provide yet another example of the win-win cooperation between India and Bhutan.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Donation, transparency

Corruption and donation in the political sphere are not different entities for the common man. Though their interpretation depends on the context and situations in politics to suit political parties of different hues, in general, there is no different meaning. In normal conversation while talking about corruption in politics, we come across the term 'anti-corruption measures taken by the government'. But strangely, this term is not used in the context of "donations" received by political parties in the election phase. There is also no anti-donation drive by the government in power, in the Centre or State. While the Supreme Court of India in its verdicts almost every other day is upholding democratic ethics and transparency in politics, it is distressing that the malaise continues. If 'donations' are needed, transparency is vital, backed by audits and IT declarations.

Repeated court orders cannot be taken lightly. The bank's reluctance belittles the image of the judiciary. When specific details are sought, the bank cannot pretend that it does not

Funds and the election

The series of directions by the Supreme Court on the electoral bonds issue do not look sufficient enough to reverse a long-existing public perception of 'unclean funds vitiating the election campaign'. The truth is that the 'funding' of political parties and 'returns' thereof have been 'unclean' even before and after the 'bonded' days. The unholy nexus between industrialists and politicians needs to be curbed by better methods.

There was a time when public servants who accepted and received as little as ₹500 were remanded, convicted, and sent to jail. This led to extreme situations that left their families shattered. But now we live in an age where lawmakers, who are public servants within the ambit of the Prevention of Corruption Act, receive over ₹500 crores and more, yet claim it to be a measure to bring out unaccounted money and strengthen political parties. We have premier bodies such as FICCI, ASSOCHAM and the CII saying that the revelation of data on the electoral bonds can have 'business repercussions'. Such a stand casts a dark shadow on the business practices of corporate bodies, on the integrity of law makers and donating individuals. The judiciary should stand firm in these testing times. Guaranteed MSP is an ethical imperative

As the general elections draw closer, agrarian concerns have once again taken centre stage. Farmers from the heartland of the Green Revolution have travelled to the border of the capital to not only voice their distress, but also to shape the electoral discourse. The ruling dispensation, sensing adverse electoral implications, attempted to reach out to the farmers. It said it was ready to procure pulses, maize, and cotton at MSP, but this was contingent upon farmers guaranteeing crop diversification. However, these efforts were rejected as the core issues were not addressed, say farm leaders.

The perennial issue of fair pricing of farm produce reigns supreme, now coupled with calls for legal assurances of Minimum Support Price (MSP). However, beyond mere legal mandates lies the pressing concern of maintaining self-sufficiency in food production and addressing the ongoing challenge of distribution. This underscores the ethical imperative of anchoring a legal guarantee for MSP.

The MSP regime was a vital instrument for ensuring food security in India. Given the unique nature of agriculture, farmers lack the ability to exert significant influence, let alone determine the price of their produce. This constitutes a 'market failure.' Thus, MSP ensures that agricultural commodity prices remain above a predetermined benchmark to facilitate remunerative price discovery.

Produce and perish trap

The MSP is announced annually for 23 crops covering both the kharif and rabi seasons, well in advance of sowing, with 21 of them being food crops. However, despite the announcements, the implementation of MSP remains poor. Only 6% of farmers, primarily those cultivating paddy and wheat in States such as Punjab, benefit from MSP. Most transactions involving these

is an agricultural economist and former chairman, Karnataka Agricultural Prices Commission, Government of Karnataka essential food commodities occur below the MSP, rendering farming economically unviable for the majority of producers in India. As a result, farmers are trapped in a dangerous cycle of produce and perish, leading to crippling debt and deaths by suicide. All these emphasise the pressing need to ensure MSP, including the one recommended by the eminent agricultural scientist M.S. Swaminathan (with a 50% profit margin).

Several articles under the Constitution, as well as the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Peasants, support the legal recourse to guaranteeing MSP. According to a recent opinion survey by an English TV channel, 83% of landowners and 77% of farm labourers expressed solidarity with the agitating farmers. Notably, 64% of the public also endorsed the farmers' demand for a legal right to MSP.

Sugarcane growers already benefit from a 'statutory' MSP, which sugar factories strictly adhere to when purchasing cane from farmers. A few years ago, Maharashtra attempted to amend its Agricultural Produce Market Committee (APMC) Act to prevent the purchase of agricultural produce below MSP, but the effort failed due to a lack of political will and a comprehensive strategy. The Karnataka Agricultural Price Commission has laid out a clear roadmap, including potential financial commitments, to ensure a legally binding MSP for crops cultivated in the State. A private member bill on The Farmers' Right to Guaranteed Remunerative MSP for Agricultural Commodities was tabled in Parliament in 2018. The Andhra Pradesh government unveiled a draft bill last year aimed at guaranteeing MSP for crops grown in the State. These efforts show that the objective of establishing a legal recourse to MSP has not emerged suddenly, nor is it impossible to attain.

The solution

A minor amendment to respective

State APMC Acts or the Centre's Essential Commodities Act would suffice to introduce a law ensuring that no transactions of farmers' produce occur at prices below the MSP. The budget outlay will not be as large as projected if legal recourse to MSP is accompanied by essential backward and forward linkages. Crop planning, market intelligence (including price forecasts), and other pre-sowing measures, along with the establishment of post-harvest infrastructure for efficient storage, transportation, and processing of farm commodities, greatly assist in managing the post-harvest glut in the market. Therefore, a legal route to MSP, complemented by the development of such linkages, would provide protection against "market failures" in addressing the surplus, rather than leading to "market distortion," as claimed by some mainstream economists.

Even enhancing MSP to provide a 50% profit margin over total cost is not challenging, considering that current margins already stand at around 22%. Finally, effective procurement and distribution, as envisaged under the National Food Security Act, 2013, is the most appropriate means to not only ensure MSP but also address hunger and malnutrition.

The PM-AASHA comprises schemes for price support and price deficiency payment, along with incentives to private traders to ensure MSP. While it possessed all the necessary elements as precursors to guarantee the MSP, its side-lining in policy circles highlights how political expediency rules the roost.

At present, farmers hardly get 30% of the price paid by the consumers; this will increase if MSP is guaranteed. Establishing a legally binding MSP will anger intermediaries as their share will get reduced. Often, government intervention, and particularly a legally binding MSP, is deemed a problem. It is this adherence to free market dogma that is preventing a just solution to the ongoing crisis in farmer incomes.

The fight for minority votes

How the Congress and CPI(M) are trying to outdo each other

STATE OF PLAY

G. Anand
anand.g@thehindu.co.in

The Communist Party of India (Marxist) and the Congress are fighting for Christian and Muslim votes in Kerala. The two communities, which constitute 26.56% and 18.38% of Kerala's electorate, respectively, could play a critical role in determining the outcome of the Lok Sabha elections in the State.

Christians and Muslims have rarely behaved as a homogenous voting bloc in Kerala. However, the concerns of the leaders of these communities about the continuing dominance of the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) in the country may galvanise these groups to vote in a more focused and uniform pattern compared to the Lok Sabha polls of 2019.

The Samastha Kerala Jemiyathul Ulama, an influential Sunni organisation, and the Latin Catholic Church have expressed their worry about the divisive politics playing out in the country.

Taking a potshot at the Congress, the Samastha published an editorial in Suprabhaatham, the organisation's mouthpiece, expressing "deep fear" at the "overnight" shift of those who had earlier endorsed the secular and democratic legacy of Jawaharlal Nehru, to the Sangh Parivar. The defections of Anil K. Antony, son of former Congress Chief Minister A.K. Antony, and Padmaja Ky. Venugopal, daughter of former Congress Chief Minister K. Karunakaran, to the BJP triggered the opinion piece. The editorial particularly expressed anguish at the fact that they had chosen the BJP over secular parties including the CPI(M).

Soon after, the Latin Catholic Church urged the laity to pray and fast on March 22 as a peaceful form of protest and social action against the rising tide of religious bigotry against minorities. The Church's message seemed to support the INDIA bloc's narrative that the Sangh Parivar poses a threat to secularism, democracy, and diversity.

While the Congress and the CPI(M) are INDIA bloc partners at the national level, they are political rivals in Kerala. In an attempt to outpace the Congress in its minority outreach, the CPI(M) announced last week that Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan would lead huge rallies across Kerala to mobilise public opinion against the Centre's decision to implement the Citizenship (Amendment) Act (CAA), 2019, as well as the attacks on Christians in Manipur.

Mr. Vijayan pointedly accused the Congress of pussy-footing around the BJP's move to implement what he termed the "patently anti-Muslim" CAA. He alleged that Congress leaders, including Rahul Gandhi, have been muted in their opposition to the divisive law. In a move likely to have electoral ramifications, Mr. Vijayan also hastily withdrew the cases that his government had registered against anti-CAA protesters in 2019 and against Latin Catholic Church-backed people who had protested against the construction of the International Seaport at Vizhinjam in 2022. The cases were sore points between the LDF government and the minority communities.

The Congress is yet to announce a counter to the CPI(M)'s minority outreach. Nevertheless, it remains confident that its closest coalition ally, the Indian Union Muslim League, will attract Muslim votes for the United Democratic Front (UDF). Moreover, the Congress believes that Latin Catholics, who constitute 13% of Christians in Kerala, will continue to support it, despite the CPI(M)'s and BJP's repeated efforts to reach out to the community.

Simultaneously, the Congress has attempted to dent the CPI(M)'s staunch anti-BJP image by alleging that both the parties are in cahoots in Kerala. The Leader of the Opposition, V.D. Satheesan, accused a top Left Democratic Front (LDF) leader, E.P. Jayarajan, and Union Minister Rajeesh Chandrasekhar, of being stakeholders in an Ayurveda resort in Kannur. Mr. Satheesan alleged that the Enforcement Directorate and the Income Tax Department had dropped their investigations into the supposedly dubious sources of funding for the Ayurveda resort after Mr. Chandrasekhar acquired stakes in the institution. In return, the State government too dropped important cases against BJP leaders, he claimed.

In Kerala, given the social, educational, regional, political and economic differences among them, minorities have never voted in a homogeneous manner. However, the BJP's reported ascendancy in the State might alter this voting behaviour. Whether the Congress or the CPI(M) will benefit more from this remains to be seen.

A look at the donors and political parties that encashed electoral bonds in four periods between July 2, 2021 and January 24, 2024

Details of bond purchases and encashments

The Data Point published on March 19 listed the companies that purchased bonds and the parties that encashed them in the first two years between April 12, 2019 and April 19, 2021. The following tables look at the share of bonds purchased and encashed in the last two years between July 2, 2021 and January 24, 2024, for which information is currently available in the public domain. On March 14, the Election Commission of India disclosed the list of donors who purchased electoral bonds and the political parties that encashed them. On Monday, the Supreme Court asked the State Bank of India to make a "complete disclosure" of electoral bonds data including their unique hidden serial numbers by Thursday. The numbers that link the purchasers and the donors are awaited. By Rebecca Rose Varghese and Gautam Doshi

July 2021-January 2022: The table looks at the companies/individuals with the highest share in total electoral bonds purchased between July 2, 2021 and January 10, 2022. Wilson Govt. wins crucial vote

London, March 19: A dazzling parliamentary performance by the Employment Secretary, Mr. Michael Foot, and a climb down by the Tory leaders over the challenge to the Wilson Government on pay policy enabled the Labour Party to win a crucial vote in the House of Commons last night. The Tory leaders decided not to press their critical amendment to the Queen's speech only two hours before the crucial vote was due to take place.

Mr. Foot a brilliant parliamentarian and a captivating orator came out with what amounted to a guarantee that statutory control of pay would be retained for the time being. The Tory MPs were awed by Mr. Foot's devastating speech which, as one observer put it, was like "a gorgeous though perilous fireworks display." Both Tory and Liberal leaders came out of it badly bruised and there was no denying that many Tories felt the entire episode was badly handled by Mr. Edward Heath.

Though cold political logic prompted Labour leaders to delight at the spectacle of Tory ranks being in disarray and Liberals thoroughly confused in terms of hard economic reality the Wilson Government is still walking on a tight political rope. Mr. Foot may be a gifted man but it does not mean that he will be able to contain the challenge from the trade unions. It remains to be seen for how long Britain can remain quiet, devoid of industrial strife.

Labour's confidence to survive and perhaps govern has been boosted a little and hence Mr. Wilson will mark his own time to call a general election for a respectable majority.

Mrs. Naidu in South Africa

Cape Town, March 19: The City Hall was crowded on the occasion of Indian welcome to Mrs. Sarojini Naidu with the result that she was obliged to address an overflow meeting in a minor hall. The meeting presented a striking appearance owing to hundreds of Fezzes on the floor of the hall while the women were accommodated in bays above. The proceedings were most enthusiastic. Mrs. Naidu was supported on the platform by a number of Cape Labour Legislators and other Europeans, besides representatives of practically every Indian or coloured association from the four provinces of the union.

Decoding electoral bonds data

The SBI has submitted the data on purchases and encashments of electoral bonds. The details disclosed so far includes the date and amount of each transaction alongside the names of each purchaser and encasher. However, in the absence of the unique alphanumeric numbers, it is impossible to establish who has paid whom and when

ECONOMIC NOTES

Prasenjit Bose

The first tranche of data on electoral bonds disclosed by the Election Commission of India on March 14, 2024, under the directions of the Supreme Court, provides an incomplete picture of the transactions that have taken place between various companies and individuals on the one hand and registered political parties on the other, between April 12, 2019 and January 24, 2024. The apex court has now directed the State Bank of India (SBI) to ensure “complete disclosure of all details in its possession” by March 21, 2024 including “the alphanumeric number and serial number of the Electoral Bonds which were purchased and redeemed”.

Unique alphanumeric numbers
The SBI has recorded every detail of 18,871 purchases and 20,421 encashments of electoral bonds between April 2019 and January 2024. However, in the absence of the unique alphanumeric numbers, only the total amount of electoral bonds purchased by each company or individual can be estimated as also the total amount of electoral bonds each political party has encashed; but it is impossible to establish who has paid whom and when.

The disclosure of the unique alphanumeric numbers becomes imperative because the apex court has struck down the entire electoral bond scheme as unconstitutional. It is only natural that the very large sum of ₹12,155.1 crore worth of electoral bonds, purchased by corporate groups, companies and individuals between April 2019 and January 2024 are matched accurately with ₹12,769.08 crore total worth of electoral bonds encashed by political parties during the same period. In other words, the people need to know which political party got how much from whom, and on which date(s). No further inquiry or investigation can be conducted into these “unconstitutional” transactions, without linking the purchasers of the electoral bonds with the encashers.

Information asymmetry
The Union Home Minister has countered the embarrassment caused to the government by the disclosure of the BJP accounting for ₹6,060 crore, that is over 47% of the total amount of electoral bonds encashed, by pointing at the amounts encashed by other Opposition parties (Table 1).

