SC pulls up SBI, tells it to disclose bond nos. linking donors & parties

Asks Bank To Reply To Lapse Charge By Mon

Dhananjay.Mahapatra
@timesgroup.com

New Delhi: Supreme Court Friday took strong exception to State Bank of India not revealing to Election Commission the invisible alpha numeric number embossed on the now banned electoral bonds, used for nearly five years by corporate houses to donate big amounts to political parties, despite clear directions to furnish every detail of the bonds.

▶EDIT PAGE: Tell Voters All/Don't Stop The Dice/ Five Facts, Five Takeaways

> Who is appearing for SBI? Because, in our judgment, we had directed disclosure specifically of all details, including purchaser, amount and date of purchase. They have not disclosed the bond numbers. That has to be disclosed... we can take exception to what they have disclosed because they were duty bound
> —SC bench

"We take exception to SBI's action in not furnishing the alphanumeric numbers (embossed invisibly) on bonds," a bench of CJI D Y Chandrachud and Justices Sanjiv Khanna, B R Gavai, J B Pardiwala and Manoj Misra said. The bench also included as guest members three judges from the UK SC and its admonition of the largest bank effectively conveyed to the visitors the assertive and decisive character of India's apex court.

It directed SBI to respond by Monday to the application of Association for Democratic Reforms (ADR) pointing out the lapse on the bank's part.

Alphanumeric code of EBs holds key

Every bond has a unique alphanumeric code which, once revealed by SBI, will help match donors with the party that received the money. Currently, SBI has given the data to EC in two silos — donors who purchased bonds and recipients who encashed them — and the link is missing. TNN

One of the biggest buyers is Yashoda Super Speciality Hospital. But which one? There are three hospital chains that operate with this name, in Ghaziabad and Hyderabad. THEY GAVE MORE THAN THEY HAD

One of the most interesting facts from electoral bond data is that many companies have donated more than their net profit. Among them is not just Future Gaming, whose EB purchases were more than 6 times its combined net profit over the last 3 yrs, but also Qwik Supply Chain, whose purchases were nearly 4 times combined profits between 2019-20 & 2022-23. Others coughed up a sizeable chunk of their profits. TOI lists some big spenders:

No quid pro quo in EB and ED raids, says FM

Amid allegations by Rahul Gandhi that electoral bond scheme was the "world's biggest extortion racket", and Congress demanding an SC-monitored probe into the scheme in which BJP got more than Rs 6,000 crore, Union finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman denied any quid pro quo in donations to BJP and ED action against corporates, dismissing such accusations as loose talk.

"Do you know for each of the ED cases in this context, was it before or after? Maybe it was before, and even after that ED chose to...visit those who ...said, 'I want to give donation, please save me'," she said, responding to a question at the ET Awards in Mumbai. P 17

Sop for Tesla, others: Duty to be cut to 15% if co invests $500m in local prodn

New Delhi: Govt on Friday announced a policy overhaul for high-end foreign-made electric cars that will lower the import duty for vehicles such as Tesla and VinFast to 15% for up to five years, provided the companies commit to invest at least $500 million (Rs 4,150 crore) for local manufacturing.

The policy, crafted by the heavy industries ministry and the department for promotion of industry and internal trade, marks a major shift as govt shed its reluctance to cut customs duty for automobiles, a sector that has traditionally been protected by high tariffs. Currently, cars that cost up to $35,000 face 35% import duty, while those above the threshold attract 100% levy.

Tesla's cheapest vehicle, the Model 3, starts at $38,990 in the US. If the company opts for the scheme, post import duty, the price will be around $45,000 (over Rs 37 lakh). It will also face 5% GST in addition to road tax and other levies. TNN

- Under new policy, Model 3 may cost, post import duty, just over ₹37L (plus taxes)

New Delhi: Hitting out at the US and others for expressing concern over the notification of CAA Rules, govt on Friday said there are no grounds for any concern on treatment of minorities and that vote-bank politics shouldn't determine views about a "laudable initiative" to help those in distress. It urged US to welcome the intent behind the initiative.

Dismissing the State Department's comments on implementation of the Act as "misplaced, misinformed and unwarranted", govt said lectures by those who have a limited understanding of India's pluralistic traditions and the region's post-Partition history are best not attempted. Polls Pitchfork Illegal Colonies To Centrestage

Denied Civic Amenities And Neglected, Residents Find Their Vote Drawing Political Parties With Bagful Of Promises

Atul.Mathur@timesgroup.com

New Delhi: It's inevitable that once the poll bugle is sounded in the capital, unauthorised colonies and their residents get the kind of attention they crave for round the year. Regularisation of these colonies and their redevelopment have always been one of the hot button issues raised ahead of parliamentary and assembly elections in the capital.

Since 2008, when Sheila Dikshit-led Congress govt promised regularisation of 1,639 such settlements, spread over govt, private and agricultural land, the assurances of better civic amenities, piped water supply, sewer connection to each household and better road network have been considered as the ticket to electoral success.

With the issuing of provisional regularisation certificates to 1,218 colonies, Congress ensured its return to power by winning 43 of 70 seats in the 2008 assembly polls. The subsequent elections saw various political parties making a renewed pitch for better facilities, regularisation and ownership rights.

For most of the time, the residents of these colonies may not have a voice but they do have a vote. The 1800-odd unauthorised colonies provide a habitat to over 30 per cent of Delhi's over two crore population. While these urban settlements are spread across the city, their number is relatively higher in the Northwest, West, South and Northeast parliamentary constituencies.

The mushrooming of unauthorised colonies across Delhi has happened over many years and is unabated. The years after Independence saw a massive migration from rural parts of the country to the capital in search of employment opportunities and a better life. Affordable housing, however, could not keep pace with the large-scale migration, forcing people to either build houses on vacant pieces of govt land or agricultural land being sold to gullible buyers by the land mafia.

The problem of illegal colonies cropping up across the city came to the notice of govt for the first time in 1961, forcing it to consider regularising them. A year later, the first batch of 103 such residential pockets were regularised. The next few years saw more colonies being given the legal tag, taking the total to over 750 by 1993.

With the opening of the economy, migration to the capital from UP, Haryana, Bihar, West Bengal, Rajasthan, Madhya Pradesh and other states saw a huge spike and the number of illegal settlements saw a massive jump. Following multiple revision of guidelines by Centre, 1,639 illegal colonies applied for regularisation in 2007.

The cut-off dates were frequently changed – a cynical political gambit – to accommodate relatively newer colonies under the regularisation scheme. Promises of preparing draft layout plans were made but that never became a reality.

The then Congress govt gave provisional regularisation certificates to 1,218 unauthorised colonies at a huge event at Chhatrasal Stadium, ahead of the 2008 assembly polls. The move proved to be a masterstroke as it helped the party secure a third term in power in Delhi by winning 43 out of 70 seats.

The tag of "regularisation", however, was a small issue. What the residents of these colonies faced was a total lack of basic amenities and utter neglect by govt agencies. Residents struggled to get potable water and had to often stand in serpentine queues for water tankers to get their daily quota. Broken roads, overflowing drains, garbage strewn all over, dangling electricity wires and waterlogging were the common problems faced by the migratory population living in these areas

TIMES Special

Since these houses were "illegal", they had to deal with the enforcement agencies if they tried to add more rooms or a kitchen or a floor to provide more space for their expanding families. The revenue department refused to register the sale deeds and banks denied them loans. That led to the growing demand for their regularisation and better amenities.

Urban planner Sushil Chandrasekhar points out that there is a thriving property market in these colonies and the boundaries based on which the provisional certificates were given have now changed.

"In the past 11 years, there has been rampant unauthorised construction in these areas to meet the housing requirement with a steady increase in population," said a senior Delhi bureaucrat, requesting anonymity.

"There is a visible improvement in the availability of basic amenities but a lot of work needs to be done, especially in localities in the outer parts of the city, to bring them even remotely close to planned residential pockets," says Chandrasekhar.

The Centre had in Oct 2019 launched the Prime Minister – Unauthorized Colonies in Delhi Awas Adhikar Yojana (PM-UDAY) to recognise and grant the rights of ownership, transfer or mortgage to the residents of these colonies. The scheme was sold as a panacea for all problems faced by the residents but failed to generate much interest. While the DDA portal meant for the scheme saw over five lakh people register under it, only 22,034 have been issued authorisation slips and conveyance deeds, paving the way for registration of their properties. DDA officials added that more than 56,000 cases had been disposed of till date.

MCD has also uploaded draft road network plans for only three colonies – Swaroop Nagar, Khirki Extension and East Azad Nagar – as a pilot project to invite comments or suggestions from people.

Delhi BJP president Virendra Sachdeva says the issue of unauthorised colonies is not peculiar to Delhi but is present in all third-world countries and needed a humanitarian approach for a long-term solution.

"We need to understand that with the passage of time, families have expanded and people have migrated from rural areas and small towns to cities, leading to an increased demand for affordable housing. Unfortunately, the land-owning agencies and govt failed to check them or provide an alternative when these colonies started mushrooming in the late 1950s," he said. "To find a solution to the problem and to check misuse of properties, a tribunal should be set up for reframing town planning laws," he added.

In the case of Delhi, underlines Sachdeva, there was a need to end the multiplicity of agencies involved in sanctioning of building plans and regularisation of buildings. "Provisioning of basic amenities – water, sewer, sanitation and roads – is the responsibility of Delhi govt but it has failed miserably to deliver," says Sachdeva.

Delhi urban development minister Saurabh Bharadwaj, however, blames successive govts at the Centre for failing to meet the growing demand for affordable housing.

"Successive Central govts in the past were duty-bound to create residential colonies in Delhi as per the growing demand for residential space. DDA failed to match the pace of growth in Delhi and people were forced to move to unauthorised colonies. DDA even failed to create enough commercial and industrial spaces, which led to mushrooming of unauthorised commercial shops and non-conforming industrial areas," says Bharadwaj.

He points out that LG also has a pivotal role as head of DDA. "Through DDA, LG and Central govt have a crucial obligation to ensure affordable housing for the public. While departments under Delhi govt have shown commendable progress, those under Centre have witnessed alarming deterioration, highlighting the urgent need for improvement," he stresses.

Govt to order probe to fix responsibility for delay in addressing sewage complaints

Times News Network

New Delhi: Delhi govt will soon order an inquiry into why sewer-related problems continued to pile up in the last eight months and will fix accountability.

Speaking in the Assembly during a special session called to discuss water and sewer problems and action taken on them by chief secretary Naresh Kumar, Atishi said: "In the last one week, work was carried out to resolve the sewer issues. If they could be resolved within four to five days, why did they remain unresolved for so long. This is a matter for investigation." She added that a white paper will be brought out.

She stressed that someone has to be held accountable, whether it is DJB members or officials from other departments.

The minister also said that even during Covid-19, when most departments were stretched, such a large number of complaints had not cropped up.

Atishi was speaking after giving the status of sewer-related complaints raised by various MLAs in their respective constituencies.

The Assembly passed a resolution last week directing the chief secretary to resolve the complaints raised by legislators and submit an action-taken report in the House.

"The problems arising in the last one year have not risen in Delhi's history. The resolution of issues regarding water and sewer has always been a difficult task in Delhi," Atishi said.

"It is very rare that the opposition and the ruling party are on the same page regarding water issues and everybody wants a solution," she said.

The Assembly on Friday passed another resolution directing Kumar to continue coordinating with all departments and resolve the remaining grievances within a week and present a report in the House on March 22.

Atishi says there is a lack of coordination between DJB, urban development department and finance department

Conceding that there was a lack of coordination between Delhi Jal Board, urban development department and finance department, the minister said that people of Delhi had to face its brunt.

Atishi said Delhi govt has signed an MoU with Himachal Pradesh for release of water to Delhi. She, however, said that Haryana had put a roadblock saying they had the first right to that water. While urging BJP MLAs to resolve the issue since the govt in Haryana belonged to their party, Atishi said if they support Delhi's case in the Upper Yamuna River Board, it will start getting 100 MGD of water the next day.

BJP MLA from Rohini, Vijender Gupta, however, said that govt was "shirking its responsibilities and engaging in theatrics", rather than providing solutions.

Gupta claimed that former water minister Saurabh Bharadwaj made his approval mandatory for every project, which led to a backlog of 20,000 files. "This has severely hampered basic maintenance and operational efficiency of DJB," Gupta said.

He also alleged that despite spending Rs 25,000 crore in nine years on capital projects, 50 per cent water continued to be lost to leakage.

Addressing a press conference later, Delhi BJP president Virendra Sachdeva posed 12 questions to AAP govt and alleged that the water minister was misleading the people of Delhi.

"Every year, the Kejriwal govt pumps fresh funds into DJB. This year, Rs 7,200 crore has been allocated. But DJB has not prepared its balance sheet since 2015-16 and no audit of accounts has taken place," Sachdeva said.

He added that while AAP govt complained of high levels of ammonia in the Yamuna, it allowed untreated sewage to drain into the river.

House asks CS to fix problems in govt hospitals within a week

Times News Network

New Delhi: Complaining of shortage of medicines and inadequate lab tests in hospitals, mohalla clinics and dispensaries, Delhi Assembly on Friday passed a resolution demanding a solution to the issue within a week.

The Legislative Assembly directed chief secretary Naresh Kumar to eliminate shortcomings in state-run health facilities and present a daily report to the health minister.

"A meeting of the Delhi Legislative Assembly will be convened on Friday, March 22, at 11 am, where the chief secretary will personally present a detailed report on this matter through the health minister," the resolution read. It was passed by a voice vote in the House.

The resolution was brought after govt realised that a similar move last week to address water and sewer-related issues had resulted in Delhi Jal Board acting on a war footing under direct supervision of the chief secretary and resolving a large number of problems raised by MLAs across the city.

RESOLUTION READS

A meeting of the assembly will be convened on Friday, where the chief secretary will personally present a report through the health minister

Health minister Saurabh Bharadwaj said the city's poor were distressed due to the shortage of medicines and laboratory tests in mohalla clinics, hospitals and dispensaries. He told the House that medicines and other supplies are procured through a standard process and new tenders are issued every year before the current one expires.

"A tender was issued for medicines on Dec 21, 2022. The officials continued to conduct technical evaluations of that tender while the previous one expired. The current tender is also expiring in March but the supplies of medicines have not been received," Bharadwaj said.

Due to this, medicines are running out. "Why is no action being taken against the health secretary, director-general of health services and officials of the central procurement agency who are obstructing the supply? Such officials should be prosecuted under the Criminal Act," Bharadwaj said.

He alleged that the attempts to procure medicines through local purchases had been stalled. "Companies conducting tests in mohalla clinics have not been paid the past year and they are not ready to work after March," he said.

Electrifying Vision: Outer Ring Rd To Get An EV Charger Every 5km

Fast-Charging Highway Corridor To Run Through Entire Length Of The Road

Abhinav.Rajput
@timesgroup.com

New Delhi: Delhi govt plans an electric-vehicle charging corridor along Outer Ring Road and install fast charging stations every 5km or so. A govt official said the corridor was planned along Outer Ring Road since it is one of the busiest arteries in the city connected to prominent locations. He said that spaces below flyovers and unused lands would be the preferred locations for the charging stations so as not to hinder moving traffic. The entry and exits would also be designed to minimise inconvenience to the road users.

The work on creating the charging corridor would begin once the awaited model code of conduct for general elections is lifted, the official said.

Another official said that Outer Ring Road would be branded as a route where finding an EV charging station would be easy. This would offset the range anxiety seen among new EV buyers. "Even though Delhi has good EV penetration, charging stations are not as visible as petrol stations, forcing one to take the help of Google Maps. Branding the stretch will fill EV owners, especially new ones, with confidence especially to new EV buyers that they can easily get their vehicles charged," the official said, adding, "This stretch also has several residential areas along its circular length."

The 47km-long Outer Ring Road passes through areas like RK Puram, Munirka and IIT in the south, Nehru Place, Kalkaji and Okhla in the southeast and Azadpur, Jahangirpuri, Rohini and Model Town in the north. A feasibility study showed over 10,000 passenger car units passing through the intersections at Chirag Dilli, Khel Gaon, IIT and August Kranti Marg in 24 hours.

Amit Bhatt, MD, International Council on Clean Transportation India, said, "This concept is akin to an EV ready street, which means that if someone from outside the city arrives, that individual should not have to worry about being unable to recharge the vehicle. "The fact that there are charging stations at regular intervals also helps alleviate people's fear of long queues at such stations."

Bhatt added that clearly visible signage should be put up indicating the presence of the charging stations on Outer Ring Road to instil confidence in a new set of buyers of EVs.

Anil Chhikara, a faculty member at the Asian Institute of Transport Development, cautioned that while the e-charging corridor was an innovative concept, govt had to also ensure that traffic on the stretch near the station did not get hindered. The entry and exits also had to be designed in a way not to disturb moving traffic on Outer Ring Road. "Spaces below flyovers could prove efficient for this," he said.

Since the launch of the EV policy in August 2020, Delhi has witnessed a remarkable surge in electric transport adoption, with over 1.8 lakh EVs registered, predominantly two-wheelers and three-wheelers. The average annual EV penetration increased from 3% in 2020 to 12% by Dec 2022, reaching 16% in Dec 2023, the highest monthly EV penetration recorded among all states in India. The electric BOV (battery-operated vehicle) sold in Delhi has also shown a jump in the past few years with 73,467 registered last year against 62,257 in 2022, 25,817 in 2021 and 12,378 in 2020.

Delhi already has over 4,600 public charging points and 250 swapping stations, the highest in India. Of these 4,600, 425 charging points were installed by govt, 1,580 by private persons and 2,684 charging points installed by other agencies and business owners.

- Till last year, Delhi had over 53 locations equipped with EV charging infrastructure
- Govt's initial target was to achieve a 25% EV adoption rate
- Till last year, around 13% of total vehicle sales in the city comprised EVs, which was above national average of 6%
- While driving a petrol scooter costs approximately ₹1.8 per kilometre, an EV scooter costs around 7 paise per kilometre, as per govt estimate
- Petrol car costs around ₹7 per kilometre, while an EV car costs only around 36 paise per kilometre, as per govt estimate

3 JJ clusters to give way to flats under DDA scheme

Times News Network

New Delhi: Three jhuggi clusters in east Delhi with nearly 4,000 households — Kalandar Colony, Deepak Colony and Dilshad Vihar Colony — will be redeveloped by Delhi Development Authority as an in situ rehabilitation project. This is the first time that DDA will undertake the slum rehabilitation under the Jahan Jhuggi Wahin Makaan scheme in the Trans-Yamuna area.

This decision was taken by lieutenant governor VK Saxena at a meeting with DDA vice-chairman Subhasish Panda. It will be the fourth such project after those in Kalkaji, where flats have already been allotted to slum dwellers, Kathputli Colony and Jailorwala Bagh, where construction work is in progress.

"The rehabilitation project decision was taken following the visit of LG to Kalandar Colony in Shahdara on March 5 at the request of the slum dwellers," said a DDA official. Apparently, Saxena was appalled to see the pathetic conditions in the basti where 30,000-35,000 people lived in squalor and bereft of basic civic amenities.

After the visit, LG wrote about the area on X, tagging CM Arvind Kejriwal. He said that having seen the civic woes faced by the people living here, it was his duty to bring this issue of public importance to CM's notice.

In response, Kejriwal asked the chief secretary to address the issues highlighted by Saxena. Accordingly, the in-situ rehabilitation project will utilise over seven hectares of land in the three slum clusters to construct multi-storeyed buildings. "These will be flats with modern amenities and they will be given to the slum dwellers who have been living in subhuman conditions," said an official.

Another official said, "LG issued specific directions to DDA to execute the project in a time-bound manner and to avoid any delay in starting the project, unlike in the past when similar efforts were delayed for years."

DDA's first in situ project at Kalkaji was inaugurated in Nov 2022 by PM Narendra Modi. The 3,024 EWS flats there had been built to rehabilitate the slum dwellers. The second project at Jailorwala Bagh is also well under way and will eventually house 1,675 families. The flats, built at a cost of Rs 421.8 crore, will be handed over to the beneficiaries soon, according to DDA officials.

A DDA official earlier informed that in Phase I, possession of 1,078 flats will be handed over since the verification and other necessary processes required for the fulfilment of allotment of flats to the eligible beneficiaries have been completed. As for the allocation of the remaining flats, DDA has identified two more jhuggi clusters where a process to verify the eligibility of beneficiaries is under way.

Work is also in progress at the Kathputli Colony redevelopment project, where 2,800 flats in 14-storey towers have to be constructed for slum dwellers who had been living in the locality for nearly four decades. The average size of each flat is 37 square metres. Apart from an amphitheatre, the complex will also have an exhibition museum to showcase the craft of Kathputli Colony residents who are primarily folk artists, including puppeteers, magicians and ballad singers.

Delhi's electric vehicle policy gets another extension

Times News Network

New Delhi: Delhi Cabinet on Friday decided to extend Delhi Electric Vehicle Policy till June 30 this year or until the notification of Delhi EV policy 2, whichever comes earlier.

On Monday, TOI reported that the policy, which expired last year, was not extended leading to people not being able to avail the subsidy benefits on the electric vehicles for over past two months. The previous EV policy expired on Dec 31.

Transport minister Kailash Gahlot said, "All current incentives and subsidies remain intact, and any vehicles purchased from Jan 1 onwards will be eligible for the benefits under this extension".

GAHLOT SAYS

All current incentives and subsidies remain intact, and any vehicles purchased from Jan 1 onwards will be eligible for the benefits under this extension

"The extension of the Delhi Electric Vehicle Policy underscores our dedication to fostering a sustainable and eco-friendly transport ecosystem in the capital. Under the visionary leadership of chief minister Arvind Kejriwal, we are committed to making Delhi a leader in electric mobility at global level," he said after the Cabinet meeting.

Under the EV policy, two-wheelers get a subsidy of Rs5,000 per kWh of battery capacity (maximum Rs30,000). Three-wheelers get a subsidy of Rs30,000 per vehicle, irrespective of total cost and battery capacity. The subsidy for four-wheelers is not applicable anymore as it was offered only for the first 1,000 EVs that were registered under the scheme.

Under the policy, govt has disbursed financial incentives totalling over Rs 179 crore across various e-vehicle segments, with Rs 64 crore disbursed for two-wheelers, over Rs 100 crore for three-wheelers.

The initial Delhi Electric Vehicle Policy was notified on Aug 7, 2020 for a duration of three years, later extended until Dec 31, 2023. The govt is now in the process of formulating the EV Policy 2.0.

After compressed natural gas, the transition to EV is the next vehicular transition in the national capital.