The problem is that the total amounts encashed in electoral bonds by the various parties neither reveal much, nor can they be cited as actionable evidence of corruption and malfeasance. It is only through an analysis of the granular details of the electoral bonds, like their amounts, dates of purchase and encashment and the linked identities of the purchaser and encasher of each bond that possibilities of quid pro quo can be hypothesised, investigated and legally established as evidence. This explains the reluctance of the SBI to reveal the unique identification numbers of the electoral bonds. The political strategy of the ruling party appears to be simple: stall any investigation or legal proceeding against any transaction till the end of the election campaign.

The Union Government, as the owner of the SBI, is already in possession of the entire electoral bond database, which implies that BJP – as the ruling party – has access to complete information in this regard. Both the Opposition parties and the electorate, however, do not. Each political party other than the ruling party, knows about its own transactions only. The voters have no information beyond what has been disclosed by the Election Commission of India. This information asymmetry provides the BJP with an undesired advantage by virtue of its being the ruling incumbent.

This is similar to the non-disclosure of the politically sensitive data on the caste census, which was collected during Census 2011 but has not been released till date. The BJP has utilised the caste census data to its electoral advantage in every election held since May 2014, while the Opposition and citizens have been denied access.

Such abuse of power, through suppression of information and data that are public goods, should be prevented.

Preliminary analysis

The data disclosed so far provides ample grounds for suspecting malfeasance. Table 2 provides a list of companies and corporate groups who have purchased electoral bonds worth over ₹100 crore in total between April 2019 and January 2024, along with a list of individual purchasers of the bonds totalling above ₹5 crore. What stands out from the list are the following:

(a) Some of the largest purchasers of electoral bonds are under investigation by central agencies such as the Enforcement Directorate (ED), Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) and/or the Income Tax (IT) Department. Table 3 provides a list of 19 such companies which have together purchased ₹4,787.3 crore in bonds; over 39% percent of the total amount.

(b) The names common in Tables 2 and 3 are Future Gaming, Megha Engineering, M K Jalan group, Vedanta Group, Haldia Energy Limited (Sanjiv Goenka Group) etc. If the bulk of the electoral bonds purchased by these companies, which are under investigation by central agencies like ED, CBI or IT department, are found to have been redeemed by the party in power, that is, the BJP, it would imply serious conflict of interest issues and probable quid pro quo.

electoral bonds are either heads of corporate groups and companies or their employees. It is clear that corporate houses and companies have tried to conceal their identities by deploying individual frontmen or making large donations in multiple small tranches. This generates suspicion of large scale bribery, money laundering and other forms of quid pro quo, like award of lucrative project contracts and policy changes in exchange for party donations.

As the party in power at the Centre and the largest redeemer of electoral bonds, the BJP has much to answer for. The Modi government has tried to evade such accountability during the Lok Sabha election campaign, first by delaying the disclosure of data and then by withholding the unique alphanumeric numbers of the electoral bonds.

Know your English

K. Subrahmanian

“Ms. S. Hazarika, Jorhat, wants to know the meaning of the idiom ‘to fall between two stools.’”

“It means ‘to be unable to decide between two alternatives and so to be unable to profit from either.’ It is neither verse nor prose. It falls between two stools. The origin of the expression is found in a party game called ‘Choosing the Queen of Sheba.’ A carpet is very tightly stretched between two stools. Each stool is occupied by a lady. A person is asked to come into the room, sit on the carpet and decide which of the two ladies is the Queen of Sheba. After the person steps on the carpet, the ladies abruptly rise, the carpet collapses making the victim fall to the ground. This is the source of the idiom. Not all agree that this is the source of the idiom.”

“Ms. Kulkarni wants to know the difference between ‘proclivity’ and ‘propensity.’”

“‘Propensity’ is ‘a natural inclination or tendency.’ One has a propensity ‘for,’ ‘to’ or ‘towards’ something, it can be used with good or bad things.

‘He has a propensity for classical music.’

‘Proclivity’ means ‘innate or inherent inclination.’ But it is always used with something bad.

‘He is notorious for his sexual proclivities.’

‘Proclivity’ can be used with ‘for,’ ‘to’ or ‘towards.’ ‘Propensity’ and ‘proclivity’ apparently mean the same thing. But while ‘propensity’ goes with good and bad tendencies, ‘proclivity’ goes only with bad tendencies.”

“Mr. C.A. Reddi wants to know the exact meaning of the word ‘lewd.’”

“‘Lewd’ means ‘indecent, obscene, lustful.’

‘He considers it a lewd novel.’

‘She thinks that he has a permanent lewd expression on his face.’

‘Lewd’ rhymes with ‘rude’ and ‘feud.’ In American English, it rhymes with ‘food,’ ‘mood.’”

“Mr. T.L. Srinivasan, Chintadripet, Madras, wants to know whether the following is correct: Come on in.”

“‘Come in’ means ‘come inside, enter the room.’ ‘Come on’ is used to convey one’s enthusiasm, encouragement. Come on in. In this, there is a tone of encouragement, a certain warmth.”

“Mr. V.H. Krishna Prakash wants to know the meaning of ‘apple of discord.’”

“‘The apple of discord’ means ‘the cause of an argument or a quarrel.’ An apple of discord is a bone of contention. Eris, the Greek goddess of Discord, was angry at not being invited to the wedding of Peleus and Thetis. Deciding to create discord among the wedding guests, she threw into their midst a golden apple marked ‘for the fairest’. When Hera, Pallas Athena and Aphrodite put in their claims for the apple, Paris was asked to act as judge and he awarded the apple to Aphrodite. The other two goddesses became furious and made up their minds to wreak vengeance on him. The fall of Troy is attributed to their spite. From this story, we get the idiom ‘the apple of discord’ or ‘an apple of discord.’

‘The apple of discord in the party is his selection for a post in the party.’

The CAA protests and the birth of the Shaheen Bagh movement

Books document a unique, peaceful resistance, when women came out of their homes to register their protest against the Citizenship Amendment Act. The women took to the streets, pointing out that the CAA has the potential to disproportionately impact Muslims residing in India

Ziya Us Salam

On December 15, 2019, even old residents of Delhi did not have much of an idea about Shaheen Bagh. Many had never heard of it; others just about knew its location. It all changed one cold December evening as news came of alleged police atrocities on Jamia Millia Islamia students protesting against the Citizenship Amendment Act (CAA) in the vicinity. The women of Shaheen Bagh, living around a kilometre from Jamia, were galvanised into action. The CAA had to be opposed, peacefully, persistently. To the surprise of everybody, leading the protests were elderly women of Shaheen Bagh, women in their 70s and 80s, who had never stepped out of their homes. But here they were, holding the Constitution of India in one hand, and copies of the Quran in the other to assert their status as equal citizens of the land.

Women at the centre

The Shaheen Bagh protest soon became a movement which not only spread across the country but also got international attention. The Dadis (grandmothers) of Shaheen Bagh even made it to Time magazine. Reams began to be written on the determined struggle of the Shaheen Bagh women against the CAA, which allows religious minorities of Pakistan, Afghanistan and Bangladesh to get citizenship in India. Among the first books was Shaheen Bagh and the Idea of India, edited by veteran journalist Seema Mustafa, and published by Speaking Tiger, and Shaheen Bagh: From a Protest to a Movement, published by Bloomsbury.

Mustafa’s book was notable for essays by many women and key Muslim observers who argued that the CAA-NRC (National Register of Citizens)-NPR (National Population Register) combine affected the citizenship of Indian Muslims most strongly, and women in the community were even more vulnerable, as they rarely had any land documents under their name.

Among the essayists were Mustafa Quraishi, Zeyad Masroor Khan and Seemi Pasha besides human rights activists and intellectuals like Harsh Mander, Nayantara Sehgal, Apoorvanand, Zoya Hassan and Nandita Haksar. Each essay opened a little window to the world of Shaheen Bagh protesters, showing the mettle of the women, untrained to lead a protest against a new law, yet able to provide leadership at a critical juncture. Theirs was probably the first movement led by Muslim women since Independence. They had not come out on the streets to protest against the Shah Bano case or the Babri Masjid demolition. They had kept their counsel even on the instant triple talaq case. However, here they were, fighting for Article 14 of the Constitution, sitting under the open sky in the chill of Delhi’s winters. Every day began with a rendition of ‘Sare Jahan Se Achcha’. Every midnight arrived with the national anthem, ‘Jana Gana Mana’. Mustafa’s book was a richly elevating experience, one that quietly exposed the double standards of larger society and polity. Thanks to the Gandhian struggle, Shaheen Bagh became a pilgrimage spot for all those who swear by the idea of India. And the hijab-clad women of Shaheen Bagh became the unlikely revolutionaries.

Visual document

After these two books on Shaheen Bagh in the summer of 2020, came three others, between 2021 and 2022. There was a visual chronicle in the form of Aasif Mujtaba and Mohammed Meharban’s Hum Dekhenge, Protest and Pogrom: A Photo Document. The book, which had a foreword by noted legal eagle Prashant Bhushan, came with limited but engaging text, and photographs which documented the movement with many heroes as well as some intrepid victims. It had a photograph of some 40,000 women celebrating Republic Day with not an inch of space left at Shaheen Bagh. It also had the picture of the nephew of Mudasir Khan crying before the body of his uncle who succumbed to injuries he suffered during the 2020 riots in north east Delhi.

Then came Nehal Ahmed’s Nothing Will Be Forgotten: From Jamia to Shaheen Bagh (LeftWord Books) which was an account of the police action at Jamia Millia Islamia University. Ahmed, a PhD scholar at Jamia, was present on campus when a completely peaceful protest site soon started resembling a war zone. His was a moving account of students shattered by violence on their campus, yet finding creative ways of resistance against the discriminatory law which made religion the benchmark of providing or denying citizenship to those coming from Afghanistan, Pakistan and Bangladesh; all but Muslims were welcome under the new law. Ahmed managed to come up with a snapshot of a moment in history.

Props of a protest

A book written in Hindi, Shaheen Bagh: Loktantra ki Nayee Karvat, by Bhasha Singh garnered attention for its immaculate detailing and persuasive research. Bhasha’s book, published by Rajkamal Prakashan, brought to the reader the rich Urdu vocabulary and poetry used by protesters of Shaheen Bagh, their abiding pride in the national flag, their ability to educate the masses about the pitfalls of CAA-NPR-NRC with the use of a mock detention centre, and a library on the pavement at the protest site.

It recounted too how the women gave space to freedom fighters of all hues on their stage yet managed to keep politicians and clerics at bay.

These books prove that the Shaheen Bagh women may have been forced to retreat to their homes due to the pandemic but they managed to force the government not to issue a notification for the new law for four years – the new Rules for the Citizenship Amendment Act, passed by Parliament in December 2019, were issued on March 11, 2024.

The books are a fine example of literature with social responsibility, when writers stepped out of their little cocoons and into the heat of the battle.

SC to hear pleas seeking stay on CAA on April 9

Mr. Mehta sought four weeks' time to file responses to about 20 applications moved separately by petitioners to stay the CAA rules, notified on March 11. The law officer argued that the law did not prejudice the petitioners.

"This law does not take away the citizenship of anyone... Those who have entered by 2014 will be considered for grant or refusal of citizenship," Mr. Mehta reasoned.

Advocate Nizam Pasha, also for the petitioners, linked the implementation of the CAA to the 19 lakh people excluded from the National Register of Citizens (NRC) list in Assam. He apprehended that the CAA would now apply to these people.

Those who do not belong to "one particular community or religion" would get their citizenship applications processed "all of a sudden" while the Muslims who were out of NRC may face executive action. "That is prejudice," Mr. Pasha said.

But Mr. Mehta said similar attempts to "mislead" people had been made outside the court. "The NRC is not an issue before the court, only the grant of citizenship under CAA is the issue," he clarified.

Senior advocate Vijay Hansaria, appearing for a group of petitioners from Assam, contended that the CAA and its rules were a threat to the State's demography.

He said 27 districts in Assam were brought under the purview of CAA "for no reason at all".

Senior advocate Ranjit Kumar, for a party supporting CAA, asked "How does grant of citizenship to me affect anyone else's right?"

"They will get a right to vote," Ms. Jaising shot back to objections from Mr. Kumar.

Many pharma companies that bought poll bonds faced regulatory actions

A closer look at the electoral bond data indicates several firms in the pharmaceutical sector that purchased the bonds were under the scanner of the Enforcement Directorate or the I-T Department at some point in the past five years; some were also in the cross hairs of U.S. FDA over quality control

Vignesh Radhakrishnan
Vasudevan Mukunth

On March 15, The Hindu reported that many top purchasers of electoral bonds had also been under the scanner of the Enforcement Directorate or the Income Tax (I-T) Department at some point in the past five years. A closer look at the electoral bond data released indicates more such companies, especially in the pharmaceutical sector.

For example, on July 6, 2022, the I-T Department searched more than 40 offices of the Bengaluru-based pharmaceuticals major Micro Labs Ltd., which makes Dolo 650.

Officials also searched the residences of its owners. In the same month, the Indian government said the searches revealed "substantial incriminating evidence" of unethical practices and freebies to medical professionals to the tune of ₹1,000 crore.

The same month, the National Pharmaceutical Pricing Authority (NPPA) asked the Indian Pharmaceutical Alliance (IPA) to investigate the matter. The NPPA is an independent regulator attached to the Department of Pharmaceuticals in the Ministry of Chemicals and Fertilizers, and is responsible for pricing drugs to keep them affordable. In September, the IPA cleared the company in a report to the NPPA, declaring the "₹1,000-crore expenditure on single brand Dolo 650 on freebies in one year" to be "not correct".

A month later, Micro Labs purchased electoral bonds worth ₹6 crore, an additional set worth ₹3 crore on November 15, 2022, and another worth ₹7 crore on October 9, 2023, taking the total tally to ₹16 crore.

In April 2022, Hetero Drugs Ltd. and Hetero

Labs Ltd. each purchased bonds worth ₹20 crore. Six months earlier, on October 6, 2021, after searching the offices of the Hetero pharmaceutical group across six States, the I-T Department reported detecting an "unaccounted income" of ₹550 crore and also seized ₹142 crore in cash. In December the same year, residents of a village in Visakhapatnam demanded action against He-tero Drugs Ltd. because, they alleged, it had laid a four-km-long pipe without requisite clearances. In all, these two firms purchased bonds worth ₹55 crore.

Hetero group chairman Bandi Parthasaradhi Reddy is an investor in Hazelo Lab and Hindys Lab, among others. Both Hazelo and Hindys also purchased electoral bonds: for ₹2.5 crore each on July 6, 2022, and for ₹10 crore each on April 12, 2023. Hindys also purchased another tranche worth ₹5 crore on July 12, 2023.

The MSN Pharma group also faced an allegation of "unaccounted income" of ₹400 crore from the I-T Department in February 2021. In April 2022, MSN Pharmachem Pvt. Ltd. purchased bonds worth ₹20 crore and another tranche of bonds worth ₹6 crore on November 16, 2023.

Quality issues

Intas, Lupin, and Natco were in the cross hairs of the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) over quality control issues at their drug-making facilities in India. On October 10, 2022, Intas purchased bonds for ₹20 crore. In December 2022, the U.S. FDA flagged serious quality control issues at its Ahmedabad facility.

In late 2022, the FDA rapped Lupin for allegedly subpar drug-making conditions at some of its facilities in India. On January 25, 2023, it purchased bonds worth ₹18 crore.

Natco purchased bonds worth ₹25 lakh on October 5, 2019, and in October and November 2023, worth ₹32 crore. On August 5-9, 2019, the FDA inspected a Natco facility near Hyderabad and concluded with six "observations". Natco responded that it would specify corrective actions in two weeks. At another facility in Rangareddy district on October 9-18, 2023, the FDA reportedly found unclean equipment.

In another example, on November 11, 2022, Mankind Pharma Ltd. purchased bonds worth ₹24 crore months ahead of its IPO in May 2023, with a value of ₹4,326 crore. Two days later, the I-T Department raided Mankind's premises over allegations of tax evasion. (With inputs from Jasmin Nihalani)

Supreme Court issues summons to Ramdev

The Bench had issued show cause notice to Patanjali and Balakrishna on February 27 for violating an assurance given to the Supreme Court on November 21, 2023 that they would refrain from advertising or branding its products as "permanent relief" for diseases such as obesity, blood pressure, asthma, etc, in violation of the 1954 Act.

In the February hearing, the petitioner, the Indian Medical Association, had described Baba Ramdev's association with Patanjali as "everything and nothing at the same time".

"In November, we had specifically said there should be no violation of any law. That means that there should be nothing misleading, especially advertisements of drugs manufactured and marketed by you. We told you to not make any casual statements... But you are still advertising your products as a 'permanent relief'. There was a ban on you advertising your products as a permanent relief for ailments under the 1954 Act," Justice Kohli had told Patanjali's lawyers at the time.

On November 21, the court directed the company to not make any "casual statements" to the print or electronic media about the efficacy of their medicinal products or indulge in any disparaging statements about other disciplines of medicine such as allopathy.

"This court is prima facie of the opinion that he has also violated the provisions of the Drugs and Magic Remedies (Objectionable Advertisements) Act, 1954," the court observed.

SSC withdraws result for recruitment exam in Manipur

Abhinav Lakshman
NEW DELHI

The Staff Selection Commission (SSC) on Monday withdrew the final results for the recruitment of 'Constable (GD) in Central Armed Police Forces, SSF, Rifleman (GD) in Assam Rifles, and Sepoy in Narcotics Control Bureau Examination 2022', in Manipur just days after announcing it on March 15, saying that a revised final result would soon be published.

In the notice issued by the SSC, the government said that given the law and order situation in the State, physical and medical tests were conducted in multiple phases and consequently, the data from one of these phases were missed out in the now-withdrawn result.

"The revised final result in respect of Manipur incorporating the complete data of the candidates will be published shortly," the SSC said.

'Unfair list'

The withdrawal came as the final result selecting 260 candidates for 597 vacancies in the State had led to a massive uproar from the Meitei community over claims of disproportionate number of people from Kuki-Zo community being selected.

The Joint Action Committee, an Imphal-based civil society organisation, had met with Chief Minister N. Biren Singh on Monday for urgent intervention to correct the "unfair merit list".

Activist calls for border march in Ladakh to mark land lost to China

Vijaita Singh
NEW DELHI

Around 10,000 people from Ladakh will march to the border along China to showcase how much land has been lost to the neighbouring country, climate activist and education reformer Sonam Wangchuk said on Tuesday.

Mr. Wangchuk has been protesting in open in sub-zero temperature in Leh, surviving only on salt and water for the past 14 days, to demand constitutional safeguards for the Union Territory.

"We know from the shepherds that they are not allowed [anymore] to go to the places that they always used to go. In particular areas, they are stopped kilometres before where they used to go earlier. We will go and show whether land has been lost or not," Mr. Wangchuk said.

No step back: Sonam Wangchuk is on a fast seeking constitutional safeguards for the Union Territory for the past 14 days. ANI

The march would be taken out in Finger area (north and south bank of Pangong Tso), Demchok, Chushul among others along the Line of Actual Control with China.

He said two dates have been shortlisted for the march - March 27 and April 7.

"The march will also highlight the areas, prime pasture lands, that are being turned into solar parks. On one hand, nomads are losing their land to corporates who are coming to set up their plants, maybe mining in future...on the other hand they are losing pasture land to China which is encroaching from the north, the Chinese have captured huge chunks of land in the last few years," he said.

No-go areas

After the June 15, 2020 incident in Galwan where 20 Indian soldiers were killed in violent clashes with the Chinese People's Liberation Army, several rounds of talks between the two armies have taken place leading to disengagement and creation of buffer zones or no-go areas.

At the centre of Mr. Wangchuk's protest that has received huge support from local people is the failure of Statehood talks between Ladakh civil society leaders and Union Home Minister Amit Shah on March 4.

Former police officer gets life term in fake encounter case

The Hindu Bureau
MUMBAI

The Bombay High Court on Tuesday sentenced to life imprisonment former Mumbai Police Inspector Pradeep Sharma for the fake encounter killing of Lakhani Baiya, alias Ramnarayan Gupta, an alleged aide of convicted gangster Chhota Rajan, in 2006.

The court also upheld the life sentence awarded to 13 more people in the case. Twelve of them are former police personnel - Dilip Palande, Nitin Sartape, Ganesh Harpude, Anand Patade, Prakash Kadam, Devidas Sakpal, Pandurang Kokam, Ratnakar Kamble, Sandeep Sardar, Tanaji Desai, Pradeep Suryavanshi and Vinayak Shinde - and one a civilian, Hitesh Solanki.

Gupta was killed on November 11, 2006 at Nana Nani Park in Versova in northwestern Mumbai.

It is alleged that a police team led by Sharma, who was known as an 'encounter specialist', picked up Gupta and his friend Anil Bheda from their home at Vashi in Navi Mumbai. He killed Gupta in a staged encounter. Later, Bheda was also found dead.

'Perverse acquittal'

The Division Bench of Justice Revati Mohite Dere and Justice Gauri Godse termed the decision by a lower court acquitting Sharma "perverse" and "unsustainable". They said that the charges of wrongful confinement, criminal abduction, and fake encounter had been proven to be true. "It is a matter of shame that Anil Bheda's murderers were not booked. The prime witness in the case lost his life to a gruesome murder. It is travesty of justice for his family," said the court. The court also dismissed appeals by the 13 accused in the case.

A magisterial inquiry had been ordered on February 2008 after the victim's brother and advocate Ramprasad Gupta filed a petition in the High Court.

In September 2009, a Special Investigation Team (SIT) was formed by the court and IPS officer K.M.M. Prasanna, the then Deputy Commissioner of Police, was appointed to investigate the case.

In April 2010, the SIT filed a chargesheet against 22 accused in the case. It said that a real estate agent, Janardhan Bhangne, had given a murder contract to former inspectors Sharma and Pradeep Suryavanshi against Mr. Gupta over a joint property transaction.

On March 13, 2011, ahead of his testimony before the court, Bheda, the prime witness in the case, went missing from his residence in Vashi. Four days later, his decomposed and burnt body was found in Thane.

A Sessions Court awarded life sentence to 21 accused but acquitted Sharma.

'21 lakh SIM cards in use have fake proof'

S. Vijay Kumar
CHENNAI

At least 21 lakh SIM cards have been activated using fake proof of identity or proof of address documents, according to an analysis carried out by the Department of Telecommunications (DoT). In an alert sent to Bharti Airtel, MTNL, BSNL, Reliance Jio, and Vodafone Idea, the DoT provided a list of suspicious subscribers and called for an urgent re-verification of their documents, and disconnection of those found to be bogus.

A fresh pan-India analysis of 114 crore mobile phone connections by the DoT's Artificial Intelligence & Digital Intelligence Unit (AI&DIU) has shown that invalid, non-existent, fake, or forged documents were used to support applications to activate at least 21 lakh SIM cards issued by various telecom service providers. A majority of these numbers are suspected to be in use for committing various types of cyber crimes or online frauds.

It was found that in 1.92 crore cases, an individual had subscribed for too many mobile connections, crossing the permitted limit of nine SIM cards across service providers across the country. This included connections that were "erroneously" categorised as individual instead of bulk connections.

In some of the cases, gibberish data was provided in the proof of identity or proof of address sections of the subscriber database records.

The nationwide analysis of SIM cards was taken up as part of the Sanchar Saathi, a citizen-centric initiative that empowers citizens to know the mobile connections issued in their name and seek disconnection of any SIM card that they that not applied for or that they no longer required. "It is of utmost importance to show correct and validated data to the citizens when they use 'Sanchar Saathi' portal. A fresh pan-India analysis of 114 crore mobile connections has revealed the 21.08 lakh invalid/non-existent or fake/forged Pol/PoA documents were used for subscription," the DoT said.

Delhi HC to hear Cong. plea against tax recovery

The Hindu Bureau
NEW DELHI

The Delhi High Court on Tuesday listed a petition by the Congress challenging tax re-assessment proceedings against it for hearing on Wednesday.

Last week, the High Court had rejected Congress's plea challenging an order of the Income Tax Appellate Tribunal (ITAT) declining to stay an Income Tax Department notice for recovery of outstanding tax. The assessing officer had raised a tax demand of more than ₹100 crore for the assessment year 2018-19 when the income was assessed to be more than ₹199 crore.

Advocate Vivek Tankha, representing the Congress, had said that the party was under tremendous pressure with its bank accounts frozen.

The ITAT on March 8 had dismissed the Congress's application seeking a stay on the February 13 notice of the I-T department initiating recovery proceedings against it.

Notifying CAA during Ramadan makes it worse: U.S. Senator

Suhasini Haidar
NEW DELHI

Adding to the heated exchange of words between Delhi and Washington over the implementation of the Citizenship Amendment Act, the Chair of the U.S. Senate Foreign Relations Committee has questioned the timing of the Modi government's decision.

In a statement issued in Washington on Monday, U.S. Senator Ben Cardin said that he was "deeply concerned" by the Indian government's decision to notify the "controversial"

CAA and its "potential ramifications" for India's Muslim community.

'Shared values'

"Making matters worse is the fact that it is being pushed during the holy month of Ramadan (Ramadan). As the U.S.-India relationship deepens, it is critically important that our cooperation is based on our shared values of protecting the human rights of all persons, regardless of religion." The Ministry of External Affairs declined to comment on the remarks by the U.S. Senator.

Congress manifesto to focus on 25 guarantees, justice plank

CWC approves manifesto, which is likely to include section on poll bonds; party plans to translate it into every major language; Kharge says BJP will meet its 'India Shining' moment in 2024 too

The Hindu Bureau
NEW DELHI

Asserting that the BJP's guarantees for the 2024 Lok Sabha election would be another "India Shining" moment, the Congress Working Committee (CWC) on Tuesday urged its office-bearers to ensure that the party's 25 guarantees and the five pillars of justice or paanch nyay reached every household in India.

After a three-hour discussion, the CWC approved the manifesto that will also include a section on electoral bonds. Former party chief Rahul Gandhi told the closed-door CWC meeting that the electoral bond scheme had "exposed the BJP's corruption and extortion tactics".

Sources said Mr. Gandhi specifically spoke on the issue of electoral bonds and said it showed the BJP's corrupt face and that it needed to be taken to the people. The meeting decided to bring electoral bonds as an issue to be countered in the party's manifesto.

Setting the tone and te-

nor of the meeting in his opening remarks, Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge said the country was "fervently demanding a change". "The guarantees currently being touted by the present government would have the same fate as that of the 'India Shining' slogan of 2004," he said. "India Shining" was a slogan used by the BJP ahead of the 2004 Lok Sabha election. The party, however, lost the election.

The Congress manifesto will revolve around the theme of the five nyay of the Bharat Jodo Nyay Yatra which are Hissedari Nyay, Yuva Nyay, Kisaan Nyay, Naari Nyay, and Shramik Nyay. (justice based on share; for youth, farmers, women, and workers)

Former Finance Minister P. Chidambaram, who heads the Manifesto Committee, made a presentation on the document. Sources said Mr. Gandhi, as well as party general secretary Priyanka Gandhi Vadra, underscored the point that the document needs to be made in every language without losing the original essence of the promises. They requested leaders from every State to get involved in the translation effort.

Mr. Kharge lauded Mr. Gandhi for leading the Bharat Jodo Nyay Yatra and bringing people's issues to the centre stage. Mumbai, where the yatra concluded last Saturday, is an important place for the party, he said, since the Congress was formed there and it was there that the freedom movement got its final fillip with the Quit India Movement in 1942.

Addressing a press conference, party general secretary (organisation) K.C. Venugopal said the document would be a game changer. "Prime Minister Narendra Modi's guarantees are all lies. What about the ones he gave in 2014? Where are the two crore jobs he promised or the ₹15 lakh in every bank account or doubling the farmer's income," he said.

Apart from the paanch nyay, the closed-door discussion included suggestions for a stringent law on violence and hate crimes against castes, religious communities, gender groups, LGBTQ groups, and others.

The CWC is learnt to have evaluated that media would not take the Congress's manifesto to the people and the party would have to take steps towards popularising it. Hence, all State in-charges were asked to prepare a plan over the next 10 days so that these 25 guarantees reached every household.

Congress committee clears Adhir, Kharge's son-in-law for LS poll

The Hindu Bureau
NEW DELHI

Congress leader Adhir Ranjan Chowdhury is among the candidates whose names were cleared by the party's Central Election Committee (CEC) on Tuesday.

The CEC also cleared the name of Radhakrishnan D., son-in-law of Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge, as the party's candidate from Gulbarga. Mr. Kharge had represented the seat in 2009 and 2014, but lost it in 2019.

A final decision on a candidate for the Chandigarh Lok Sabha seat has been put on hold as there are two former Union Ministers among the three contenders.

The CEC is headed by Mr. Kharge and includes top leaders, including former party chief Sonia Gandhi and Rajya Sabha MP K.C. Venugopal. Though there is no official word on the CEC's deliberations, sources said it cleared candidates for 14 seats from Karnataka, 12 seats from West Bengal, and three from Telangana in its third meeting.

In Karnataka, the candidatures of Rajiv Gowda from North Bengaluru,

Adhir Ranjan Chowdhury

Mansoor Ali Khan from Bengaluru Central, and Sowmya Reddy from Bengaluru South have been cleared.

In West Bengal, Mr. Chowdhury will contest from his seat of Baharampur. The MP from Malda South, Abu Hasem Khan Choudhury, will make way for his son Isha Khan Choudhury.

In Telangana, the panel cleared candidates for Chevella, Malkajgiri, and Secunderabad seats.