Delhi govt wanted to bring EV policy 2.0 in Oct after the expiry of current policy in Aug for which it did consultations with different stakeholders. However, it was stuck after termination of services of advisors, consultants, and fellows in the department.

PWD to beautify Guru Ravidas Marg in south Delhi

New Delhi: The Public Works Department minister Atishi on Friday said that Guru Ravidas Marg road in south Delhi will be taken up for repair and beautification work. This 4km road connects Mata Anandmayee Marg and the Mehrauli-Badarpur road.

Atishi said that during the beautification, footpaths will be repaired and the service road will also receive a new look. "Guru Ravidas Marg is one of the most important and busy roads in the Kalkaji assembly constituency, used by a significant number of people for commuting daily. In this regard, the transformation of the road will benefit lakhs of people" said the minister.

After the strengthening and beautification of Guru Ravidas Marg, connectivity to main roads from several colonies in the Kalkaji assembly constituency will improve, said officials.

Atishi said that under the leadership of chief minister Arvind Kejriwal, Delhi govt is working in 'Mission Mode' to improve the city's roads. TNN

Unlock Aaftab for 8 hours a day: HC

Times News Network

New Delhi: Delhi High Court on Friday directed the Tihar Jail authorities to allow Aaftab Poonawala, the main accused in the Shraddha Walker murder case, to remain out in the open for eight hours in jail premises, before lodging him in a solitary cell at night.

A bench of justices Suresh Kumar Kait and Girish Kathpalia granted the accused relief on a petition filed by him, contending that under the garb of security, he cannot be kept in solitary confinement.

Aaftab's lawyer claimed that unlike other inmates who are taken out for eight hours a day, Aaftab is allowed to be out for an hour each in the morning and evening before being sent back to solitary confinement for the remaining time. "We direct the jail authorities to unlock him for eight hours, as applicable to other prisoners, and during the night, he be lodged in a solitary cell," the court observed, while hearing the plea.

Justifying the strict conditions imposed on Aaftab, the counsel for the jail authorities submitted that the accused was not kept with other inmates due to a threat perception as he may be attacked. He said a trial court had earlier passed directions with respect to giving security to Aaftab after he was attacked while being taken to the forensic science lab in Rohini.

However, urging the court to intervene, Aaftab's lawyer said his client is in any case allowed "zero" human interaction in jail. He further informed the court that Aaftab is being kept in solitary confinement even though he has not committed any "jail offence". Aaftab is accused of strangling his live-in partner Walkar and chopping her body into pieces in 2022.

3 horses in city test +ve for glanders

New Delhi: After three horses, which were used to ply tongas illegally in the city, tested positive for glanders, Indian Council for Agricultural Research's National Research Centre on Equines (NRCE) has asked the animal husbandry department to carry out detailed checks on equines in the area concerned.

The three samples were collected by People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals (PETA), India. Glanders is a contagious, life-threatening disease in equines, which can also infect humans in some cases. "It is recommended that movement of equines to and from the area concerned and its adjoining locations should be strictly regulated. Necessary precautions and sanitary measures to prevent spread of the disease should be the top priority. Equines in adjoining areas may also be surveyed at regular intervals for glanders testing for de-notification," said NRCE in a letter to the department on March 5.

In an order on March 13, the department said, "In response to the recent incidence of glanders in Central district, the rapid response team has been directed to collect samples and submit the same to the lab, as per the guidelines of National Action Plan for Control and Eradication of Glanders in India 2019."

PETA India has also written to Delhi govt officials again, urging them to prohibit the use of equines in the city and ensure strict enforcement of the 2010 ban on the use of horse-drawn tongas. PETA India has also offered to help rehabilitate horses.

One horse had tested positive for glanders in 2020, 8 in 2019 and 40 in 2018, claimed PETA India. "The use of horses to pull tongas for rides and at weddings is not only dangerous for the animal but also poses a risk for humans as they are a major traffic and health hazard," said PETA India veterinary officer Dr Kundan Joshi. "To protect horses and people, the horses finally need to be removed from Delhi roads," Joshi said. TNN

Students File Papers For JNU Union Election

Final List To Be Out Today, Univ Has 7.7k Voters

Shreya.Ghosh@timesgroup.com

New Delhi: Political fervour has gripped Jawaharlal Nehru University (JNU) campus as filing of nominations for the JNU students' union elections kicked off on Thursday. The final list of candidates will be released on March 16.

A total of 7,751 students are registered to cast their votes in the elections slated for March 22. The counting of votes will take place on March 24.

45 NOMINATIONS RECEIVED FOR THE PRESIDENT

Nominations received include 45 for president, 43 vice president, 44 general secretary, 38 joint secretary, and 258 councillors. The battleground sees contenders from diverse ideological backgrounds.

Representing the left-leaning spectrum are Umesh Kumar Yadav from Students' Federation of India (SFI), Anagha Pradeep and Swati Singh from Democratic Students' Federation (DSF), and Dhananjay of All India Students' Association (AISA).

On the opposing side, Akhil Bharatiya Vidyarthi Parishad (ABVP) presents a challenge with candidates such as Umesh Chandra Ajmira, Arjun Anand, Govind Dangi, Deepika and Kavya.

The contenders from Congress-affiliated National Students' Union of India (NSUI) include Kunal Kumar, Shudhandhu Shekhar, and Farheen Zaidi.

According to the rules released by JNUSU Election Committee, "all candidates shall be prohibited from indulging in activities which are considered corrupt practices". Candidates are barred from engaging in corrupt practices such as voter intimidation or bribery, with a strict cap of Rs 5,000 imposed on campaign expenditure per candidate.

The election, marking a return after a hiatus of four years due to the Covid-19 pandemic, also sees the continuation of the partial code of conduct, enforcing rules regarding campaign materials and public gatherings.

The existing code prohibits use of posters or pamphlets without election committee's approval, restricting campaigning to handmade posters and photocopies. Besides, campus structures and university property cannot be used for campaign. Public gatherings require prior approval, with procession limits set at 11pm, banning the use of public address systems, vehicles, and animals. Candidates are jointly tasked with cleaning the polling area within 48 hours after the elections.

With alliances forming and campaigning strategies being honed, students are also reminiscent of past electoral showdowns.

DU centre on Buddhist studies gets central nod

New Delhi: Delhi University (DU) is set to build a centre for Buddhist Studies and introduce courses on Buddhism to preserve the Buddhist culture and language. The centre will be established on the university campus at an estimated cost of Rs 35 crore.

The ministry of minority affairs has given nod to DU's proposal to establish the centre under the Pradhan Mantri Jan Vikas Karyakram and the "Buddhist Development Plan."

Before the disbursal of funds for the construction of the centre, the empowered committee of PMJVK will oversee the detailed cost estimates provided by the university.

A DU official informed that the initiative comes in response to the growing demand for the revival of Buddhist studies.

Moreover, DU will introduce a science for happiness program in five of its women colleges as an elective subject. The university has signed a memorandum with the Rekhi Foundation to offer the course and set up a centre of excellence at Lady Shri Ram College for Women, Daulat Ram College, Gargi College, Indraprastha Women's College and Miranda House.

"Understanding the idea and need for the science of happiness, DU has decided to include the course in the upcoming academic session," vice chancellor Yogesh Singh, said. TNN

CAA: Pak refugees protest against Congress

New Delhi: Refugees from Pakistan on Friday held protest against Congress leaders' statements on the implementation of the Citizenship (Amendment) Act, 2019 near the party headquarters.

Protesters carried placards and raised slogans against Congress leaders. They claimed that Centre was implementing CAA and giving them citizenship, but the opposition parties were opposing it.

According to police, over 200 people had gathered to protest, and they were dispersed. An officer said the protesters assembled near Jaisalmer House and started marching towards Akbar Road but were stopped.

One of the protesters said that leaders of Congress and INDIA bloc do not speak when other refugees infiltrate the country illegally, but they have entered India legally with a passport and a valid visa then why they are opposing them.

Another protestor, Hari Om said that there were around 400-500 protestors on the spot. "Why are they opposing our citizenship," he asked, adding that they have been living here for many years without harm anyone. TNN

Primary school in west Delhi to be revamped

New Delhi: Mayor Shelly Oberoi laid the foundation stone for reconstruction of a primary school in West Patel Nagar at the cost of approximately Rs 5 crore.

At present, classes are held on the ground floor and the place is insufficient for 1,600 students enrolled in the West Delhi school. A four-storey complex will be made by MCD.

"MCD works to provide primary education from class 1 to 5 and these schools play a crucial role in strengthening the foundation of children's education. Therefore, it is important to give good education as well as infrastructure to children. The school building will be constructed at a cost of about Rs 5 crore so that children get a good environment and teachers get better arrangements," the mayor said.

The school will have a hall, 24 classrooms, a library, two computer rooms, two nursery rooms and a sports room. "This building will be constructed in the same manner as Delhi govt schools are constructed," she added.

The project is among several by MCD recently to improve infrastructure in schools.

MCD in-charge and AAP MLA Durgesh Pathak was present at the event.

On March 1, the mayor inaugurated a school at Vishnu Garden in west Delhi. "The school is earthquake-resistant and it cost about Rs 1.8 crore. A library has been made for children and there are smart TVs in classrooms. The school has arrangements for a solar panel roof, rainwater harvesting tank, cooler, firefighting equipment etc." an official said. TNN

DU prepares for Holi celebrations

New Delhi: In the wake of upcoming celebrations of Holi on March 25, Delhi University (DU) authorities have started taking proactive steps to ensure the safety and security of everyone on the campus during the festival of colours.

A statement released by university officials on Wednesday stated that safety measures were being implemented to maintain order and prevent any untoward incident during the festivities.

"Elaborate security arrangements have been initiated, in coordination with law enforcement agencies, to counter any possible acts of hooliganism or rowdy conduct, especially those targeting women students," said DU officials.

Key measures included establishment of a joint control room in both north and south campuses, and implementation of mobile patrolling by university security staff and law enforcement officials. TNN

No Stay On 2 Summonses Against CM In Excise Case

Says He Can Move Trial Court; ED Says His 'Excuses' Invalid

Vineet.Upadhyay

Chief minister Arvind Kejriwal

The court of additional chief metropolitan magistrate Divya Malhotra had sent Kejriwal the summonses on Feb 7 and March 7, in response to the two complaints by ED. It is slated to take up both these matters on March 16, a date on which Kejriwal had agreed to appear in person before the court. However, two days before the hearing, Kejriwal filed pleas before the sessions court, challenging both the orders. The court has said he could move the trial court for exemption

New Delhi: A Delhi court on Friday refused to stay two summonses of a magistrate's court that had sought chief minister Arvind Kejriwal's presence after complaints by Enforcement Directorate (ED) alleging that he had not complied with the agency's summonses in the alleged liquor policy scam.

Kejriwal on Thursday requested an interim stay on the earlier magistrate court's orders and sought exemption from personal appearance before the magistrate's court on March 16.

The court of additional chief metropolitan magistrate Divya Malhotra had sent Kejriwal the summonses on Feb 7 and March 7, in response to the two complaints by ED.

It is slated to take up both these matters on March 16, a date on which Kejriwal had agreed to appear in person before the court.

However, two days before the hearing, Kejriwal filed pleas before the sessions court, challenging both the orders of the additional chief metropolitan magistrate.

"The request for a stay (on the magistrate's order) has been declined. For exemption, you can move the trial court," special judge (Prevention of Corruption Act) Rakesh Syal of the Rouse Avenue Courts said, while rejecting Kejriwal's plea for the interim stay on summonses.