The CEC also discussed candidates for seats in Arunachal Pradesh, Sikkim, West Bengal, Puducherry, Andaman and Nicobar Islands, Chandigarh, and the remaining seats in Karnataka. Discussions on the remaining seats in Rajasthan, Madhya Pradesh, and Gujarat have been postponed.

Hemant Soren's sister-in-law and MLA Sita Soren joins BJP

In a significant political development, Jharkhand Mukti Morcha (JMM) legislator Sita Soren, sister-in-law of former Chief Minister Hemant Soren, resigned from the party and joined the BJP in Delhi in the presence of the party's national general secretary Vinod Tawde and Jharkhand in-charge Laxmikant Bajpai. Ms. Soren was the JMM MLA from Jama in Dumka district. She is the wife of Durga Soren, the late son of JMM chief Shibu Soren. "I was feeling neglected and isolated in the party. I have also become aware of a conspiracy being hatched against me and my family. I'm left with no choice but to tender my resignation," Ms. Soren alleged. She voiced her disappointment, indicating a deviation from the party's core values by accommodating people whose principles do not align with its ethos.

No voting arrangement for those who fled Manipur

People who fled the ethnic violence in Manipur and took refuge in the neighbourhood, specifically Mizoram, will be able to vote in the Lok Sabha election only if they return to their home State. Manipur's Chief Electoral Officer Pradeep Kumar Jha said no voting arrangement had been made for people who left the State after the ethnic violence broke out last year. Some 12,000 Kuki-Zomi people took shelter in Mizoram, the government in Mizoram had claimed ahead of the Assembly election in November 2023. On March 16, Chief Election Commissioner Rajiv Kumar said the poll panel notified a scheme to allow the displaced voters of Manipur to exercise their franchise from their respective camps. Mr. Jha, however, told journalists that the scheme was limited to Manipur's territorial jurisdiction.

Taranjit Singh Sandhu, former Ambassador to U.S., joins BJP

Former Indian Ambassador to the United States Taranjit Singh Sandhu joined the BJP on Tuesday. He is likely to contest the Lok Sabha election from Amritsar, where he has been reaching out to people since he retired from the foreign service a few months ago. Mr. Sandhu joined the BJP in the presence of the party's national general secretaries Vinod Tawde and Tarun Chugh. Mr. Sandhu's grandfather, Sardar Teja Singh Samundri, was a freedom fighter, and one of the founders of the Shiromani Gurudwara Prabandhak Committee. His father, Bishan Singh Samundri, was the founder Vice-Chancellor of the Guru Nanak Dev University. The BJP is hoping that Mr. Sandhu's lineage, experience as a diplomat, and local connections in Amritsar will help the party win the seat, where it has had a run of bad luck.

Sharad's NCP faction gets trumpet symbol

The Hindu Bureau
NEW DELHI

The Supreme Court on Tuesday allowed the Sharad Pawar faction to contest Lok Sabha and State Legislative Assembly polls under the 'trumpet' party symbol and the name 'Nationalist Congress Party-Sharadchandra Pawar'.

A Bench headed by Justice Surya Kant further asked the Election Commission not to allot the 'trumpet' symbol to any other party or Independent candidate.

The court permitted the breakaway Nationalist Congress Party (NCP) led by Maharashtra Deputy Chief Minister Ajit Pawar to continue using the clock symbol, the original symbol of the undivided NCP, for the present.

However, the group has been directed to issue a public notice in newspapers in English, Marathi and Hindi editions declaring that the issue regarding the 'clock' symbol was sub-judice in the Supreme Court, and his group was allowed to use the symbol "subject to the final outcome of the proceedings" in court.

The Bench passed the order on a plea by the Sharad Pawar group seeking to restrain the Ajit Pawar faction from using the 'clock' symbol for the polls, as allotted by the Election Commission, on the grounds that it was disrupting the level playing field.

Civil society organisation wants to make farmers' woes an electoral agenda

The Hindu Bureau
NEW DELHI

An agenda on agriculture and farmers for political parties, prepared by the Kisan Mazdoor Commission (KMC) of the 'Nation for Farmers' platform ahead of the elections, has sought to mobilise the support of people, scientists and State governments for "much needed legislative actions" to help farmers.

The agenda urged the Union government and State governments to stand with farmers, rural labour, consumers, women, and youth of rural areas. "Society as a whole needs to rapidly act against the policy path promoting corporate control of agriculture," it said.

The leaders of the Samyukt Kisan Morcha and members of the KMC told reporters on Tuesday that the agenda will be circulated among political parties and other organisations during the elections.

Kisan Mazdoor Commission prepares an agenda for parties, seeking a slew of measures

The key points in the agenda are the right to work for life and dignified livelihood for farmers and workers; social security and protection against natural and other calamities; land, water, forest and all natural resources including common property resources; diversity in seeds, food systems; ecologically and socially just technological choices; and freedom of expression, organisation, representation and struggle through constitutional means for the realisation of demands of farmers and workers.

'Integral to future'
The agenda noted that the well-being of farmers is not just about the economic survival of a majority of Indian households but about our national dignity, diversity, civilisational heritage, freedom movement legacy, constitutional vision, and economic, ecological and social justice.

"Farmers are not just a residue from our past; farmers, agriculture and villages are integral to the future of India and the world," the agenda said, urging people to recognise the social responsibility to farmers, artisans and working people.

KMC members said they were feeling alarmed by the economic, ecological, social and existential crises of Indian agriculture; growing corporate control of agriculture; ecological degradation and destruction affecting farmers and their livelihoods; unprecedented increase in land degradation; destruction of agricultural lands and associated resources; commercialisation and privatisation of water and biodiversity.

Union Minister Pashupati Kumar Paras resigned on Tuesday and accused the BJP of doing "injustice" to his Rashtriya Lok Janshakti Party by not including it in the seat-sharing arrangement in Bihar for the Lok Sabha election.

The announcement came at a press conference a day after the BJP-led National Democratic Alliance (NDA) announced its seat-sharing pact, giving five seats, including Hajipur, to the Chirag Paswan-led Lok Janshakti Party (Ram Vilas). Mr. Paswan is the nephew of Mr. Paras.

"I was waiting for the announcement of seat sharing among the NDA allies which was announced on March 18. I've been grateful to the Prime Minister but my party and I faced injustice. As such, I am resigning as Minister from the Union Cabinet," Mr. Paras told mediapersons in Delhi. Asked about his plans, Mr. Paras, who is the Hajipur MP, added, "I will decide this after discussions with party leaders and workers."

However, the buzz in the political circles is that Mr. Paras may be joining the Rashtriya Janata Dal (RJD), which is part of the Opposition Indian National Developmental, Inclusive Alliance, and contest from Hajipur against his nephew. Mr. Paswan, the MP from Jamui (reserved) seat, had expressed his desire to contest from the Hajipur seat "to retain the political legacy" of his father the late Ram Vilas Paswan.

Remarks on 'Shakti' proof of Congress's anti-women, anti-Hindu stand, says Modi

The Hindu Bureau
NEW DELHI

For the second successive day, the BJP and Prime Minister Narendra Modi attacked the Congress party and Wayanad MP Rahul Gandhi over his remarks on Shakti, making the issue an important theme in the party's campaign for the Lok Sabha election.

In Salem, the Prime Minister alleged at a public rally that the Congress and its allies, including Tamil Nadu's ruling Dravida Munnetra Kazhagam (DMK), were out to "destroy Shakti" but asserted that "they will get destroyed" instead.

Mr. Modi was referring to Mr. Gandhi's remarks, made at the conclusion of the Bharat Jodo Nyay Yatra in Mumbai on Sunday, when he had raised concerns about electronic voting machines and Central investigative agencies, in the context of the Opposition's struggle against the might of the State, noting that "there is a word 'shakti' (might) in Hinduism..."

Constituents of the INDIA bloc "would never speak ill about any other faith but would not lose a second in abusing the Hindu religion," Mr. Modi said. "The election campaign has started, but the INDI alliance's plan came out in their first rally in Mumbai. Their manifesto, ill intentions have come out. At Shivaji Park in Mumbai, the INDI alliance openly declared they will destroy 'Shakti' which is faith.

What does 'Shakti' mean in Hinduism - everybody in Tamil Nadu knows that," he said, even as 11 women dressed as "goddesses" joined him on stage.

BJP spokesperson Ravi Shankar Prasad held a press conference on the same issue in Delhi. "The Congress under Rahul Gandhi's leadership is no longer the Congress of the doctrine and ideals of Mahatma Gandhi. This is a Congress party led by a divisive mind, Maoist, and anti-Hindu thoughts," he said.

Lokpal asks CBI to probe cash for query case against Mahua Lokpal, the anti-corruption body, on Tuesday directed the CBI to probe the cash-for-query allegations against Trinamool Congress leader Mahua Moitra who was expelled from Lok Sabha last year. CBI has been asked to submit findings before Lokpal within six months. The CBI, however, submitted that the allegation that Ms. Moitra received ₹2.75 crore cash in two tranches from businessman Darshan Hiranandani in 2019 and 2021 "is not substantiated as sufficient evidence could not be collected due to the limited scope of the inquiry," the order said. The CBI added that a probe is required to unearth the truth of this allegation of a serious nature.

2023 was the 'hottest year' on record, confirms WMO

In line with observations by climate agencies, the World Meteorological Organisation has officially confirmed 2023 to be the hottest year on record. "The State of Global Climate Report", published on Tuesday, stated that the global average near-surface temperature was 1.45 degrees Celsius (with a margin of uncertainty of ± 0.12 degrees Celsius) above the pre-industrial baseline. It was the warmest 10-year period on record. The previous, joint warmest years were 2016 at 1.29 ± 0.12 degrees Celsius above the 1850-1900 average and 2020 at 1.27 ± 0.13 degree Celsius.

SC directs States to give ration cards to 8 cr. workers

The Hindu Bureau
NEW DELHI

The Supreme Court on Tuesday took exception to the delays in the implementation of its April 2023 order to provide ration cards to about eight crore migrant workers registered in the eShram portal but not covered under the National Food Security Act. The portal has 28.6 crore registrants. Of this, 20.63 crore are registered on ration card data.

A Bench led by Justice Hima Kohli directed ration cards to be given to the remaining eight crore migrant and unorganised sector workers registered with the eShram portal in two months. The court was acting on the arguments raised by advocates Prashant Bhusan and Cheryl D'Souza for activists Anjali Bhardwaj, Harsh Mander and Jagdeep Chhokar. Mr. Bhusan had argued that there could be more than 10 crore workers left outside the protective umbrella of the Food Safety Act as the statistics were based on the 2011 census. The court had said last year that it was the duty of a welfare state to include migrant worker on the ration card roll expeditiously.

Railways earned ₹1,230 crore from cancelled waiting list tickets in span of three years

Reply to RTI query shows that the number of such cancellations rose from 2.53 crore in 2021 to 5.26 crore in 2023; former official calls for recalibration of waitlisted slots that are on offer

Maitri Porecha
NEW DELHI

The Indian Railways clocked earnings of ₹1,229.85 crore from cancelled waiting list tickets between 2021 and 2024 (till January), a response to a query under the Right to Information Act has revealed.

The Railway Ministry response to the RTI application filed by Madhya Pradesh-based activist Vivek Pandey also showed that earnings from this source have increased year on year.

For instance in 2021, a total of 2.53 crore tickets on the waiting list were cancelled and the Railways earned ₹242.68 crore. This number rose to 4.6 crore tickets being cancelled in 2022 and the earnings soaring to ₹439.16 crore. In 2023, 5.26 crore tickets that were waitlisted were cancelled and the Railways cashed in ₹505 crore as a result. In 2024, in the month of January alone, 45.86 lakh tickets were cancelled, leading to earnings of ₹43 crore for the Railways.

"It is very clear that with limited capacity, the Railways is unable to cater to demand. They should gauge the demand pattern and avoid offering too many waiting list tickets," a former Railway official told The Hindu.

"For instance, an 18-coach train has 720 seats in the sleeper compartment, and the Railways allots a waiting list of 600. There will be no scope for accommodating such a large number, and tickets are bound to get cancelled so they should recalibrate their waiting list thresholds," the former official pointed out.

Deepavali week

Between November 5 and November 17 last year, during the Deepavali week, the Railways saw 96.18 lakh ticket cancellations. This number included those cancelling their confirmed, reservation against cancellation (RAC) and waiting list tickets.

Of these 96.18 lakh cancellations, 47.82 lakh cancellations (up to 49%) were those of waitlisted passengers from all quotas, shows data from the Centre for Railway Information Systems.

Only in the Deepavali week, the Railways clocked earnings of ₹10.37 crore as 'total cancellation earning' from all tickets having final status as waiting list.

If an RAC/waitlisted ticket is cancelled then ₹60 per passenger is deducted from the refund.

E-tickets bought online through IRCTC also attract a service charge that is not refunded when cancelled. The service charge is ₹30 for air-conditioned classes in case the ticket is booked using net banking or through debit and credit cards, and ₹20 per ticket if booked through UPI. For non-AC classes, the charge is ₹15 per ticket (net banking or card) and ₹10 per ticket booked using UPI.

Kolkata building collapse toll rises to 10

Shiv Sahay Singh
KOLKATA

Two more people died in the collapse of a five-storeyed building at Garden Reach in Kolkata, taking the toll to 10 as of Tuesday. One person died on Tuesday late on Monday evening and another died on Tuesday. The building was located at Azhar Molla Lane in Metiabruz which is on the city's southwestern fringes. Residents of adjacent shanties on which the under construction building collapsed have been asked to vacate their homes. The building had collapsed on March 17.

Other than the shanties at least three other buildings in the vicinity of the building have been evacuated by the administration. These buildings, erected recently, have been built with barely a couple of feet between the structures. These illegal structures are in a densely populated area of Garden Reach. The alley leading to these houses was not even three to four feet wide. On Paharpur Road, a few metres away from the site of the March 17 accident, two high-rises are leaning on each other leaving no space between them.

27.6 million people engaged in forced labour in 2021: ILO

A.M. Jigeesh
NEW DELHI

A study by the International Labour Organization (ILO), released in Geneva on Tuesday, has found that forced labour generates illegal profits worth $36 billion per year.

This is an increase of 37% of such illegal profits since 2014 and the study said this is fuelled by both a growth in the number of people forced into labour, as well as higher profits generated from the exploitation of victims. For the study, surveys have been conducted among workers, including Indians in Saudi Arabia and Qatar.

The report titled "Profits and poverty: The economics of forced labour" also estimates that traffickers and criminals are generating close to $10,000 per victim, up from $8,269 (adjusted for inflation) a decade ago. "Total annual illegal profits from forced labour are highest in Europe and Central Asia ($84 billion), followed by Asia and the Pacific ($62 billion), the Americas ($52 billion), Africa ($20 billion), and the Arab States ($18 billion)," the report said.

The report also said forced commercial sexual exploitation accounts for more than two-thirds (73%) of the total illegal profits, despite accounting for only 27% of the total number of victims in privately imposed labour. "After forced commercial sexual exploitation, the sector with the highest annual illegal profits from forced labour is industry, at US$35 billion, followed by services (US$20.8 billion), agriculture (US$5.0 billion), and domestic work (US$2.6 billion). These illegal profits are the wages that rightfully belong in the pockets of workers but instead remain in the hands of their exploiters, as a result of their coercive practices," ILO Director-General Gilbert F. Hounbo said.

"Forced labour perpetuates cycles of poverty and exploitation and strikes at the heart of human dignity. We now know that the situation has only got worse. The international community must urgently come together to take action to end this injustice," said the ILO Director-General.

There were 27.6 million people engaged in forced labour on any given day in 2021, the report said, meaning 3.5 people for every 1,000 people in the world. "Between 2016 and 2021, the number of people in forced labour increased by 2.7 million," it said.

U.P. police gun down man accused of murdering 2 minors

Ishita Mishra
NEW DELHI

The police shot dead a man accused of murdering two brothers aged 12 and 6 in Budaun district of Uttar Pradesh on Tuesday.

A mob set ablaze a shop belonging to the accused man.

Tension gripped Budaun district as news of the murder spread.

The accused, Mohammad Sajid, is said to have slit the throats of the minors and also injured a third brother, aged 8, who managed to escape and reach his parents.

The accused, who ran a salon near the victims' house, killed the boys on their terrace. The accused was known to the family.

Mob gathers

An angry mob gathered after pictures of the bodies started making rounds on social media. The mob set on fire shops run by people of the minority community and also tried to barge into a place of worship.

Police teams were deployed in the area to control the law and order situation.

Bareilly Inspector-General (IG) Rakesh Kumar said the police immediately rushed to the spot and managed to catch the accused who attempted to flee.

"In a bid to escape, the accused fired at the police and was killed in retaliatory fire," he said.

Mr. Kumar stated that the motive for the murder was not yet known and the police were investigating the matter.

The residents of the area, however, claimed that Sajid bore ill will against the victims' mother who ran a beauty parlour in the area.

Zomato brings 'pure veg' fleet, draws criticism from public

NEW DELHI

Food delivery platform Zomato on Tuesday launched a "pure veg" delivery fleet that would deliver orders from restaurants that do not serve meat, fish, or egg-based dishes. The fleet's personnel are shown in promotional images wearing green uniforms and with green boxes on their bikes. The company will not assign "pure veg" delivery partners to any orders from restaurants where food is not exclusively vegetarian.

While some vegetarian users welcomed the announcement on social media wholeheartedly, it immediately sparked backlash from app-based workers' unions, activists, and academics, who argued that the move will invariably translate into harassment of and violence against ground-level delivery partners, most of whom are from minority religious backgrounds or from oppressed caste backgrounds.

Sheikh Salauddin, president of Indian Federation of App-Based Transport Workers (IFAT), said: "The last time someone on Zomato requested for a delivery partner of a particular religion, [Zomato CEO Deepinder] Goyal said 'food has no religion'. Today, he seems to have gone back on this. I ask him directly, is he now going to categorise delivery partners on the lines of caste, community and religion?"

Karti P. Chidambaram, Congress MP from Sivaganga, too weighed in, calling the company "socially regressive and discriminatory". On announcing the decision, Mr. Goyal said that the "pure veg" fleet "doesn't serve or alienate any religious, or political preference", further saying that the move was planned and rolled out in response to user feedback. "If this is the case, there have been so many cases of users requesting delivery partners of a particular caste and religion, will this be agreed to as well?" asked Mr. Salauddin, adding, "There have already been multiple instances of customers requesting delivery partners of a particular religion or community."

A Zomato spokesperson did not have an immediate response to queries from The Hindu on how exactly delivery partners will be selected for this particular fleet.

Superior bhakti

Lakshmana serves Rama in the forest. Yet it is Bharata's bhakti that is considered superior to Lakshmana's. Lakshmana's bhakti was seshatva, while Bharata's was paratantriya, said Navalpakkam Vasudevachariar, in a discourse. Seshatva is the quality of dedicating oneself to the Lord and serving Him. But paratantriya is the attitude of thinking of oneself as belonging to the Lord. The very existence of such a bhakta is to carry out the Lord's will. Bharata was one such bhakta. Usually an example is given to show the difference between seshatva and paratantriya. Suppose the Lord asks a person whose bhakti falls under the classification of seshatva to jump into a fire, he will ask, "If I am not here, who will serve You?" But if the same order were given to one whose bhakti can be classified as paratantriya, then he will obey, without questioning the Lord.

In his Paduka Sahasram, Vedanta Desika praises Bharata as the one who first proclaimed the greatness of Raghava paduka (Rama's sandals). There are many conversations that Bharata has with various characters in the Ramayana. Through conversation that Bharata has, Valmiki shows us the importance of the dharma sastras. He has nothing but harsh words for Kaikeyi. He assures Kausalya that he had no part in Kaikeyi's decisions. Vasishta insists that Bharata ascend the throne, but Bharata refuses.

Israel may be using starvation as a 'weapon of war', says UN

Without a surge of aid, famine would hit the 3,00,000 people in Gaza's war-battered north by May; people are already eating bird seed, animal fodder, grass and weeds, an OCHA spokesperson says

Agence France-Presse
GENEVA

The United Nations said on Tuesday that Israel's severe restrictions on aid into war-ravaged Gaza coupled with its military offensive could amount to using starvation as a "weapon of war", which would be a "war crime".

Losing hope: Palestinian children waiting to receive food as the conflict between Israel and Hamas continues in Rafah. REUTERS

United Nations human rights chief Volker Turk denounced the rampant hunger and looming famine in Gaza.

In a statement slammed by Israel, Mr. Turk said that "the situation of hunger, starvation and famine is a result of Israel's extensive restrictions on the entry and distribution of humanitarian aid and commercial goods". It was also linked to the "displacement of most of the population, as well as the destruction of crucial civilian infrastructure", he said.

"The extent of Israel's continued restrictions on the entry of aid into Gaza, together with the manner in which it continues to conduct hostilities, may amount to the use of starvation as a method of war, which is a war crime."

His spokesperson, Jeremy Laurence, told presspersons in Geneva that the final determination of whether "starvation is being used as a weapon of war" would be determined by a court.

The comments came after a UN-backed food security assessment determined that the war-torn Palestinian territory is facing imminent famine.

'Catastrophic' hunger
The devastating war since Hamas's October 7 attack on Israel has left roughly half of Gazans - around 1.1 million people - experiencing "catastrophic" hunger, the assessment warned.

Without a surge of aid, famine would hit the 3,00,000 people in Gaza's war-battered north by May, it said.

The finding comes just over five months into the Gaza war, which erupted after Hamas's unprecedented October 7 that killed about 1,160 people in Israel, mostly civilians, according to a tally of Israeli official figures.

Israel's retaliatory offensive against Hamas has killed more than 31,800 people, most of them women and children, according to Gaza's Health Ministry.

Jens Laerke, spokesperson for the UN humanitarian agency OCHA, pointed to the difficulty of clearly determining if the strict criteria have been met to declare a famine.

"The famine thresholds may already be the case in northern Gaza," he told presspersons, highlighting that for weeks people had already been reduced to eating bird seed, animal fodder, wild grass and weeds.

Fighting has stopped on the Afghanistan-Pakistan border after Pakistani air strikes sparked skirmishes, a Taliban spokesperson said on Tuesday.

Pakistan carried out strikes in the border areas in Khost and Paktika provinces in Afghanistan early on Monday.

Islamabad said it had targeted militants it said were responsible for a recent attack on its soil, but Taliban authorities said eight civilians, all women and children, were killed in the bombardment. Kabul said its border forces retaliated by targeting Pakistani military posts along the border with "heavy weapons".

Blinken stresses 'ironclad' support for the Philippines

Associated Press
MANILA

Antony Blinken

U.S. Secretary of State Antony Blinken underscored Washington's "ironclad commitment" on Tuesday to help defend the Philippines in case of an armed attack against its forces after clashes between Chinese and Filipino coast guards in the disputed South China Sea recently turned more hostile.

Mr. Blinken, the latest high-level official to visit the United States treaty ally, met his Philippine counterpart Enrique Manalo on Tuesday before separately meeting President Ferdinand Marcos Jr. in Manila.

President Joe Biden will host Mr. Marcos and Japanese Prime Minister Fumio Kishida in a White House summit in April. The three blocked and used water cannons against Philippine vessels in a confrontation two weeks ago that slightly injured a Filipino admiral and four of his sailors near the disputed Second Thomas Shoal. The March 5 face-off in the high seas also caused two minor collisions between Chinese and Philippine vessels.

Mr. Blinken renewed a warning on Tuesday that the U.S. is obligated under a 1951 Mutual Defence Treaty to defend the Philippines if Filipino forces, ships or aircraft come under an armed attack anywhere in the South China Sea.

In Beijing, Chinese Foreign Ministry spokesperson Lin Jian rejected Mr. Blinken's comments on Chinese aggression in the South China Sea.

'Jews who vote for Democrats hate Israel'

Associated Press
NEW YORK

Former U.S. President Donald Trump on Monday charged that Jews who vote for Democrats "hate Israel" and hate "their religion," igniting a firestorm of criticism from the White House and Jewish leaders.

Donald Trump

Mr. Trump, in an interview, had been asked about Democrats' growing criticism of Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu over his handling of the war in Gaza as the civilian death toll continues to mount.

"I actually think they hate Israel," Mr. Trump responded.

Mr. Trump, who last week became the Republican Party's presumptive nominee, went on to charge: "Any Jewish person that votes for Democrats hates their religion. They hate everything about Israel and they should be ashamed of themselves."

The comments sparked immediate backlash from the White House.

Hong Kong passes new national security law

Associated Press
HONG KONG

Hong Kong lawmakers unanimously approved a new national security law on Tuesday that grants the government more power to quash dissent, widely seen as the latest step in a sweeping political crackdown that was triggered by pro-democracy protests in 2019.

The legislature passed the Safeguarding National Security Bill during a special session that lasted on Tuesday. It comes on top of a similar law imposed by Beijing four years ago, which has already largely silenced opposition voices in the financial hub.

Hong Kong's Legislative

Council, which is packed with Beijing loyalists following an electoral overhaul, rushed the law through to approval. After the vote, Hong Kong leader John Lee said that the law would take effect on Saturday.

The new law threatens stringent penalties for a wide range of actions authorities call threats to national security, with the most severe - including treason and insurrection - punishable by life imprisonment. Lesser offences, including the possession of seditious publications, could also lead to several years in jail. Some provisions allow criminal prosecutions for acts committed anywhere in the world.

Russia gets new Navy chief after Black Sea fleet suffers setbacks in Ukrainian attacks

Agence France-Presse
MOSCOW

Russia has replaced the head of its Navy, state media confirmed on Tuesday, after reports the previous naval chief had been sacked for repeatedly losing Black Sea warships to Ukrainian attacks.

The former commander of Russia's Northern Fleet Alexander Moiseyev has been appointed acting commander-in-chief, replacing outgoing Admiral Nikolai Yevmenov, who had been in post since May 2019, the RIA news agency reported.

"Moiseyev was introduced as the Russian Navy's acting commander-in-chief at a ceremony," the agency said.

The Kremlin last week refused to comment on Mr. Moiseyev's appointment, which marks the biggest shake-up in Russia's military top brass in months.

Ukrainian forces claim to have destroyed more than two dozen Russian ships since the conflict began in February 2022, including a military patrol boat earlier this month.

Alexander Moiseyev

The sinkings have been an embarrassment for Moscow, which has been forced to move boats from its historic Sevastopol naval base in Crimea to the port of Novorossiysk, further east.

Russia's Black Sea woes come in stark contrast to its land offensive in east Ukraine, where its forces have advanced in recent months after over a year of deadlocked fighting.

India's economy is likely to face temporary hiccups during April to June with India going to poll, said a leading industrialist.

"There tends to be some period of uncertainty resulting in a temporary slowdown," Wheels India MD Srivats Ram told The Hindu. "I see a temporary disruption and a relative inaction for a couple of months," he added.

Pointing out that 2024 is a year of mega elections with India, the U.S. and Indonesia going to polls, he said during the period of elections there is always a certain uncertainty. According to him, In-

'Norway will invest almost half of $100 billion under EFTA'

Switzerland being the largest player is likely to contribute more than half of the $100 billion free trade pact India recently signed with the European Free Trade Association (EFTA), while Norway will bring in the rest, with Iceland and Liechtenstein contributing as well, Norwegian Ambassador to India, May-Elin Stener, told The Hindu.

India signed a four-nation trade pact with EFTA countries: Switzerland, Norway, Iceland, and Liechtenstein, on March 10, aiming to attract $100 billion and to create one million jobs in 15 years in exchange for tariff concessions for their pharma, chemical and minerals.

"The interest in India is high among Norwegian companies. Some 130 Norwegian companies are already in India with Mumbai and Bengaluru housing most of them. Through this new EFTA pact, we are expecting many new Norwegian entrants and investments into the Indian markets," Ms. Stener said.

She said bilateral interactions are already underway between India and Norway, but the pact has now created a framework for such collaborations.

"We are exploring working together in diverse businesses like fisheries, agriculture, maritime, blue economy and energy transition technologies. Norway is a big global maritime player and we are a superpower in the oil and gas front and so we have a lot of expertise in these areas which we can share," Ms. Stener explained.

On what Norway expects from India on sustainability, climate-related initiatives and green technologies, she said, India's ambitions in these areas were already high.

dia's growth trajectory would pick up soon after the elections are over, he said that it has a certain amount of momentum with industrial-related output and the services sector continuing to be positive.

While the services sector posted stellar growth, agriculture is in the negative despite government support and incentives. Mining sector is a mixed bag and the momentum will continue after polls.

Passenger vehicle sector has had a fairly strong growth and is in positive territory. Commercial vehicle is a cyclical market and will pick up after Q1. There are positives in the bus sector. Growth will continue in the wind mill sector as long as there is government support.

"Overall, India has seen good progress because of government-related policies and the pushing of the development agenda. It is more of a wait-and-watch scenario at the moment till the elections," he said.

Regarding the outlook for FY25, Mr. Ram said the Indian economy should return to normalcy after elections, subject to a normal monsoon.

"I do expect the elected government to continue with infra investment in the long run. There has also been the announcement in the interim budget of support for R&D-led investment and that is encouraging," he said.

'Food prices deterring inflation's fall'

RBI officials stress need to keep monetary policy in risk minimisation mode to guide inflation towards 4% target; observe that high-frequency food price data till March 15 show prices of wheat declined, while pulses logged broad-based increase

The Hindu Bureau
MUMBAI

Even as inflation is on the ebb with broad-based softening of core inflation, the repetitive incidence of short amplitude food price pressures has deterred a swifter fall in headline inflation towards the target of 4%, Reserve Bank of India (RBI) officials led by Deputy Governor Michael D. Patra wrote in an article on the "State of the Economy" in the RBI Bulletin.