Senior advocate Ramesh Gupta, who appeared for Kejriwal in the special judge's court, said that he was summoned by the agency because it wanted to arrest him. He also contended that the summonses issued by ED suffered from several legal infirmities.

Gupta added that Kejriwal had always lived as an ordinary citizen, never worn a suit and wore chappals.

"I have not failed to appear. I have explained reasons. It is not wilful or intentional. I have stated earlier that I am willing to cooperate. I am neither an accused, nor a witness, then why am I being summoned?" the counsel asked on Kejriwal's behalf.

Additional solicitor-general SV Raju, appearing for the ED, said that Kejriwal's "excuses" were invalid. He said that Kejriwal's actions were a case of clear disobedience.

"We want to complete the investigation, but you're not complying with the summons," Raju said. "Your goal is to make sure (Manish) Sisodia gets bail. The ED can summon any person. Not all summoned are accused. They might become an accused later on," he added.

"Higher your power, the bigger your duty to attend to the summons. We can't tell you why you are being summoned. You will tamper with the evidence," Raju contended in court. "It is nothing but wilful disobedience. A prima facie case is made out. How do I know whether he is a witness or accused without recording his statements?" the counsel for ED asked.

"A person holding a high rank and giving assurance can't go back on his assurance. He was given a date of his choice. Why can't he come for five minutes? No stay is required to be made," he told the special judge's court.

On Thursday, the investigating agency also told the court that Kejriwal wanted to put "pressure" on it by moving a plea at the "last moment", challenging the order of the magisterial court summoning him after ED complained about his non-compliance to the summonses.

SC junks Sisodia's curative petition over bail rejection

New Delhi: Supreme Court has rejected the curative plea of AAP leader Manish Sisodia against dismissal of his bail plea and with this the politician exhausted all his remedy in this round of legal battle to get bail in Delhi's excise policy case.

A bench of Chief Justice D Y Chandrachud and Justices Sanjiv Khanna, B R Gavai and S V N Bhatti dismissed the curative petition filed by Sisodia.

"We have gone through the Curative Petitions and the connected documents. In our opinion, no case is made out within the parameters indicated in the decision of this Court in Rupa Ashok Hurra vs Ashok Hurra," it said.

The court had earlier dismissed his review petition against its October 30 verdict rejecting his bail plea in corruption and money laundering cases pertaining to change in Delhi's liquor policy allegedly involving payment of bribes of Rs 338 crore by wholesale distributors.

Sisodia headed the Group of Ministers which carried out the changes allegedly to suit a liquor cartel which, in turn, funded Aam Aadmi Party's Goa campaign.

The court had in its judgement extensively cited allegations made against Sisodia in the chargesheet under PMLA to turn him down even while it had noted that "prima facie", there is lack of clarity on a specific allegation on the involvement of former deputy CM Delhi in the alleged transfer of Rs 45 cr through Hawala for AAP'S Goa campaign. ED: Kavitha part of south lobby involved in 'scam'

IANS
Kavitha after her arrest from her residence in Hyderabad

PM Narendra Modi was holding a road show in Malkajgiri, barely 15km from Kavitha's home, when she was arrested.

The key allegation against Kavitha is that she was part of what has allegedly been called the 'south lobby'. She has been accused of conspiring with AAP leaders in Delhi to formulate an excise policy that benefited a select group of companies. She is also accused of holding benami investments in Indospirits, the company named in the alleged scam. ED claims Rs 100-crore kickbacks were paid and the money was shifted from Hyderabad to Delhi through hawala channels.

According to ED, Kavitha allegedly bribed AAP govt to formulate an excise policy to facilitate companies in winning bids in the auction, forming a cartel and controlling retail outlets in Delhi. Kavitha purportedly invested money through her benamis.

There was much drama at Kavitha's house before she was bundled off in a car to the airport in the evening. Her brother and BRS working president, K T Rama Rao, who was present there, accused the officials of not having a transit warrant to shift Kavitha to Delhi and openly defying the orders of Supreme Court. He was referring to the top court telling ED not to arrest Kavitha till March 16 when it is expected to hear her plea next.

An ED official, identified as Bhanupriya Meena, asked her subordinates how KTR entered the house without permission. "How have they entered?" she asked. "Record the video. We haven't opened the door, but they came in."

KTR retorted, "Madam Bhanupriya, the search is over and you don't have a transit warrant. You have given an undertaking to Supreme Court and are now violating it. You are in serious trouble." Another ED official told KTR, "You have a legal remedy. You can always avail it."

After the arrest, Kavitha waved to the large gathering of BRS cadres from the balcony of her home with KTR, husband D R Anil and her son standing by. She was also seen hugging her husband before she was driven off to the airport. Former ministers Harish Rao and Prasanth Reddy were present in the house at the time of arrest. BRS activists initially staged a protest and raised slogans but later quietened down.

ED claimed that Hyderabad businessman and alleged frontman of Kavitha, Arun Ramachandran Pillai, initially gave a statement against her but later retracted it. Her auditor, Gorantla Butchi Babu, confessed to various meetings of Kavitha with other accused in the alleged scam and implicated her in the case.

Disclose funds received from poll bonds, AAP tells BJP

New Delhi: A day after Election Commission published the electoral bond data, AAP challenged the BJP to disclose the details of overall funds it got through these instruments.

Addressing a press briefing, AAP leader Saurabh Bharadwaj said: "BJP must tell the public which companies provided them funds through electoral bonds. Is it a coincidence that companies were raided by ED and income tax department before they purchased electoral bonds?" he asked.

If BJP received funds from a company after ED raids, BJP should also face money laundering charges, he said. "The question arises about which companies were involved in funding the political parties and the party that benefitted the most from it was BJP," he said.

"Why is the Supreme Court going through so much trouble of demanding documents from the central government, the Election Commission, CBI? What is the central govt hiding?" he asked.

"If a company is being raided by ED, then that money becomes proceeds of crime. If ED is raiding them, it is clear the company is practising money laundering.... If the money is being transferred to BJP through electoral bonds, the proceeds of crime were transferred," he said.

BJP has not responded to the charges. TNN

Centre okays ₹272cr for DU women's hostel

New Delhi: The Centre has approved a project for construction of residential accommodation for working women and girls pursuing higher education at Delhi University for which Rs 272 crore budget has been sanctioned, MP Manoj Tiwari said on Friday.

The hostel, to be constructed in Timarpur near DU's North Campus, will accommodate 1000 women, he said at Delhi BJP office. Special focus of the hostel would be safety of the women and Rs 72 crore would be spent on that alone, added Tiwari.

BJP's candidate from New Delhi constituency, Bansuri Swaraj said that the demand for a hostel was passed by March 15 and the construction will start soon. "This hostel will cost Rs 200 crore and Rs 72 crore worth CCTV cameras are being installed because women's safety is the priority of the Modi govt," she added.

A centre each for Buddhism and Gurmukhi would be constructed in Khalsa College at a cost of Rs 35 crore, Swaraj said, adding that with the construction of women's hostel and student union office in Delhi University, popularity of Modi govt will increase significantly among the youth. TNN

24-yr-old arrested for stabbing teen to death in Bhalswa Dairy

New Delhi: A 24-year-old man has been arrested for the murder of a teenager in Bhalswa Dairy. Police reported that an argument between the accused and the victim's brother, perhaps over a girl they both knew, escalated to the alleged murder last Sept.

The accused was identified as Rishi, also a resident of Bhalswa Dairy. The victim, identified as Himanshu, was studying in Class XII.

Himanshu's father had filed a complaint that at 2pm on Sept 30, three boys arrived in front of his house and began yelling insults and fighting with his other son, Hemu. "They threatened him, saying the girl he was talking to was the girlfriend of one of them and he should stay away from her or they would kill him," the complainant reported.

Later, around 8pm, both Hemu and Himanshu left home, saying they were going to the market. Around 11.15pm, the family got the news about Himanshu's murder. He was stabbed around eight times. It was revealed that there was a scuffle between the groups in which Himanshu was stabbed. TNN

Not our land, DDA tells NGT on Army 'felling' trees in Ridge area

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

In Dec 2023, the forest dept served a notice to the Quarter Master General, Army Headquarters, on the basis of Google Earth images and field visits for allegedly clearing the area

New Delhi: Delhi Development Authority (DDA) on Friday submitted to National Green Tribunal (NGT) that the land on which trees were allegedly felled by the Army didn't belong to it. The 8.78-hectare area on Central Ridge belongs to the Army, it stated.

In Dec 2023, the forest department served a notice to the Quarter Master General, Army Headquarters, on the basis of Google Earth images and field visits for allegedly clearing the area. The department alleged that the Army had cut trees in violation of Delhi Preservation of Tree Act 1994, Forest Conservation Act 1980 and Indian Forest Act 1927. In Jan 2024, NGT issued a notice to the secretary of the defence ministry, the principal chief conservator of forest, and the DDA vice-chairman.

DDA informed NGT on Friday, "After due inquiry, it is submitted that the area in question has been found to be adjoining to the DDA Central Ridge, and is not under the jurisdiction of DDA. As per the information available with the respondent/DDA, the area in question is under the jurisdiction of Army Headquarters." Despite repeated attempts, no comment was available from the forest department.

DDA also stated that it was responsible only for creating, protecting and maintaining green covers in the areas under its jurisdiction.

The forest department earlier told NGT that the periodical analysis of Google Earth images had revealed that approximately 8.78 hectare had been cleared. NGT then asked the Quarter Master General to furnish a report on why a complaint should not be filed in the appropriate manner against him or her for the offence.

The department had said that on May 24, 1994, Central Ridge was declared a reserve forest under Section 4 of Indian Forest Act 1927. The Army then stated it was "ascertaining the details of the violation highlighted in the area at Central Ridge... Necessary action as per the existing policy will be taken by the Army".

LG nod for special zones at IGI Airport

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi: LG VK Saxena has given the nod for setting up a Special Economic Zone (SEZ) and Free Trade Zone (FTZ) at Indira Gandhi International (IGI) Airport in the capital.

SEZ and FTZ will be related to cargo infrastructure and other allied services. Once operationalised, they will give a fillip to the logistics sector and catalyse economic growth apart from spinoffs for generating employment, the LG office said.

Officials said LG approved the proposal, taking note of the strategic importance of developing an SEZ at the airport hub after ensuring that DDA would give the go-ahead for the same as per the provisions of the Master Plan of Delhi 2021.

To be spread over an area of nearly five acres, the SEZ would create economic activities through exports, warehousing, trading and related services at the airport complex.

"It will also liberalise and reduce procedural complexities in terms of applications, licensing, clearances and other regulations, and reduce red tape, apart from providing tax benefits to entrepreneurs," said an official.

Delhi was identified as a pilot air cargo hub by the Union ministry of civil aviation, which requires tier 1, 2 and 3 levels of infrastructure. While Delhi International Airport Limited, the concessionaire which operates the IGIA, has already developed tier 1 and 2 infrastructure by way of developing two cargo terminals and logistics centres, it will achieve tier 3 once an SEZ comes up at the airport complex.

"DIAL proposed the setting up of two multi-product SEZs at the IGI Airport over an area of 2.02 hectares each and requested Delhi govt's recommendation under SEZ Rules, 2006. Thereafter, Delhi govt's industries department sought clearance from the DDA, since the development of Delhi as per the Master Plan comes under its purview," said an official.