"Inflation is on the ebb; the steady decline in core inflation would have taken

Observing that the CPI readings for January and February showed that the winter easing of vegetable prices had been shallow and short-lived, they said cereal prices had maintained strong momentum, while prices of meat and fish had seen an upsurge.

"Food price pressures on the headline have been capped by core disinflation," they wrote.

High frequency food price data for March (up to the 15th) showed that cereal prices had declined, mainly for wheat, the officials noted. While prices of pulses had registered a broad-based increase, edible oil prices had continued to soften.

"Tomato prices have corrected in March so far while onion and potato prices recorded an upsurge after softening over the past three months," they observed.

Fuel price deflation was also likely to get pronounced in March due to the government's reduction in liquefied petroleum gas (LPG) price, they noted, adding that headline inflation's overall momentum had turned positive in February... offsetting a favourable base effect.

"Monetary policy has to remain in a risk minimisation mode, guiding inflation towards the target while sustaining... growth," they stressed.

Direct tax kitty crosses 97% of 2023-24 target

Vikas Dhoot
NEW DELHI

Growth in India's net direct tax collections slowed a bit over the past month but with a kitty of more than ₹18.9 lakh crore, more than 97% of the revised target for 2023-24 had been met by March 17, as per provisional figures released by the Finance Ministry on Tuesday.

While net direct tax revenues had grown 20.25% as of February 10, the uptick over last year's collections in the corresponding period stood at 19.88% as on March 17.

States raise record ₹50,206 cr. in debt, push up bond yields

The Hindu Bureau
NEW DELHI

Ahead of the financial year's closure, State governments mobilised a record ₹50,206 crore on Tuesday through the auction of State Development Loan (SDL) bonds, even as their total borrowings in 2023-24 are likely to be far lower than the projected ₹10.88 lakh crore.

While the record mop-up was 81% higher than the ₹27,500 crore indicated for this week, liquidity pressures pushed up States' borrowing rates and widened the gap between central government and State government bond yields. "The weighted average cut-off of the State government securities climbed to 7.45% from 7.38% last week," rating firm ICRA observed.

Noting that yields inched up due to supply-side pressures, Bank of Baroda economist Sonal Badhan said that 10-year government bond yields had also risen by six basis points to 7.09% over the past week, but similar tenure State loans' cut-off yields had increased at a sharper pace to a range of 7.44% to 7.5%. One basis point equals 0.01%.

Final auction of FY24

The final auction of State government bonds for this year is scheduled for next week, with the indicative auction calendar showing borrowings of about ₹29,400 crore, and the cost of borrowings is expected to stay high.

States have borrowed ₹9.28 lakh crore so far, and are not expected to hit their projected borrowing plans, even if they raise more than the indicated amount for next week.

Bank of Japan raises interest rate, first time in 17 years

Associated Press
TOKYO

Japan's central bank raised its benchmark interest rate Tuesday for the first time in 17 years, ending a policy of negative rates meant to boost the economy.

The Bank of Japan's lending rate for overnight borrowing by banks was raised to 0-0.1% from minus 0.1% at a meeting, confirming a shift away from ultra-lax monetary policy. It was the first rate hike since February 2007. Policy measures "have fulfilled their roles," Bank of Japan Governor Kazuo Ueda said.

Rangotsav 2024 Set to Enchant Visitors in Mathura

The Tourism Department of Uttar Pradesh is delighted to announce the upcoming Rangotsav-2024, with the support of Braj Teerth Development Board. Rangotsav 2024 promises an enchanting experience for visitors in Mathura. Known for its rich cultural heritage and spiritual significance, Mathura is gearing up to host the grand and traditional Rangotsav-2024. This festival is celebrated as a tribute to Lord Krishna's divine plays and draws devotees and tourists from around the world. Minister of Tourism and Culture, Jaiwair Singh, expressed his enthusiasm for this auspicious event during a Press Conference held at the Tourism Directorate. He emphasized the cultural and spiritual importance of Mathura and highlighted the diverse programs planned for Rangotsav-2024. The festivities will commence on March 17 with the famous Laddu Holi in Barsana, followed by the vibrant Lathmar Holi in Barsana on March 18 and Nandgoan on March 19. The celebration will culminate with Holi festivities at Shri Rangji Temple, Vrindavan, on April 1. In addition to the colorful celebrations, the state government has inaugurated significant projects worth thousands of crores on the anniversary of former Prime Minister Shri Atal Bihari Vajpayee. Helicopter services have been initiated in Agra and Mathura, and cruise services on Yamuna from Gokul to Vrindavan are set to begin soon. Principal Secretary Mukesh Kumar Meshram emphasized the government's commitment to preserving and promoting the rich traditions associated with Radha-Krishna through initiatives like the Uttar Pradesh Braj Teerth Development Board.

New 'Power Hub' Emerging in Bundelkhand, Uttar Pradesh

Banasthali Bundelkhand, long counted among the underdeveloped regions of the country, is now rapidly progressing towards prosperity. Over the past seven years, extensive developmental efforts have been undertaken in this region, following which investments worth ₹ 10 lakh crores have been grounded successfully. Following this, Bundelkhand is poised to become a new energy hub for Uttar Pradesh. Most upcoming projects in this area are based on solar energy production. Approximately 10 major projects directly involve solar energy. These projects are expected to generate over 3000 megawatts of electricity. Transforming the Face of Bundelkhand with 29 Major Projects Worth 30 Thousand Crores

Indeed, Bundelkhand has received special attention since 2017. Due to its arid nature and lack of connectivity, the pace of development in this region has been slow. Despite this, over the past seven years, a series of development and fundamental infrastructure projects have encouraged investors to establish their ventures in this region. Law and order have been strengthened. As a result, approximately 30 thousand crores worth of 29 major projects have begun laying the foundation for industrial in Bundelkhand through the groundbreaking ceremony held a year after the UP Global Investors Summit. Ten of these projects are directly related to solar energy, being established in all six districts except Hamirpur (Jalaun, Jhansi, Lalitpur, Banda, Chitrakoot, and Mahoba). In Jhansi district alone, three solar power projects are being established. Besides Solar Energy, These Major Projects Will Accelerate Prosperity. Other major projects include the establishment of an LHB coach project and track work plant worth 2840 crores by Indian Railways.

Gambhir's return as mentor augurs well for KKR

The purple-and-gold brigade has not lifted the crown since 2014; the side is packed with batters who have big strike rates; the return of Shreyas and Pandey would strengthen the middle-order

The Influencer

Left-arm pacer Mitchell Starc is a lethal weapon in the Knight Riders armoury. Sensing that his speed and swing will help the side win the key moments, the Kolkata outfit engaged in a bidding war and hired him for an IPL record price of ₹24.75 crore. IPL-17 COUNTDOWN

Y.B. Sarangi

It's resurrection time for two-time IPL champion Kolkata Knight Riders.

A decade's journey without a crown has whetted KKR's appetite like never before. It is evident from the return of the franchise's only successful captain Gautam Gambhir in a new role as the mentor.

After its last title triumph in 2014, KKR has made it to the playoffs thrice (2016-18) and has finished runner-up once in 2021. Gambhir is expected to inculcate the winner's attitude into the purple-and-gold brigade and end its title drought.

The return of captain Shreyas Iyer, who missed out on the last season due to an injury, and big-hitter Manish Pandey would strengthen the KKR middle order. Packed with batters with big strike rates, including the cool-headed finisher Rinku Singh, sled-gehammer master Andre Russell, his fellow Caribbean southpaw Sherfane Rutherford and experienced Englishman Phil Salt, it is obvious which area of the game KKR is looking to improve upon.

Rahmanullah Gurbaz, Venkatesh Iyer and the flexible Nitish Rana provide solidity to the batting department along with Shreyas.

Game-changer

KKR hopes its costliest purchase, star Australian left-arm pacer Mitchell Starc, will be the game-changer with some support from Sri Lankan Dushmantha Chameera and domestic recruits, including Chetan Sakariya and Harshit Rana.

Once again, the KKR spin department revolves around trusted hands Sunil Narine and Varun Chakravarthy. Afghan off-spinner Mujib-Ur-Rahman, left-arm spinner Anukul Roy and Suyash Sharma, who may continue to chip in with his useful leg-spin as an impact player, are likely to provide adequate support.

All-rounders Russell, Narine, Venkatesh, Ramandeep and Ankul increase the side's pliability.

Salt and K.S. Bharat, along with Gurbaz, are the options as wicketkeeper-batters.

Coach Chandrakant Pandit, known for drawing the best out of the players, is proud of the way the team fought under Rana's captaincy despite constraints and remained in the race for a playoffs berth last season. This time Pandit is more confident because of the side's balance. In a season of comebacks, KKR would hope to bank on a stronger squad and the combined cricketing wisdom of Gambhir and Pandit to end its long wait.

Capitals need to put the pieces together in quest of maiden title

S. Prasanna Venkatesan

Rishabh Pant's comeback has been central to the narrative surrounding Delhi Capitals' build-up to the upcoming edition of the Indian Premier League (IPL).

It's also symbolic of the team attempting a comeback in quest of the elusive title after finishing ninth last season.

Head coach Ricky Ponting declared, "Anything less than that (the title) for me, I have failed. Not you guys, I have failed," he said in the YouTube video titled 'IPL 2024 Inaugural Speech' put up by the franchise.

Capitals would hope for its opener Prithvi Shaw to not only be consistent, but sustained brilliance is needed from him. He might want to use the season to attempt a successful comeback to the National team. He has to better his fielding and running between the wickets.

Capitals would rely on the experience of David Warner in playing spin on typically slow tracks at Visakhapatnam. It's home ground for the team at the start of the season and is a great fit for its spinners - Kuldeep Yadav, Axar Patel, Lalit Yadav, and Pravin Dubey.

It's pace-bowling unit, with the exception of Anrich Nortje, isn't as inspiring. Nortje is making his comeback from an injury layoff and might take some time to get into a fine bowling rhythm.

Australian Jhye Richardson also will need to make

Given his recent resurgence, Kuldeep Yadav could prove the ace in the pack. The wickets at the Capitals' 'home' ground in Visakhapatnam are expected to be slow and helpful to the spinners. If the left-arm wrist spinner continues his fine form, it would be a big boost for the Delhi side.

adjustments, and thus Mukesh Kumar seems a good option when it comes to swing bowling. Ishant Sharma hasn't been in his prime form. Capitals would hope for the retained Khaleel Ahmed to repay the faith shown in him.

The batting in general looks shaky. Capitals would sorely miss Harry Brook who's pulled out of the season after his grandmother's death.

It would hope that batters Tristan Stubbs and Yash Dhull, and all-rounders Mitchell Marsh and Axar Patel, step up and shoulder their batting.

Pant is pivotal, of course, but as Sunil Gavaskar has pointed out, it might be tough for him to strike batting fluency. He's garnered goodwill from even cricket followers and has thus brought some to the team as well. Hopefully, it brings good fortune to Capitals.

P.K. Ajith Kumar

If there is a contest for the most mouthwatering batting line-up at this year's IPL, Rajasthan Royals will surely be a contender.

Jos Buttler, Yashasvi Jaiswal, Sanju Samson, Dhruv Jurel, Shimron Hetmyer, Rovman Powell... That line-up oozes class, style, experience and power. Not to mention the form Riyan Parag has displayed in domestic cricket.

Needed consistency

When you add one of the most potent spin attacks in the competition, Royals look good enough to make the Playoffs. But they need to be consistent, something they certainly weren't last year.

After winning four of their first five matches, their campaign went off the track. They could finish only fifth, a year after reaching the summit clash.

That final of 2022 had ended in huge disappointment for RR, which went down to debutant Gujarat Titans.

The only time RR won the IPL it was a debutant too, but as were all the other teams, back in 2008.

The late Shane Warne had inspired that Royals team to a surprise victory in the tournament's inaugural edition.

The Aussie spin legend was both the captain and coach.

T20 World Cup audition

This edition is important for the current captain Samson on a personal note, too. It is also the audition for the T20 World Cup.

If Samson could stay at the wicket long enough and often enough, not merely his team benefits, his chances of making the Indian team will improve, too.

The Royals team management must be hoping there will be plenty of runs on the board before the skipper reaches in the middle. Jaiswal has been in the form of his life for a year and is threatening to be one of the world's most feared all-format batters, while Buttler has few peers in white-ball cricket.

In R. Ashwin and Yuzvendra Chahal, RR has a deadly spin duo. If its slow bowling needs to be deadlier, there is Adam Zampa, who took 23 wickets in Australia's World Cup victory a few months ago in these very conditions.

In Trent Boult, the new arrivals Avesh Khan and Nandre Burger, Navdeep Saini, Sandeep Sharma and Kuldeep Sen, the pace-bowling department also looks fine.

What Kohli has achieved for India is remarkable: Smriti

RCB skipper Smriti Mandhana feels it's not right for people to undermine Virat Kohli's achievements for the Bengaluru franchise in the wake of her side's Women's Premier League title triumph. "The title is one thing, but what he (Kohli) has achieved for India is remarkable. So, I don't think that comparison is right in terms of where my career is and what he has already achieved," Smriti said on Tuesday. "The reason why I do not like the comparison is that what he has achieved is great; he has been an inspirational person. A title does not define a lot of things," said the India vice-captain.

Afghanistan proves too strong for Ireland

Afghanistan proved too strong with bat and ball against Ireland as it claimed a 57-run victory in Sharjah on Monday to edge the T20I series 2-1. An unbeaten 72 from Ibrahim Zadran, backed up by the bowling of Azmatullah Omarzai, gave the host victory in the final match of Ireland's tour against Afghanistan. The Irish were unable to chase down a target of 156, with Omarzai's four wickets for just nine runs helping bowl the tourists out for 98 inside 18 overs.

The scores: Afghanistan 155/7 in 20 overs (Ibrahim Zadran 72 n.o.) bt Ireland 98/10 in 17.2 overs (Naveen-ul-Haq 3/10, Azmatullah Omarzai 4/9). Afghanistan won by 57 runs, clinches the series 2-1. Toss: Afghanistan; PoM: Ibrahim Zadran; Pos: Rashid Khan.

IOC urges leaders to avoid Russia's 'Friendship Games'

Facing a Russia-organised potential rival to the Olympics, the International Olympic Committee urged sports and political leaders on Tuesday not to take part in the Friendship Games due to launch weeks after the Summer Games in Paris. The IOC denounced diplomatic moves to promote the inaugural event in September as "a cynical attempt by the Russian Federation" to bring politics into sports.

Injured Messi out of Argentina friendlies

Lionel Messi will not play in Argentina's two friendlies in the United States this month due to a right leg muscle injury, the Argentine Football Association said on Monday. The 36-year-old will miss Argentina vs. El Salvador on Friday in Philadelphia and a friendly against Costa Rica four days later in Los Angeles. AFA said in a statement. Both games are warmups for Argentina for the Copa America in June-July, which will also be in the U.S.