The industries department had in Dec 2023 requested DDA to provide inputs on whether the development of such an infrastructure at IGIA was permitted as per MPD-2021. DDA gave its consent in Jan after taking traffic impact assessment and development control norms for transportation, laid out in MPD-2021, into consideration. The DDA's consent, said an official, was subject to the regulations laid down by the Airport Authority of India.

NDMC's 2-day food festival brings petals to your plate

TOI photo

The food festival is on in Chanakyapuri till Sunday

Vibha.Sharma@timesgroup.com

New Delhi: This is a flower show of a different sort. Such shows usually regale you with colours and fragrances. But this one will titillate your taste buds. Yes, blossoms, stems and leaves are used in many cuisines and with this in mind, New Delhi Municipal Council aims to mark the culmination of spring with a two-day Flower Food Festival at the Palika Services Officers Institute, Chanakyapuri, on the March 16-17 weekend from 12 noon to 9pm.

At the event, entry for which is free for the public, there are at least 25 stalls where experts and home cooks alike from different states will prepare dishes from flowers and plants, such as rose ras malai and drumstick flower kofta from Kolkata, lotus stem kebab from Kashmir and kahwa with saffron and other ingredients.

From the old-world kitchens of Awadh will be zafrani biryani, desi gulab ki kheer and a signature tea called Rahat Bakht Chai made with five flowers — roselle, lavender, cardamom, passionflower and rose. Among other dishes are rice and parathas made with mahua blossoms.

"In line with our commitment to the spirit of the spring season, the Flower Food Festival represents the final instalment of our series of successful spring programmes, among them the tulip festival, Music in the Park, Rose Festival and a flower festival," said an NDMC official. The objective of the festival is to familiarise people with traditional seasonal cooking with flowers as a flavourful nutritional source, said another official.

Lippika Roy Ranjan, resident of Dwarka Sector 6, has been running a cloud kitchen for a long time and leant about the festival from a mothers' group on WhatsApp. "I immediately approached NDMC to express my interest in participating. I want to prepare popular Bengali dishes using flowers and associated material. These dishes have a calming and digestive effect," Roy Ranjan said.

It was during her morning walk at Nehru Park that Rohini Kaul, a Kashmiri resident of Mayur Vihar, found out about the festival. "I was sharing my views about the tulip and other flowers in the park with others when some NDMC officials approached me about participating in the food festival," said Kaul. "I run a home kitchen with my mother, having given up my corporate job for my passion. Items like Kashmiri kahwa, chicken kanti, paneer kanti and Kashmiri phirni will be the highlights of my presentations."

The food stall participants will partly prepare their dishes at home before making the final arrangements at the venue. Saira Mujtava of Lucknow is keen to offer the city's people the delicacies of Awadh, especially her grandmother's recipes. "In Delhi, where people are mad about chhole bhatura and dal makhani, we want to give them the opportunity to taste regional flavours prepared with optimal spices and easy to digest," said Mujtava, who claims to have nawabi antecedents. "Galouti kebab with kewra extraction and rose, chicken biryani genuinely prepared with dum and, of course, my special Rahat Bakht Chai will be must-tries."

Contracts of 461 vocational teachers to be renewed

New Delhi: LG VK Saxena on Friday gave his nod to the continuation and renewal of the contract of 461 part-time vocational teachers in state-run and govt-aided schools for the academic year 2024-25.

The move, said officials, will help in overcoming the shortage of vocational teachers for teaching subjects relating to the national skill quality framework (NSQF), which was introduced by the CBSE in place of vocational streams.

Notified in Dec 2013, NSQF enables a person to acquire desired competency levels, transit to the job market and, at an opportune time, return for acquiring additional skills to further upgrade their competencies.

While the services of 449 (437 qualified and 12 non-qualified) vocational teachers have been continued in Delhi govt schools for one year, LG has also given his nod for the renewal of the contract of three others who are engaged in teaching food production. Officials added that the services of nine part-time vocational teachers, engaged in teaching some of these courses in four govt schools, have been continued for the academic session 2023-25. TNN

When Nafrat Swipes To Date You Online, Watch The Wallet

College Student Loses ₹3L In Name Of Refund, Man Nabbed

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi: A 23-year-old college student downloaded a dating app, Sugo, with the hope of meeting like-minded women. When someone with the profile name of Nafrat swiped right on his profile, Prashant was intrigued. To start having conversations, he needed to buy coins on the app. Thinking he had found his love in Nafrat, Prashant ended up buying coins worth Rs 30,000.

When Nafrat got to know about it, she supposedly felt bad and promised to help him get a refund.

Prashant was then directed to another account where he ended up losing Rs 3.18 lakh. Prashant was not alone. Nafrat was seemingly in love with scores of college students, police have found out after a probe on Prashant's complaint.

They have arrested the operator of the account the student was directed to. The suspect was identified as Mayank Bisht of Ghaziabad.

Police are yet to ascertain the girl's identity. "The case was cracked by SHO Raman Pratap Singh and sub-inspector Hanshul Gupta of the cyber police station of north district," DCP Manoj Meena said.

Nafrat was seemingly in love with scores of college students, police have found out after a probe on Prashant's complaint

Police got a complaint from the student that he was befriended by a woman on Sugo and had frequent conversations with her. "The cost of sending one single message is around 30-40 Sugo coins... It takes around Rs 100 to buy 300 coins... This way, he bought around 90,000 coins," an officer said. Later, he contacted Bisht and asked for a refund as directed by the girl. Bisht provided multiple accounts to the complainant and siphoned off more money.

The investigation revealed that the accused cheated the victim from last Sept to Nov. "On various pretexts, such as processing fee and other steps, the accused started taking small amounts from the victim. Whenever the victim requested a refund, the scammer would send a screenshot of a supposedly 'under process' transaction and claim to have already transferred some amount. The accused would then state that the victim needed to pay additional fees to get the full amount," the officer said.

Police followed the money trail and conducted technical analysis of the IP address used by the accused. "Details of remaining bank account holders are being obtained," the DCP said. Police have sent the mobile phone used by the accused for forensic analysis.

They have emailed the company in Hong Kong to obtain the woman's details but not heard back.

Restore Smriti Van lake, clear encroachment, NGT tells DPCC

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi: National Green Tribunal's principal bench has directed Delhi Pollution Control Committee (DPCC) and district magistrate, South Delhi, to ensure that Smriti Van waterbody is cleaned and made encroachment free.

A resident had approached the tribunal in July 2022 alleging that the encroachment was causing pollution in Smriti Van and an adjacent historic pond, which supplied water to the Smriti Van lake.

Following this, NGT constituted a joint committee in Feb 2023, the report of which disclosed that the pond's area has been reduced and it has been polluted by throwing the muck and discharge of sewage water. The tribunal was later informed that the DM has also initiated action against the encroachers.

While hearing the matter on March 13, the bench headed by NGT chairperson Justice Prakash Shrivastava noted that though DPCC was represented through an advocate earlier but no one was present today to appraise the tribunal about the action taken regarding violations and against the violators, and to remediate the situation and restore the pond to its original position.

"Hence, in view of the material which has come on record, district magistrate, South Delhi and DPCC are now required to take requisite action for restoration of the pond, removal of encroachment, identification of violators and action against them for committing the violations of environmental norms," stated the order dated March 13. It added that the necessary action in this regard must be taken by DM and DPCC within three months and report be submitted before registrar general of the tribunal within two weeks from expiry of three months.

The matter, listed in 2022, pointed out that there is a pond of historic importance in Vasant Kunj adjacent to Kishangarh Village and DDA park called Smriti Van, which supplies water to a larger lake in Smriti Van Park and overall wetland eco-system. The complaint stated that people have made illegal encroachments and were further raising illegal constructions on the said pond.

Jewar MLA writes to UP govt on 'dues' of MotoGP promoter

Aditya.Dev@timesgroup.com

Noida: UP govt has asked Yamuna Expressway Authority (YXPA) to initiate a probe and find out how Fairstreet Sports — a city-based event management company — spent funds to organise MotoGP Bharat held last Sept at Buddh International Circuit.

State govt-backed Invest UP and YXPA — the prime sponsors for the three-day event from Sept 22 — had allotted Rs 18 crore to Fairstreet, the local promoter appointed by Dorna — the official company for organising MotoGP globally.

Sources in YXPA said the probe was ordered after Jewar MLA Dhirendra Singh alleged that Fairstreet was yet to pay many of the stakeholders their dues despite taking money from govt.

Prathamesh Kumar, additional CEO of Invest UP, recently wrote to YXPA, seeking a ground report on the deliverables promised by Fairstreet and those executed by it in connection with MotoGP Bharat.

Fairstreet, according to the sponsorship agreement, was entrusted with the job of preparing the Buddh tracks in keeping with MotoGP standards. It was also to provide hotel accommodation and local conveyance to govt officials, among other services.

"In the spirit of transparency and accountability, and to inform our decision-making process regarding potential future associations with Fairstreet Sports for MotoGP events, I kindly request your office to conduct a thorough ground verification report. This report should evaluate whether the sponsorship amount has been utilised for the specified activities and purposes. Furthermore, it should assess whether the financial expenditure claimed by the company is justified in relation to the actual cost of the activities undertaken," read the letter to YXPA CEO Arun Vir Singh.

Fairstreet denied the allegations, saying it had already submitted an audit report to govt. "Had there been any issues regarding the licence fee with Dorna, the company would not have announced the event for 2024. We have already cleared the bills of most service providers and are in the process of paying the remaining ones. Some companies have submitted inflated bills, which need to be looked into," said Pushkar Nath Srivastava, its chief operating officer.

No more interim bail, go back to jail, HC orders Unitech founder

New Delhi: Delhi High Court on Friday refused to further extend the interim bail granted on medical grounds to realty firm Unitech's founder Ramesh Chandra in a money laundering case. It asked him to surrender before the jail superintendent on Saturday.

Justice Anoop Kumar Mendiratta observed that the petitioner was embroiled in serious offences involving diversion of over Rs 5,000 crore belonging to homebuyers, who were "duped" and were now shelterless.

The court said Chandra cannot claim bail as a matter of right for treatment only at a specialised hospital of his choice when the jail hospital is equipped to treat him. The court, however, directed the jail superintendent to ensure that requisite medical treatment is provided to Chandra as per jail rules so that his life is not imperiled in any manner.

"Superintendent of jail is further directed to ensure that in case of any aggravation of medical condition of the petitioner or if the circumstances so warrant, he should be immediately referred to GB Pant Hospital or any other specialised government hospital for necessary treatment," it observed while adding that Chandra should be evaluated at least twice a week for continuity of medical treatment. Gangster gets married under police protection

New Delhi: Days after the marriage of gangsters Kala Jathedi and Anuradha Chaudhary, another gangster, Yogesh Tunda, got married under heavy police presence at a temple in west Delhi on Friday. He was given six hours of parole between 12 pm to 6 pm. A heavy deployment was made by the cops to ensure that no untoward incident takes place. Apart from the venue, cops were also deployed on roads and flyovers. Tunda was brought to the temple in a jail van.

It has been claimed that Tunda was in a relationship with the woman for the past nine years. Last year He alongwith his other associates had killed gangster Tillu Tajpuria inside the high risk jail in Tihar. The incident was captured in the CCTV cameras of the jail. TNN

Man killed over phone 'theft', 5 people held

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi: A 24-year-old man was murdered and his friend was injured after they were severely beaten up by a group allegedly on the suspicion of theft in Kishangarh. Police have arrested three people and apprehended two juveniles.

The accused were identified as Inderpal (32), Saurabh (22), Shivam (21) and two juveniles aged 16 and 17.

At 7pm on March 11, police received a call about the incident at a park in southwest Delhi's Katwaria Sarai. A police team went to the spot and got to know that two men, both labourers, had already been taken to hospital.

DCP (southwest) Rohit Meena said one of the victims, identified as Manish Kumar, was declared dead on arrival while Rambabu (38) was receiving treatment. "According to Rambabu, Inderpal accused Kumar of stealing his mobile phone in Jan. When both denied the accusation, a fight ensued. Inderpal called three-four people who assaulted the duo, and Kumar suffered severe internal injuries."

A case under sections 302 (murder), 323 (voluntarily causing hurt), 341 (wrongful restraint) and 34 (common intention) of IPC was registered, and a team under SHO (Kishangarh) Shambhu Nath started investigating the case. Police first arrested Inderpal, who led them to the other accused. Both the victims and the accused lived in the same building.

4 more held in fake cancer med case

New Delhi: Police have arrested four more persons in connection with the sale and manufacturing of spurious cancer medicines, bringing the total to 12. The accused were identified as Rohit Singh Bisht (36), Jitendra (33), Majid Khan (34), and Sajid (33).

The accused persons, who worked at different hospitals in Delhi-NCR, allegedly supplied filled vials to Neeraj Chauhan, another suspect in the case who was nabbed earlier. Fourteen bank accounts linked to the suspects have been seized, police said, adding that these accounts had a balance of Rs. 92.81 lakh. TNN

CINEMA OF THE WEEK

Yodha (Action, Thriller) ★★★

Cast: Sidharth Malhotra, Raashii Khanna, Disha Patani, Ronit Roy, Tanuj Virwani
Direction: Sagar Ambre, Pushkar Ojha
Duration: 2 hours 13 minutes
Language: Hindi (UA)

■ Special task soldier Arun Katyal (Sidharth Malhotra) is suspended after he fails an important mission. In a shocking twist, he is seen on board a hijacked flight under mysterious circumstances. Is he a traitor or a patriot? That is where the suspense lies.

Debutant directors Sagar Ambre and Pushkar Ojha's film offers an adrenaline-fueled ride through the skies. The setup is slow and bumpy, but once the plane is hijacked, the tension mounts quickly. Despite a predictable storyline, the movie has a fair amount of exciting moments and twists and turns to keep you engaged. And Sidharth Malhotra expertly navigates the highs and lows of a determined soldier caught in the crossfires of duty and suspicion.

The story unfolds with Arun Katyal, a proud son determined to carry on the legacy of his father's (Ronit Roy) special task force, Yodha. However, after failing at a critical mission, he is on board a hijacked flight under mysterious circumstances. All evidence points to him being on a revenge mission against the system that has taken everything from him. Is Arun a 'desh ka dushman,' or the patriot like his father was? It all unravels in an action-packed thriller at 15,000 feet above the ground.

Sagar Ambre's screenplay keeps viewers engrossed, drawing them into the tense atmosphere of the aircraft, where the majority of the action unfolds. While the mid-air stunts are thrilling, the film suffers from predictability and clichéd plot twists, lacking depth in exploring themes of courage and patriotism.

However, the film is well-edited, so it stays the course and never feels stretched. There is also subtle humour peppered through the narrative. There are some heavy-duty dialogues like "Main rahu na rahu, desh rahega," but the lighter moments in the screenplay balance that out.

The music is average, barring Ammy Virk and B Praak's reprised version of Qismat Badal Di. The background score blends well with the genre.

After the reel-life portrayal of war hero Vikram Batra in Shershaah, Sidharth returns as commando Arun Katyal in Yodha, showcasing his competence as an action hero. The movie majorly rests on his shoulders. Raashii Khanna pulls off the part of playing Arun's love interest with ease. Disha Patani plays a pivotal role as an air hostess caught amid the hostage drama. Tanuj Virwani, another commando of the special task force, makes his presence felt in his limited role. Sunny Hinduja pulls off his role with confidence.

All said, Yodha's action is thrilling, but it does not really take your imagination to the flight.

Bastar: The Naxal Story (Action, Crime, Drama) ★★★

Cast: Adah Sharma, Indira Tiwari, Vijay Krishna, Raima Sen, Shilpa Shukla, Yashpal Sharma
Direction: Sudipto Sen
Duration: 2 hours 2 minutes
Language: Hindi (A)

■ Drawing inspiration from actual events, this film delves into the Naxal menace in the state of Chhattisgarh, showcasing the extraordinary efforts of a single police officer who went above and beyond to quell the Naxal threat.

With Bastar: The Naxal Story, director Sudipto Sen and producer Vipul Amrutlal Shah attempt to shed light on yet another societal issue. Following the box office success of The Kerala Story, their focus now shifts to the Naxal insurgency in Chhattisgarh. While Bastar engages audiences for much of its duration, a deeper exploration of the political landscape could have enhanced the narrative and made this a finer watch. Drawing inspiration from real-life incidents and characters, the film injects a fictional essence into its portrayal. Despite a screenplay that lacks strength, Sen compensates with his skilful depiction of events, but be forewarned that there are moments in the film that may be difficult to watch.

The focal point of the story is Neerja Madhavan (Adah Sharma), a no-nonsense IPS officer holding a senior CRPF position and tasked with quashing the Naxal insurgency. The film begins in a courtroom where government and Naxal representatives are engaged in a legal battle. Neerja employs Special Police Officers (SPOs) and the state-run militia, Salwa Judum, to curb Naxal influence in Chhattisgarh. Running parallel to this is the story of Ratna (Indira Tiwari), a tribal woman whose husband was gruesomely killed by Lanka Reddy (Vijay Krishna), a notorious Naxalite. Seeking retribution, Ratna enrols and trains to become a Special Police Officer and aids Neerja in her mission.

The film incorporates characters based on real individuals, although with altered names, leading to a guessing game for viewers familiar with the actual events. The film's realistic tone is complemented by fitting locations. Throughout the film, its gritty atmosphere keeps audiences on the edge, particularly in scenes where the 'influential elite' offer their support to the Naxalites. A significant oversight lies in the absence of depicting Delhi and Raipur as central control hubs. In a narrative of this nature, delving into the behind-the-scenes operations of these centres becomes crucial. While the film touches on these elements, it merely scratches the surface. Additionally, while the film is well-shot, the loud background music serves as a distraction.

Once again, Adah Sharma shines in a commanding role, reminiscent of her impressive performance in The Kerala Story. Portraying an uncompromising police officer, she delivers a sincere portrayal, unafraid to speak her mind even in the presence of politicians. Indira Tiwari, embodying a tribal woman, delivers a heartfelt performance that resonates deeply. Vijay Krishna's portrayal of Lanka Reddy, adeptly switching between English and Hindi, exudes menace, while Raima Sen, Shilpa Shukla, and Yashpal Sharma fit their respective roles perfectly. Bastar is a hard-hitting crime drama, with moments that surely shake you.

Kung Fu Panda 4 (Animation/Adventure) ★★★

Cast: Voiceovers by Jack Black, Viola Davis, Awkwafina, Dustin Hoffman, James Hong, Bryan Cranston
Direction: Mike Mitchell, Stephanie Ma Stine
Duration: 1 hour 34 minutes
Language: English (U)

■ Po (Jack Black) must find and train his successor as the new Dragon Warrior, and teams up with fox bandit Zhen (Awkwafina) to defeat the evil sorceress, the Chameleon (Viola Davis).

After eight years of Kung Fu Panda 3, Po the Panda is back, facing the dilemma of relinquishing his role as the Dragon Warrior to become the Spiritual Leader of the Valley of Peace. Despite resistance from his mentor, Master Shifu (Dustin Hoffman), Po hesitates to let go of his dream role. A new threat emerges in the form of the Chameleon, a master sorceress and crime lord who seeks to unlock the power of previous Kung Fu masters to take over the world. Po teams up with a skilled thief, Zhen, to combat Chameleon and protect the Staff of Wisdom. Throughout the film, Po grapples with his inner conflicts while facing formidable adversaries, navigating themes of duty, sacrifice, and embracing one's true potential.

Kung Fu Panda 4 follows a predictable plot, but co-directors Mike Mitchell and Stephanie Ma Stine deliver fun and fast-paced action, which continues to be one of the franchise's strong suits. The fight scenes, especially the vibrant chase sequence throughout the setting of Juniper City are performed with style and keep you engaged. The top-notch animation has vivid colours that enhance the visual experience without overwhelming the senses. The editing, too, has been deftly done, thus ensuring that the movie never drags. The only drawback is that the script, co-written by Jonathan Aibel, Glenn Berger, and Darren Lemke, leans heavily on its moral messages, occasionally feeling like it's guiding the audience too overtly through its themes of duty and sacrifice.

Jack Black reprises his role as Po and delivers a solid vocal performance, mentoring a protégé throughout the film. Dustin Hoffman shines again as Master Shifu, while other characters like Po's adopted father, Ping (Hong), and his biological panda father, Li Shan (Cranston), join the adventure. Viola Davis's portrayal of the menacing Chameleon adds an intimidating presence to the film, while the animation team brings the character to life with impressive visuals.

Although Awkwafina's voice doesn't fit the character, Zhen's characterization is fresh and unique. Ian McShane's surprising return as Tai Lung provides closure for the character, with his performance adding depth to the story.

Despite not reaching the heights of its predecessors, Kung Fu Panda 4 still offers an entertaining 94-minute ride, blending humour, action, and heart in a way that will please fans of the franchise.

External affairs minister S Jaishankar receives the Reformer Of The Year Award from finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman at The Economic Times Awards For Corporate Excellence in Mumbai on Friday

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

Mumbai: Union finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman on Friday denied there was any quid pro quo in contributions to BJP through electoral bonds (EBs) and raids on corporates by ED.

In response to a question at The Economic Times Awards for Corporate Excellence in Mumbai, Sitharaman dismissed such allegations as loose talk. "Linking it (buying of bonds) with ED (action) is like sitting and having a cup of tea in the lounge and having a little merry chat," she said.

"You don't know where a donation went. Did they give bonds only to govt controlling ED or did they give it to govts run by other parties?" she said. "Do you know for each one of ED cases in this context, was it before or was it after? Maybe it was before, and even after that ED chose to go and visit those who came around & said, 'I want to give donation, please save me'."

There's a lot of "homework" to be done on the bond data submitted by State Bank of India, the FM said. "You have a good two months to study it even as you are covering elections... and then come to a conclusion."

She added, "I don't want industry to be badnaam (maligned) like this. I don't think they give donations only because they want to escape ED. It doesn't happen that way. ED existed long before Modi and will exist till 2047, I'm sure, with all the Viksit Bharat".

During a Q&A, Sitharaman elaborated on the "next-generation reforms" that she said govt would pursue post polls. "The reforms will have to be undertaken in every sector. But what is more important is that the reforms do not stop just at the central govt. We have worked with states in carrying forward several of the reforms," she said.

She said states were not initially happy with the borrowing limits under Fiscal Responsibility and Budget Management Act. "Initially, there was resistance from the state govts but many states agreed to it in the first year."

Oppn will have 'no face to show' when all bond details are out: Shah

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi: Home minister Amit Shah on Friday took on the opposition over their accusation that electoral bonds were used by BJP to extort money from business, saying Congress and others would have "no face to show" when all the details are out.