The former CSK batter says MSD has the edge over others because of his smart captaincy, adds that Rizvi is a great talent but can't be compared with a star player like Rayudu Sameer Rizvi made the headlines in December 2023 when he became the most expensive uncapped player at the IPL auction. He was bought by Chennai Super Kings for a whopping 8.40 cr.

The promising youngster from Uttar Pradesh is known for his power-hitting abilities in the middle-order, making him the ideal player to fill the role that Ambati Rayudu played for the five-time champion.

Speaking about Rizvi's talent, former India and CSK opener M. Vijay said on the sidelines of the Deaf EnAble Foundation inter-State men's and women's cricket championship, "Sameer (Rizvi) is a great talent, but you can't compare him to a star player like my friend Rayudu.

"This is a fantastic opportunity to play for a team like CSK. If he performs well, everyone will look up and take notice. Good luck to my younger brother."

CSK will rely on skipper M.S. Dhoni to lead from the front in its title defence. Speaking about what makes the Chennai side and Dhoni different, the former CSK batter said, "Dhoni has the edge over others because of his smart captaincy and understanding of the game.

"He has delivered under pressure for nearly 10-15 years, which speaks volumes about his career.

"He is an iconic figure in Indian cricket. He should enjoy his batting and should give his all to the fans. As a huge Dhoni fan, I would like to see MS smash the ball the way he loves to and that will be a treat for all."

When asked about his former India and Super Kings teammate R. Ashwin's milestone achievement (100 Tests and 500 wickets), Vijay was lavish in his praise.

"He is definitely one of the greatest off-spinners the world has seen. He has proved it time and again. I feel so proud coming from the same State. I have seen his growth from the school level and to see him pursue something for so long and keep achieving is something special in my books."

Set to be back in the commentary box after a decade with the upcoming Indian Premier League, flamboyant former India cricketer Navjot Singh Sidhu says the glitzy league would help decide the T20 World Cup squad of not just India but also other countries.

After a decade-long stint in the unforgiving world of politics, Sidhu and his 'Sidhuisms' will be back on air starting with the IPL.

Air of anticipation as Pant prepares to take guard again

BETWEEN WICKETS
Suresh Menon

There are so many things Rishabh Pant knows he has to be thankful for. Sixteen months ago, the fact that his career might be over seemed a minor issue at the time. He had survived a ghastly car accident, and as he said later, he thought his "time in this world was over."

He didn't have a fracture, but he had torn all the ligaments in his knee which finished at a right angle to his hip while he landed face down. Each one had to be replaced. The what-might-have-beens are too frightening to speculate about. His recovery was steady (and must have been painful too), and he kept everybody's spirits up as he learnt to walk again, sending out social media messages of hope and cheer.

"I didn't think I would ever enjoy brushing my teeth," he said in an interview.

Yet the idea that he would be playing serious cricket in less than 15 months would have sounded bizarre then. Which is why despite the presence of some new stars and plenty of old ones, the IPL for many around the world will be about one man - Rishabh Pant. He will lead Delhi Capitals and keep wickets beside playing what Rohit Sharma has called 'Rishball' cricket.

Teammates and opponents as well as spectators would be happy to give him time to ease into the many roles.

Sunil Gavaskar has said the injured knee means Pant may not hit the ground running (so to speak), sensibly advising impatient fans that the player will need time and we ought to grant him that.

Watching any player return from injury sustained in a match is both heartening and fraught. Watching a favourite return after what happened will be life-affirming.

Age factor

His greatest advantage, besides his courage and determination, is his age. He is only 26 after all those centuries and sixes and catching and chatter from behind the stumps. The cricket board secretary has said that if he keeps wickets he will be back in the Indian team for the T20 World Cup in June this year. I am not sure if it is the official's place to make such promises (teams are chosen by a selection committee), but the sentiment is understandable.

Special player

Pant is a special player and needs special treatment. Some of the strokes we see Indian batters play with such flair today were first essayed by Pant. What was seen as audacious, mischievous, even insolent when he played it is commonplace now. When he reverse swept Jimmy Anderson and the new ball above the head of the slip fielders, time stood still for a moment to allow us to absorb that moment.

His batting was seen as India's media were at one

IPL continues to empower the Indian sports industry

Dhruva Prasad
CHENNAI

As the IPL juggernaut rolls on for the 17th year, the T20 spectacle also continues to drive the Indian sports industry.

According to the latest edition of the 'India Sports Sponsorship Report' published by GroupM ESP, the industry has swelled 6.5 times since the IPL boom in 2008. Its revenue from sponsorship, endorsement and advertising spending has grown from ₹2,423 crore in 2008 to a whopping ₹15,766 crore in 2023.

The bulk of the heavy lifting has been done by cricket, which contributed an astounding 87% of the total industry spends in sports in India.

This massive upsurge in the commercialisation of the most popular sport in India was largely driven by the IPL, whose brand value has ballooned by 433% since its inception in 2008.

The media rights sale for different platforms resulted in a per-match valuation of ₹118.5 crore for the IPL, second only to the National Football League.

The growth in sports spending in India was spurred by sponsorship and endorsement, which grew by 24% each.

Cricket enjoyed the lion's share in sports sponsorship spending, contributing 79% to the total revenue of ₹7,345 crore recorded in 2023.

Franchise fee registered 60% growth in 2023, and the inaugural Women's Premier League played a significant part, fetching the BCCI a revenue of ₹4,669 crore.

The IPL continued its outsized dominance in 2023, accounting for more than half of the sponsorship spending on cricket.

Athlete endorsements, which grew at the same pace as sponsorship in 2023, again saw cricketers pull away from the pack significantly. Out of the 536 endorsement deals that went to Indian athletes in 2023, 380 were snapped up by cricketers alone.

The only category of sports spending that witnessed a de-growth in 2023 was advertising on sports-related content.

Even here, cricket held its own with a share of 94% in 2023.

Despite a fall of ₹59 crore in spending in 2023, media spends still accounts for the largest share (over 47%) in sports commercialisation in India.

While TV advertising still comprises more than 50% of the total media spending, it fell by 16% in 2023, even as the share of digital swelled by 40%.

This shift was visible during IPL 2023 too, where TV ads spending declined but digital spending grew by 25%.

Starc as good as anyone in T20s, says McGrath

Former Australian pacer Glenn McGrath felt the onus is on the bowlers to innovate and tilt the game's balance, which is skewed in favour of the batters, especially in the shortest format.

"When the IPL started, batters improved first before the bowlers caught up with different deliveries and matched the batters. But recently, the batters have taken away the game with new innovative shots. So it is time for the bowlers to step up," said McGrath, who is currently at the MRF Pace Foundation for his periodical coaching camp.

"It comes back to control, thought processes and game plan. If the bowler can bowl the delivery he wants, he will be successful and in control of the game.

"I think in T20 cricket now, at the top of your mark, you have to have a couple of balls in mind to bowl, depending on what the batters do at the last minute. So, they need to innovate a little bit more," added the 54-year-old.

With the IPL just a few days away, all eyes will be on Aussie quicks Mitchell Starc and Pat Cummins. The two of them fetched record bids in the auction, and McGrath rated Starc as one of the best in the shortest format. "I think he's well suited to the shortest version. If the ball is moving, he bowls such attacking lines and lengths," said the Aussie legend.

Dangerous

"He is always dangerous when he is on song, swinging the ball and is as good as anyone going around."

On Steve Smith's decision to become a Test opener after David Warner's retirement, McGrath said, "I think it is a good move for him to challenge himself. He needed the next challenge. It has been 50-50, but let's see what the future holds for him."

AFI will send 4x400m relay squads to train in the Bahamas

The Athletics Federation of India (AFI) will be sending the 4x400m relay squads for a month-long competition-cum-training programme in the Bahamas ahead of the World Relay Championships, according to its president Adille Sumariwala.

The championships will be held in Nassau, Bahamas, on May 4 and 5. Speaking to The Hindu on the sidelines of the Indian Open 400m 2024 event at the LNCPE, Kariyavattom, Sumariwala said the main aim in sending them to the Bahamas was to give the squads a chance to acclimatise and provide competition before the meet.

"We will be sending 14 athletes along with six coaches and support staff to the Bahamas. They will be based there for at least a month.

"They will also be taking part in two or three competitions as preparation for the World Relays. The team will be announced in the Bahamas after the final trials, which we will conduct," said Sumariwala.

He was impressed with the performance of the athletes in the season opener and said the timings and close races gave sufficient indications that the season ahead was going to be bright.

"It was a good performance from the athletes at this time of the year, and it is a sign that we will have a good season ahead. Look at the timings. We saw a string of sub-47 and sub-48 timings in men and sub-53 in the women's section.

"I am confident that five or six men athletes will be able to touch 45s and below in competitions this season. I expect our women runners to clock 51s and below this season. Never in the past have we seen such good performance so early in the season.

"The campers ran the event after doing a full work out, and I think that is very good. It shows that they are in good shape. I am very pleased, I was apprehensive earlier," he said.

Sumariwala added that Rajesh Ramesh's injury was not serious, and the athlete will recover in two weeks.

Cricket Australia postpones the T20I series against Afghanistan

Associated Press
MELBOURNE

Cricket Australia has postponed a three-match men's T20I series against Afghanistan scheduled for August due to concerns over deteriorating human rights for women and girls in the Taliban-controlled country.

The matches were scheduled to be hosted by Afghanistan but played in the United Arab Emirates.

This marks the third time Cricket Australia has declined to play the Afghan team since the Taliban seized control of Afghanistan in September 2021 and placed restrictions on female participation in sport, work, education and travel.

Cricket Australia on Tuesday said advice from the Australian government was "that conditions for women and girls in Afghanistan are getting worse."

"For this reason, we have maintained our previous position and will postpone the bilateral series against Afghanistan," a CA statement read.

"CA continues its strong commitment to supporting participation by women and girls in cricket around the world and will continue to actively engage the International Cricket Council and work closely with the Afghanistan Cricket Board to determine what actions could be taken to support the resumption of bilateral matches."

Afghanistan is the only ICC full member nation without a women's team.

Atwal, Chawrasia among others for Kolkata Challenge

Seasoned golfers Arjun Atwal and S.S.P. Chawrasia will be among the leading Indian golfers to be seen in action in the inaugural Kolkata Challenge at the Royal Calcutta Golf Club (RCGC) course from Thursday as international golf returns to Kolkata after a gap of 25 years.

All eyes will be on Atwal, a PGA Tour and three-time DP World Tour winner, and Chawrasia, a four-time DP World Tour winner, as they will play on their home course. In the last international event staged at the RCGC, the 1999 Indian Open, Atwal had emerged as the winner whereas Chawrasia was joint second.

Other top Indians including Gaganjeet Bhullar, Om Prakash Chouhan, Manu Gandas, Rashid Khan and Challenge Tour stars John Parry, Mikael Lindberg, Bjorn Åkesson, Martin Couvra and Lucas Bjerregaard will also feature in the event, as per an announcement at a press conference here on Tuesday.

The tournament, co-sanctioned by the European Challenge Tour and Tata Steel Professional Golf Tour of India, carries a prize purse of $300,000 and constitutes the second event in the two-week Indian leg (also including Delhi) of the Challenge Tour.

Toofans prevail against Defenders

The Delhi outfit clinches the Eliminator in five sets to set up a summit clash against Calicut Heroes to be played on March 21

Combative unit: Toofans brought off a fighting victory after trailing 1-2. SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT

CHENNAI

Delhi Toofans defeated reigning champion Ahmedabad Defenders 15-9, 10-15, 10-15, 15-12, 17-15 in the eliminator match of Prime Volleyball League season three here on Tuesday to set up a summit clash with Calicut Heroes.

Toofans got off to a flying start with Amal K. Thomas delivering a successful 'Super Serve' to grab an early lead. The Defenders attempted to fight back with their star attacker Angamuthu finding his rhythm. However, Toofans' captain Saqlain Tariq shut the door on the set with a decisive smash.

Defenders bounced back strong in the second set, led by their imposing middle-blocker L.M. Anoj and Australian attacker Max Senica. Despite S. Santhosh's efforts for the Toofans, the Defenders pulled away, taking the second set 15-10.

The dominance continued for the Defenders in the third set. Shon T. John's ferocious smashes kept them ahead, while Shikhar Singh's contribution at the net further solidified their lead. A brilliant smash by Shikhar on a crucial 'Super Point' sealed the set for the Defenders.

The Toofans refused to go down without a fight in the fourth set. Daniel Aponza spearheaded the attack, ably supported by Santhosh and substitute setter U. Janshad. Even though Senica displayed acrobatic saves for the Defenders, the Toofans managed to even the score, forcing a decider.

The fifth set was a nail-biter, with both teams trading blows. Delhi's Serbian attacker Lazar Dodic chipped in with crucial points, but it was Rohit Kumar who emerged as the hero. His brilliant serves and smashes kept the Toofans in the lead, eventually propelling them to a thrilling 17-15 victory.

The result: Delhi Toofans bt Ahmedabad Defenders 15-9, 10-15, 10-15, 15-12, 17-15.

Sharath soars to 34th in ITTF World Rankings

Press Trust of India
NEW DELHI

Veteran Indian table tennis player Sharath Kamal on Tuesday gained as many as 54 places to jump to 34th spot in the ITTF World Rankings, following a quarterfinal finish at the Singapore Smash last week.

Sharath had been in the top-50 for a long time before a string of early exits pushed him down in the rankings. The 41-year-old, who will be featuring in his fifth and final Olympics in Paris later this year, had beaten World No. 15 Darko Jorgic before getting the better of 17th-ranked Omar Assar of Egypt enroute to the quarterfinals in the WTT event in Singapore. Sharath, who is career best ranking is 30, will try to be in the top 16 before the Olympics in July-August. "Singapore turned out to be great. Will try to chase the top 16 at the Olympics," Sharath said.

Sharath gained as many as 400 points for his last eight appearance, ensuring a comfortable entry in the top-50 of the rankings.

He is also now the highest-ranked Indian by a distance with Harmeet Desai closest to him in 65th position.

A SPECIAL PUBLICATION FROM THE HINDU GROUP

RESOLVING A VEXATIOUS ISSUE

Finding a solution to the vexatious Cauvery dispute has been a challenge to even the collective wisdom of veteran politicians, seasoned policy makers, experts and farmers. It even tested the strength of India's federal structure at times. After bickering among riparian constituents of the Cauvery basin for over a century and exhausting all avenues, judiciary, finally, had to do the task of apportioning the quantum of water for each riparian party. This book gives an account of how the dispute evolved over the years, especially after the 1924 Agreement between Madras Presidency and the Princely State of Mysore. It also drives home the point that the last word has not yet been said on the issue. Apart from the subject of water sharing, the work discusses challenges facing the river on various fronts, including environment.