Shah also justified the introduction of electoral bonds, recently struck down by SC as unconstitutional, and said they were an important step to curb the role of black money in politics and their elimination would restore the dominance of illicit money. "A verdict by Supreme Court ought to be respected by all. But if I get a chance, I would certainly like to informally ask the justices what is the way out," Shah said at a media event.

Speaking on a day when Congress leader Rahul Gandhi alleged that BJP had used bonds to extract money from businesses being probed by central agencies, the minister said, "It's been said that electoral bonds have disproportionately benefited BJP. Rahul Gandhi has made a statement that it is the biggest extortion activity. I say that once the records are out they would not be able to face you all."

Shah also disputed that the electoral bond scheme overwhelmingly benefited BJP, arguing that the issue had to be examined in the light of the respective strength of political parties. "Of the Rs 20,000 crore or so collected through bonds, BJP got Rs 6,000 crore. Where did the rest of the bonds go? TMC got Rs 1,600 crore, Congress got Rs 1,400, BRS got Rs 1,200 crore, BJD got Rs 750 crore and DMK got 639 crore. It boils down to BJP with 303 MPs getting Rs 6,000 and parties with a combined strength of 242 MPs cornering Rs 14,000 crore. What is this whole ruckus about?" he asked.

Asked whether bonds were the perfect remedy for the issue of black money in politics, Shah said, "They were certainly a step towards a solution." Asked about possibility of NRC following CAA, Shah said he would talk about the issue after the polls.

Congress demands SC-monitored probe into BJP's funding

India's electoral bonds scheme is the "world's biggest extortion racket", meant to get companies to pay up "by threatening them through ED and CBI", Congress MP Rahul Gandhi alleged on Friday, report Pradeep Gupta and B V Shiv Shankar.

"Entire list of companies has not been revealed yet. There are many shell companies on that list. Centre gives out contracts worth thousands of crores, and a cut is taken from each," Rahul, who is on the last leg of his Bharat Jodo Nyay Yatra, said of "PM Modi's brainchild" at a presser in Maharashtra's Bhiwandi.

In Bengaluru, AICC chief Mallikarjun Kharge accused BJP of using electoral bonds to fill its coffers with money from "dubious donors". He demanded a Supreme Court-supervised probe into BJP's funding sources.

Big buyers of poll bonds also donated via electoral trusts

Bharti.Jain@timesgroup.com

New Delhi: Future Gaming & Hotel Services Ltd did not contribute to parties through electoral bonds alone. A look at contribution reports filed by political parties & electoral trusts between 2019-20 and 2022-23 shows the company headed by 'lottery king' Santiago Martin contributed Rs 100 crore to Prudent Electoral Trust in 2020-21, followed by a direct Rs 5 crore contribution to BJP in 2022-23.

Future Gaming has been under ED and CBI's scanner since 2019, having faced multiple raids and attachment of its properties. As per the contribution report filed by Prudent Electoral Trust for 2020-21, Future Gaming was the biggest contributor that year, having added Rs 100 crore to the trust kitty totalling Rs 245.7 crore. Of this, the lion's share of donations worth Rs 209 crore was cornered by BJP, while the remaining Rs 36.7 crore was shared by JD(U) (Rs 25 crore), NCP (Rs 5 crore), Congress and RJD (Rs 2 crore each), AAP (Rs 1.7 crore) and LJP (Rs 1 crore).

Electoral trust route offers corporate donors partial anonymity as party-wise breakup of their contributions is not required to be made public. The contribution report of a trust only needs to reveal the name of donors and amount of donations made, along with a separate list of donations distributed among political parties. However, given that the share of non-BJP parties in Prudent's 2020-21 kitty was only Rs 36.7 crore, it is evident that at least a part of Future Gaming's Rs 100 crore largesse would have gone BJP's way.

Some of the significant donors via electoral bonds route also show up as major donors in the contribution reports submitted to EC, both by parties and electoral trusts during the period 2019-20 to 2022-23.

Day before model code kicks in, govt gives last-min nod to projects

Dipak.Dash@timesgroup.com

New Delhi: After it was known that Election Commission will announce poll dates at 3pm on Saturday, govt departments went into full throttle on Friday for last minute approval of projects and key policies before the Model Code of Conduct kicks in.

Usually, departments take no major policy decisions or award new works when MCC is in force. In some cases, they need to get prior permission of EC.

TOI has learnt that NHAI and other wings of road transport ministry were burning the midnight oil on Friday to issue letter of award for projects to highway developers so that work can start. Minister Nitin Gadkari announced sanctioning of Rs 1,700 crore for three highway projects in Gujarat, Assam and Karnataka, and another Rs 189 crore for a ropeway between Ujjain railway junction and Mahakaleshwar temple in MP.

PTI

PM Modi during a road show in Malkajgiri parliamentary constituency in Telangana on Friday. EC will announce the poll dates on Saturday

"Due to polls, we have to complete targets before MCC kicks in and we are taking steps to ensure that new projects don't get impacted during this period," said a source.

Utilsing time left for poll date announcement, shipping minister Sarbananda Sonowal approved Rs 645 crore for 10 new waterways projects on Brahmaputra in Assam. These projects will be implemented under 100% funding from Centre under the Sagarmala programme.

Chairing a meeting during the day, housing and urban affairs secretary Anurag Jain also approved projects worth Rs 925 crore under the Swachh Bharat Mission for solid and liquid waste management, and capacity building. Govt also announced it would hike windfall tax on domestic crude oil by Rs 300 per tonne to Rs 4,900 tonne and the new rates will be effective from Saturday. On March 1, the government increased the windfall tax on petroleum crude to Rs 4,600 a tonne from Rs 3,300.

J'khand bore brunt of graft most: Rajnath

Chatra/Ranchi: Defence minister Rajnath Singh said at a public meeting in Chatra Lok Sabha constituency in Jharkhand on Friday that the state "had borne the brunt of corruption the most" in the country, report Vishvendu Jaipuriar & Dhritiman Ray.

He said that now, as the Ram Lalla idol in the new Ayodhya temple had been consecrated, Ram Rajya would be established in India. Singh, whose wife is from Jharkhand, evoked his family ties with the state as he attempted to strike a chord with locals and party workers. He called on BJP workers to ensure the party goes past 400-plus seats in the upcoming LS election.

Pressing Russia hard on Indians' release: MEA

New Delhi: Govt said Friday it's continuing to press Moscow very hard for early discharge of Indians serving as support staff with Russian military units. "We are pressing very hard with Russian authorities for early discharge of our people who are stuck there," external affairs ministry spokesperson Randhir Jaiswal said at his weekly media briefing.

After two Indians working as support staff for Russian army lost their lives, India called on its nationals not to risk their lives by taking up such jobs. Jaiswal said efforts are underway to bring back the mortal remains of the two Indians. "The paperwork of their remains has been done," Jaiswal said. TNN

Ready to airlift Indians from Haiti, says govt

New Delhi: India is ready to evacuate up to 90 of its nationals from Haiti in view of the deteriorating security situation in the Caribbean nation. The govt also opened a control room to assist stranded Indians. Various gangs have launched coordinated attacks on key installations in Haiti in an attempt to force the resignation of the country's embattled PM Ariel Henry.

There are between 75 and 90 Indians in Haiti and about 60 of them have registered with Indian authorities to return to India "if need be", external affairs ministry spokesperson Randhir Jaiswal said at his weekly briefing. "We're ready to evacuate everybody," he said. TNN

WPL'24: Inclusivity triumphs

The TATA Women's Premier League (WPL) is empowering female players. The recently held trophy tour garnered support from all embodying inclusivity and progress

Artha.Neog@timesgroup.com

Cricket is not just a sport but an emotion for millions of Indians. Over the years, this much-loved sport has witnessed tremendous changes, especially with the emergence of women's cricket, which is foraying into new frontiers. For women, it is nothing less than historic to excel in a sport traditionally dominated by men. From humble beginnings to global recognition, Indian women in cricket have embarked on a journey marked by resilience, talent, and remarkable achievements.

In a historic move towards gender equality and the promotion of women's cricket, the TATA Women's Premier League (WPL) has emerged as a beacon of opportunity and empowerment, providing a platform for female cricketers to showcase their talent. As the popularity of women's cricket continues to soar, the TATA WPL stands as a testament to India's commitment to fostering inclusivity and diversity within the sport.

Modelled after the immensely successful Indian Premier League (IPL), the TATA WPL aims to mirror it by bringing together top talent from across the country to participate in a high-octane T20 cricket extravaganza. The inaugural season took place last year with much pomp and grandeur. This year it's no different.

The second season, currently underway, has taken the cricket fraternity on a joyous ride and has expanded its horizons with matches being played across cities. To celebrate the extraordinary achievements of women in cricket, the Board of Control for Cricket in India's WPL in association with The Times of India organised a Trophy Tour.

The thrilling tour kicked off in Bengaluru on March 2, continued its journey through Lucknow, and culminated in Delhi on March 9.

During its Delhi stint, the event witnessed several participants – from young cricket enthusiasts to popular influencers. The grand opening of the WPL Trophy Tour commenced with a flag-off at 7:30 AM from Select Citywalk, Saket, New Delhi, and culminated at MGF Metropolitan Mall, Gurugram around 5 PM. Young children were seen dressed in TATA WPL T-shirts to spread cheer. The event was flagged off by Bollywood actor, Diana Penty.

Delighted to see a massive footfall at the event, the actor said, "I feel incredibly privileged to be part of this initiative as it provides a fantastic platform for women in cricket to showcase their skills and rise to the occasion. It's high time we recognise the achievements of women across all industries on a global scale."

Cricket has long been a sport that captures the hearts of millions in India, and with the introduction of the TATA WPL, the nation's passion for the game has found a new avenue.

Yuvika Abrol, a digital content creator and a cricket enthusiast at the event, shared, "The WPL is a great reminder of how one should never stop believing in ourselves. Women are slowly starting to shine across areas so why not sports? I think more awards and recognitions for women in sports can also help a lot, as it will bring more credibility and motivation."

The TATA WPL represents a groundbreaking development in women's sports, offering a platform for female cricketers to shine on a stage as grand as their male counterparts.

"Cricket is a religion in India and WPL is a great way to promote equality and inclusivity by having a women cricketer's league. I feel promoting it more plays an important role in generating more awareness and the much-needed spotlight on these women achievers," said, Rashmi Rai, another digital content creator who was spotted at the event.

The trophy tour commenced with female bikers leading the way followed by a procession of cars, a campaign bus, and a vehicle with the esteemed WPL trophy atop its roof, all decked up in bright colours. On completion of the tour, the participants were appreciated for their cooperation. Yogita Bihani, an actor who was delighted to be at the event, shared, "The WPL paves a great way to inspire more women to take up cricket. After all, sports should be regardless of gender."

The WPL Trophy Tour was nothing short of a festival, with an overwhelming response from the audience. Rahul Makin, a radio jockey who was thrilled to be part of the tour, said, "As a sportsperson, I have always been excited about such events, especially if it is cricket and beyond boundaries such as gender. I'm a huge fan of our women cricketers, in WPL I've been rooting for Delhi as they are playing well. Besides, this is a special occasion as I'm an advocate of female sportspeople and hence excited about more action in sports."

BJP got ₹7,700 cr via bonds, Cong ₹1,800 cr: ADR

New Delhi: From the time electoral bonds were introduced in 2017-18, BJP has received nearly 50% of the total funds from electoral bonds.