How Molineux, Royal Challengers' spin ace, repaid Smriti's faith

After multiple injuries pushed her to the sidelines for over two years, the Australian left-arm off-spinner makes a strong case for a return to the squad for the T20 World Cup in September with her title-winning performance for RCB in the WPL

K. MURALI KUMAR

Lavanva Lakshminarayanan

Think of yourself as someone putting a franchise cricket team together. Would you pick a player who last featured in a T20I in 2021? More so if you're an established club in the world of franchise cricket looking for greener pastures after an underwhelming showing in the first season of the biggest women's T20 tournament in the world? Royal Challengers Bangalore did just that.

After a disappointing first rodeo in the Women's Premier League, the RCB management sat captain Smriti Mandhana down and said, "This is your team, build it the way you want." That conversation also involved asking Smriti if she had any recommendations for RCB's next coach. The first name that came to her mind was Luke Williams, the assistant coach at Southern Brave in The Hundred, which she had been part of.

"During The Hundred is where Luke and I started jotting down a few names and tracking a few players. Sophie Molineux was one of them," Smriti told The Hindu after RCB's maiden WPL title triumph. "She was injured so we had to track her. Luke kept close tabs on the Australian system and we went through with her."

Ever the fighter

If you're an Indian women's cricket fan, you might remember Molineux copping a bouncing ball to the face during the third ODI against India at Mackay in 2021. She cut her lip but came back with her mouth taped to bowl the death overs, making the visitors work for their two-wicket win in the final over. That victory halted Australia's world record 26-match unbeaten streak but Molineux's resilience became the talking point of the day.

Her tryst with injuries continued as she sustained a stress fracture to her right foot at the end of the same year. That was curtains for her participation in the Women's National Cricket League (Australia's domestic 50-over tournament) and the Ashes.

She also missed the 2022 Women's World Cup in New Zealand, which Australia won for the seventh time, and the Commonwealth Games where Australia defeated India.

The eight-month-long lay-off eventually cost her the Australian national contract. The southpaw returned to cricket in The Hundred, where she took five wickets and scored 65 runs in five games.

During the Women's Big Bash League that year, Molineux – leading Melbourne Renegades – ruptured her anterior cruciate ligament which needed mandatory surgery and ruled her out of competitive cricket for 12 months. Consequently, she missed Australia's triumphant 2023 T20 World Cup campaign.

Molineux made a return to cricket in the Australian domestic circuit in December 2023, captaining Victoria in the WNCL. She hit the ground running, scoring 62 runs and taking six wickets in only her second game. After leading the wicket-takers' chart for much of the tournament, she finished fourth in the list with 17 scalps in six matches; she also contributed 167 runs in six innings.

The Bairnsdale-born all-rounder then made it to the Governor General's XI which beat South Africa ahead of the multi-format series Down Under. She was named Player-of-the-Match for her 41-ball 59 and one wicket. Molineux featured in the one-off Test against South Africa where she went wicketless but was economical. She has now taken Jess Jonassen's place in Australia's squad for the tour of Bangladesh ahead of the Women's T20 World Cup to be held in the Asian country later this year.

"I've always loved the game. I used to play three games a weekend back home and just loved it. When you get caught up in doing it day-in-day-out as a job, you don't stop and then you probably don't take it for granted when it's not there," she had said when she made her comeback in Australian colours.

"We've been following her for a very long time. I remember her bowling against us in the one-day series, which we nearly won, when we went to Australia. She was the difference between the Australian team and the Indian squad, and the way she bowled in the last four-five overs and it always stuck with me somehow – her performance," Smriti said after the WPL triumph.

"The last two years, with a few injuries, have been really tough on her. She went through ACL and I can feel that pain (having gone through it myself)... so really happy for her," she added.

WPL run

Coming into WPL Season 2, RCB had to deal with the loss of England captain Heather Knight who chose to prioritise national duty for the tour of New Zealand in the run-up to the World Cup. That opened the door for Molineux to repay the faith Smriti and Williams had shown in her.

In the first game, she left UP Warriorz skipper Alyssa Healy flummoxed with a ripper that straightened instead of spinning in. RCB won that game by two runs.

Facing Gujarat Giants next, Molineux claimed three scalps – Veda Krishnamurthy, Kathryn Bryce and Sneha Rana – in RCB's eight-wicket win. She went wicketless in RCB's 25-run loss to Delhi Capitals and seven-wicket loss to Mumbai Indians. Molineux had Healy's number again in the reverse fixture with another peach of a delivery that appeared to turn well past leg-stump but straightened. Richa Ghosh did the rest behind the stumps, leaving Healy short of her crease. The left-armed also got rid of Poonam Khemnar as RCB scripted a 23-run win.

Molineux dismissed D. Hemalatha, but was expensive in RCB's 19-run loss to Gujarat Giants.

The crunch game against Delhi Capitals saw the Bengaluru outfit open the batting with the all-left combo of Molineux and Smriti. It was a call that left many puzzled as it exposed the Indian to her off-spin weakness early on. Though Smriti fell early, Molineux managed a 30-ball 33 in a chase that RCB agonisingly fell short by a solitary run. That loss put its playoff chances in danger. Molineux was expensive, going for more than 11 runs an over in that game, with questions emerging about her spot in the line-up.

However, Ellyse Perry helped RCB seal its place in the Eliminator with an all-round show against Mumbai Indians. Molineux retained her place in the knockout fixture against the same opponent, giving away just 16 runs in her four overs and taking a wicket.

It was in the final that Molineux truly came into her own. Taking on a dominant Delhi Capitals, RCB's spin trio of Shreyanka Patil, Molineux and Asha Sobhana proved to be a formidable spin web that pulled Meg Lanning & Co. into its trap. It was a spell-binding over by Molineux that turned the game on its head.

DC was 64/0 at the end of the seventh over. Molineux, who had conceded 10 runs in her first over in the PowerPlay, rocked Capitals with three strikes in a single over, removing Shafali Verma with a tossed up delivery which the opener struck straight to midwicket.

She then took out Jemimah Rodrigues and Alice Capsey off consecutive deliveries, both heading in between the middle- and off-stump. She went on to concede just 20 runs in the game and also pulled off a remarkable run out to send Arundhati Reddy back to the hut. Her performance powered RCB to its maiden title and she deservedly won the Player-of-the-final honour.

"To be picked by RCB after not playing cricket for a while... it is an incredible competition and it is only going to go from strength to strength. Proud to be a part of it and this one (the POTM award) is special," Molineux said. She had repaid the faith when it mattered the most.

Soph, the leader

During India's multi-format series against Australia late last year, Perry had walked up to her RCB teammate Shreyanka Patil with a message about her prospective colleague and spin partner Molineux.

"Pez said, 'Sophie Molineux is a terrific person. You have a lot to learn from her. She is a very experienced player.' That got me excited. I just wanted to meet her instantly," Shreyanka revealed.

"After every over she bowled, she would come up to the other spinners and tell them what's happening on the wicket. You don't get that from everyone. She would come up and say, 'there's something in this area of the wicket. If you bowl here, it will help you.' She would give those little tips that would be so helpful. One over can change you, one ball can change the whole game," Shreyanka added.

A day after the tense final, Molineux admitted that the whole night was still a "blur." She and her compatriots (Perry and Georgia Wareham) would barely have time to digest it all, with a flight scheduled to Bangladesh for a tour.

"We were really calm. We knew we were up against some world-class players and that it would take just one good over or a couple of wickets to turn the game," she said.

When asked how she guides the spin groups in the teams she plays for, there was almost a hint of embarrassment.

"We made a conscious decision as a group that communication was going to be the key in this tournament, particularly for the spin group as we were playing on different pitches each night," she told The Hindu.

Smriti's smile – one akin to that of a gambler's when their punt pays off – was understandable.

"She is brilliant. She is one of the smartest bowlers I've seen in a while. She has a good yorker. She has a slower one that turns and one that goes into the wicket. That's great news for a captain.

"Sometimes, she would ask if a player would play a certain delivery or respond to it with a certain shot. That's it. She would do the rest. She leads (Melbourne) Renegades, so obviously... (she's tactically sound)," Smriti said.

She was, however, quick to add that not too many insights were passed on as the pair will be on opposite ends in the World Cup.

With her incredible displays at the age-group level, Molineux was always regarded as the next big thing growing up in a country that is used to ruling the world in the sport. It comes as no surprise that she leads the Victoria side which also has the likes of Lanning and Perry.

Molineux attributed a big part of RCB's change of fortunes to belief. It is incredible how that single factor has guided her comeback to the game.

The emphatic performances thereafter have boosted her chances of returning to the XI for Australia's World Cup title defence in September.

THE GIST

Molineux has been part of two T20 World Cup triumphs for Australia (2018 and 2020)

She finished her maiden season in the Women's Premier League with 12 wickets in 10 matches with best figures of three for 20 and economy rate of 7.31

Molineux leads Melbourne Renegades in the WBBL and Victoria in the WNCL. She is also a part of Birmingham Phoenix in The Hundred

She has also represented Canterbury Magicians in New Zealand's Super Smash

Changing cancer nomenclature can improve treatment outcomes: doctors

Precision oncology allows doctors to find the genetic mutations responsible for a tumour in many cases and target them with drugs. We also know not all cancers from the same organ share the same mutations. Taking these advances together, doctors have articulated a need to reclassify cancers by their genetic features

Sneha Khedkar

The way we classify metastatic cancers may need to be revamped, scientists have said, proposing in its place a classification system that places the molecular characteristics of the cancer over the tissue of origin.

Traditional approaches to treating cancer – including surgery and radiation – target the organs in which the tumour is present. This practice formed the basis of classifying cancers after the organ in which they originate. But most deaths due to cancer are the result of the disease metastasising beyond the organ of origin; individuals with metastatic cancer are almost always treated systemically with drugs that enter the blood.

What motivates the need for change?

With technological improvements, doctors are also able to find which genetic mutations are responsible for a tumour in many cases, and target them with drugs. All cancers from the same organ don't always share the same mutations, and these mutations aren't limited to cancers of a single organ.

This development in precision oncology requires cancers to be classified based on their molecular and genetic characteristics rather than the organ in which they originate, a team of researchers from France has written in a paper. This way, according to them, cancer patients can also access life-saving drugs sooner.

Fabrice André, a medical oncologist at Gustave Roussy in France and lead author of the commentary, told this author that oncologists spend a lot of time testing new drugs in clinical trials in a sequential manner, leading to "delay in treatment access".

Has sequential testing caused delays?

There is evidence to support this view. A 2012 clinical trial in the U.S. investigating the drug nivolumab included people with different types of cancers, including melanoma and kidney cancer. Nivolumab targets the receptor of a protein found in some tumours. It ameliorated symptoms in individuals with tumours with that particular protein.

The next logical step would have been to test nivolumab with people with tumours that expressed the protein irrespective of where the cancer originated. But since cancers are classified based on their organ of origin – breast, kidney, lung, etc. – researchers had to conduct trials one after the other for each type of cancer.

As a result, for many years, people with tumours expressing that particular protein couldn't access nivolumab because the drug hadn't been trialled for their specific type of cancer.

Most drugs tested in clinical trials in the past decade have a similar story.

How else can the new scheme help?

Naming cancers according to their biology rather than their anatomy "will reduce the time needed to run clinical trials," said Dr. André, "because you only need a few randomised trials, instead of testing the drug in each disease defined by the organ of origin."

Consultant medical oncologist and haemato-oncologist at Mumbai Oncocare Centre Kunal Jobanputra agreed.

A trial for a drug targeting a particular genetic mutation will cover all cancer types with those mutations. "A positive effect could be that it will take less time for the trials to happen," he said.

The revamped classification system could also help patients understand the rationale behind their treatment, according to Dr. André.

For example, two people may have the same cancer but not the same therapy because the biological mechanisms underlying their tumours are different.

This can confuse patients, he said. "Naming cancers with biological mechanisms would decrease such heterogeneity, and will also help the patient to better understand the rationale for his/her therapy."

Physicians often educate their patients about the molecular characteristics of their cancers, Dr. Jobanputra said. "When the connotation changes, the prognosis changes, the cost of treatment changes.

"We are moving towards a more personalised [treatment] approach," he added.

What will it take to reclassify drugs?

Some change has also been evident over the last few years in regulatory agencies' approval for certain drugs.

In 2017, for example, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) approved the use of the drug pembrolizumab to treat people carrying a certain mutation regardless of the organ in which the cancer originated.

Following this, the FDA has also approved some other drugs to be used based on their biological targets.

For the various cancers to be reclassified in this way, regulatory agencies, scientific groups, and insurance companies will also need to clarify when a drug should be approved based on its molecular target.

The FDA is working on a guideline to this effect.

A particularly important requirement is for institutions to establish teams that will focus on analysing patients' molecular profiles irrespective of the cancer type, the researchers wrote in their paper. Medical students must be trained to understand the molecular basis of cancers instead of memorising the characteristics of primary tumours.

Are there hurdles to implementing?

Finally, this proposed change for classifying cancers can't happen unless patients can access tests that reveal molecular alterations in their tumour.

This is particularly relevant in the Indian context, where we must take the proposed change with a pinch of salt, Dr. Jobanputra said, since most patients can't afford genetic testing. These tests currently cost ₹ 7,000-40,000 in Indian labs and up to ₹ 3 lakh abroad. The availability and accessibility of genetic tests should be wider. "Only then can we jump to this diagnostic nomenclature."

The proposed classification system is also not without faults, Dr. Jobanputra added. Unless trials conducted based on molecular signatures have a significant number of patients with each type of cancer, they could generalise the results for all cancers. We can't entirely do away with organ-level information either because disease location is an important factor in the outcome regardless of the genetic mutations, he continued. For example, lung and brain cancers with the same mutations will still behave differently. But "if done properly," the new nomenclature "can improve accessibility of drugs," he said, even if this change will come only gradually.

Dr. André agreed. "It will probably take some decades. There is some important research to be done in terms of trial methodology before moving into that direction."

QUESTION CORNER

How cooling a car is a drag on mileage

Q: How does using the AC affect a car's mileage while driving?

A: An air-conditioner

(AC) works by moving heat from an 'inside' space to 'outside'. It achieves this using a refrigerant, a substance that absorbs heat when exposed to the 'inside' and releases it when exposed to the 'outside'. The refrigerant needs to be pressurised before it can absorb heat, which is achieved using a compressor.

In a traditional (non-electric) car, the energy to run the compressor comes from the engine. That is, the AC is another load on the engine aside from running the car itself. As a result, the engine consumes more fuel, but not all the fuel contributes to moving the car: some goes to running the AC. And as a result, the number of kilometres to which a single litre of petrol contributes – a.k.a. the mileage – drops.

The effect of an operating AC on the mileage also varies by the driving conditions. For example, driving within a city forces the engine to stop and start multiple times during a trip whereas on a highway the engine operates more continuously. In this scenario an AC's effect on the engine, and the mileage, will be more pronounced in the former and less so in the latter. Drivers can also reduce the load on the engine by parking cars in shaded spots and pre-cooling the passenger area through other means before turning the AC on.