Data from Association of Democratic Reforms for 2017-18 & 2018-19 shows that BJP received Rs 1,450.9 crore and Rs 210 crore during the two years and if the amount is added to funds raised through electoral bonds during the period from Apr 12, 2019 to Jan 24, 2024 of Rs 6,060.5 crore, it adds to Rs 7,721.4 crore. This was nearly 50% of total amount so far of Rs 15,529 crore.

Congress received Rs 383.3 crore and Rs 5 crore during the two years and the total works out to Rs 1,810 crore till now, while TMC received Rs 97.3 crore during the two years. Adding that to the amount revealed in the SBI data, the total for the party works out to Rs 1,706.8 crore.

BJD, meanwhile, received Rs 213.5 crore in 2018-19 and nothing in 2017-18. The total amount for the party after Thursday's data works out to Rs 989 crore. This analysis does not include data from April 1 2019 to April 11, 2019. This period, while merely 11 days, was a busy one for political funding coming just before the 2019 Lok Sabha elections and would have seen considerable cash flows.

The full details of which party has received how much through electoral bonds from the time of the scheme's inception in 2017 to its being shut down by SC earlier this year will be available soon once Election Commission collates the data given to it by SBI with what it had given SC in a sealed envelope. CEC welcomes ECs to 'action-packed 12 weeks ahead'

While Lok Sabha's term is ending on June 16, that of Andhra Pradesh assembly is due to expire on June 11, Odisha assembly on June 24 and Arunachal Pradesh and Sikkim assemblies on June 2. However, elections to J&K assembly may have to wait for later.

The poll announcement will come a day after EC was restored to its usual strength of three members with two new commissioners, Gyanesh Kumar & Sukhbir Sandhu, taking charge on Friday. Welcoming his fellow commissioners to "action-packed and intense 12 weeks ahead", chief election commissioner Rajiv Kumar said they were joining EC at a historic point, as it is "all set to conduct the general election 2024 in the world's largest democracy".

As per sources, it may not be feasible to provide foolproof security for simultaneous polls in J&K as all candidates need to be given protection in view of threat they face from terrorists. Targeting of candidates is a common security risk in any poll in J&K, more so as Pakistan- and PoK-based terror masterminds will be desperate to derail any democratic exercise in J&K. The assessment — shared with EC during the CEC's visit to J&K on March 12-13 — is in favour of getting the security apparatus to focus on protecting the fewer candidates for parliamentary polls than spreading the forces thin to secure the far larger number of candidates that simultaneous elections to LS and UT assembly may entail.

Paras calls BJP's seat-sharing deal with Chirag 'injustice', hints at exiting NDA

Patna: Bristling over nephew Chirag Paswan's LJP (Ram Vilas) purported five-seat deal in Bihar with BJP, Union minister PashupatiParas on Friday called it "injustice" and almost sounded the bugle of revolt against BJP by asserting he will contest from his Hajipur constituency and his other MPs from their 2019 seats, reports Manoj Chaurasia.

However, Paras appeared to leave wriggle room when he said his Rashtriya Lok Janshakti Party would wait for announcement of NDA candidates in Bihar before taking a decision.

BJP's reported deal with LJP (Ram Vilas) includes Hajipur, the family bastion and bone of contention between uncle & nephew. Paras issued the warning after BJP was learnt to have "addressed" all concerns of Chirag. "NDA should have taken into consideration our party's existing seats. This is against coalition dharma."

Punjab Cong neta switches over to AAP, likely to get LS ticket from Hoshiarpur

Chandigarh: In a setback to Congress in Punjab, senior leader Dr Raj Kumar Chabbewal on Friday joined AAP, which is likely to field him from Hoshiarpur, reports Vibhor Mohan.

A prominent Dalit leader, Chabbewal (54) was the deputy leader of Congress Legislature Party, and is the second party leader to have switched to AAP ahead of LS polls after former Bassi Pathana MLA Gurpreet Singh GP, who had joined AAP on March 9 and was nominated as its candidate for Fatehgarh Sahib. Chabbewal was formally inducted into AAP by CM Bhagwant Mann after he resigned as the MLA, and also quit Congress "with immediate effect", on Friday.

Claiming he took the decision on "moral grounds", Chabbewal said he was influenced by the initiatives of AAP govt, particularly the revamp of education and health sectors, besides initiatives for women empowerment.

SC: Pre-arrest bail isn't rule, to be granted in exceptional cases

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

Granting of pre-arrest bail should be left to cautious and judicious discretion of the court depending on the facts of each case, SC said

New Delhi: Supreme Court has said that anticipatory bail should be granted in extreme and exceptional cases and courts should be cautious in giving the relief.

A bench of Justices C T Ravikumar and Sanjay Kumar said that anticipatory bail, like bail, cannot be a rule but an exception and held that court can grant pre-arrest bail in extreme, exceptional cases in the interest of justice.

"We have already held that the power to grant anticipatory bail is an extraordinary power. Though in many cases it was held that bail is said to be a rule, it cannot, by any stretch of imagination, be said that anticipatory bail is the rule. It cannot be the rule and the question of its grant should be left to the cautious and judicious discretion by the Court depending on the facts and circumstances of each case," the bench said.

"While called upon to exercise the said power, the court concerned has to be very cautious as the grant of interim protection or protection to the accused in serious cases may lead to miscarriage of justice and may hamper the investigation to a great extent as it may sometimes lead to tampering or destruction of evidence. We shall not be understood to have held that the Court shall not pass an interim protection pending consideration of such application as the Section is destined to safeguard the freedom of an individual against unwarranted arrest and such orders shall be passed in eminently fit cases," it said.

KIND ATTENTION-FACTORY OWNERS IN DELHI

In the recent fire accidents occurred at factories/industrial establishments in Delhi, it is very unfortunate that many innocent lives have been lost. In order to prevent such fire accidents, the "Occupier" of such factories are directed to ensure adequate safety and proper health of workers in their factories.

As per the provisions of the Factories Act, 1948, "manufacturing unit" with 10 or more workers with power or, 20 or more workers without power is a "Factory" required to obtain licence, applicable to owners and tenants. Violation of any of the provisions of the Factories Act, 1948 attracts fine up to one lakh rupees or two years imprisonment or with both.

Running a "Factory" in non-conforming/residential areas in Delhi is illegal.

To prevent fatal accidents in factories/establishments, the owners are requested to take following precautions:-

- Provide alternate emergency staircase at all floors with clear passage way.
- Use non-flammable tin sheets. Don't use fibre/plastic sheets to cover open areas.
- Use ISI, fire resistant electrical fittings with separate MCBs.
- Provide firefighting equipment, overhead water storage tank exclusively for firefighting and install heat/smoke sensor, fire alarm.
- Provide periodical training to workers in fire fighting.
- Stay of workers with families in factories is prohibited.
- Ensure periodical examination of dangerous equipment such as air receivers, boilers, gas holders, ovens and lifting equipment etc by competent and authorized persons.

For further details visit labour.delhi.gov.in. On-line services of Licence under the Factories Act, 1948 are available in e-district Delhi portal.

SC refuses to stay law on appointing CEC, ECs

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi: Supreme Court on Friday expressed reservations before declining to stay Chief Election Commissioner and Other Election Commissioners (Appointment, Conditions of Service and Term of Office) Act and pass an interim order to prevent appointment of election commissioners under the law.

A bench of Justices Sanjiv Khanna, Dipankar Datta and Augustine George Masih said the court had on two previous hearings refused to pass an interim order when pressed by the petitioners.

"We do not stay legislation by way of interim orders," the bench said. As the application filed by the petitioner regarding appointment of two election commissioners was not on record, the court deferred the hearing to March 21.

On Thursday, Gyanesh Kumar and Sukhbir Singh Sandhu were appointed as election commissioners.

The petitioners — Congress activist Jaya Thakur and Association of Democratic Reforms — sought SC's direction for appointment of election commissioners by a panel consisting of the PM, Leader of Opposition and the CJI as directed by it last year and not as per the provision of subsequent Act. They have challenged the provision of the Act, which says that selection of ECs is to be done by the PM, Union cabinet minister and Leader of Opposition.

SC to hear pleas for stay on CAA rules on Tuesday

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi: Supreme Court on Friday agreed to hear on Tuesday pleas seeking to halt implementation of Citizenship (Amendment) Act (CAA), which started with govt notifying CAA Rules on March 11 that allows a fast-tracked process to grant citizenship to members of persecuted minority communities from neighbouring Islamic countries of Pakistan, Bangladesh and Afghanistan.

Senior Advocate Kapil Sibal sought urgent hearing on the applications and informed a bench of CJI D Y Chandrachud and Justices J B Pardiwala and Manoj Misra that govt waited for four and half years after the enactment of CAA before suddenly notifying the CAA Rules on the eve of Lok Sabha polls.

If SC does not stay the Rules, CAA will be implemented rendering the petitions, which challenge the validity of CAA, infructuous, Sibal said. CJI Chandrachud said there are as many as 192 petitions challenging the validity of CAA and that all petitions would be listed along with the applications on Tuesday.

Solicitor General Tushar Mehta said fixing a date for hearing the application is court's prerogative but none of the applicants have a locus standi to question CAA Rules or CAA itself. He added that it is the prerogative of govt when to notify a Rule.

DMK against TN traditions, skipped Sengol event: Modi

PM Modi also slammed the rival fronts in Kerala, saying they were faking a rivalry in the state as they were hand-in-glove in Delhi.

Citing the example of Tamil Nadu where the last Congress govt came to power in 1962 and UP, Gujarat and Bihar where Congress has been out of power for four decades, he said once Congress or Communists were ousted from power, they never return.

Modi said DMK was against the culture and tradition of Tamil Nadu. He charged the party with boycotting Ayodhya temple consecration and banning its telecast, necessitating SC's intervention. "DMK even boycotted the Sengol ceremony, the pride of Tamils and Tamil kings, in the newly inaugurated Parliament," he said.

Meanwhile, hours after police disallowed PM's March 18 roadshow in Coimbatore citing security concerns and traffic disruptions, Madras HC said that "leaders should not be stopped from meeting people who elected them".

India's well-wishers should welcome the intent of CAA, MEA tells US

There are no grounds for any concern on treatment of minorities... partners and well-wishers of India should welcome the intent with which this step has been taken," said MEA spokesperson Randhir Jaiswal.

"The Act grants a safe haven to persecuted minorities belonging to Hindu, Sikh, Buddhist, Jain, Parsi, and Christian communities from Afghanistan, Pakistan, and Bangladesh who have entered India on or before 31st Dec 2014," said the official.

"CAA is about giving citizenship, not about taking away citizenship. It addresses the issue of statelessness, provides human dignity and supports human rights," he added.

A State Department spokesperson had said on

'SAFE HAVEN'

Thursday that the US is concerned about the notification of CAA and is closely monitoring how this Act will be implemented.

"Respect for religious freedom and equal treatment under the law for all communities are fundamental democratic principles," he had said.

Pakistan had also come up with a reaction describing the Act as "discriminatory" in nature.

Commenting on CAA's implementation during her weekly briefing, Pakistan foreign office spokesperson Mumtaz Zahra Baloch had said, "Evidently, the legislation and relevant rules are discriminatory in nature as they differentiate among people on the basis of their faith." A Taliban leader too had said CAA should not discriminate against Muslims.

Hope to find pre-Gupta era temples: ASI official

We are carrying out this excavation with the objective of finding oldest temple in India," ASI superintending archaeologist (Jabalpur circle) Shiva Kant Bajpayee told TOI.

Nachne is around 400km east of Sanchi, the site of another Gupta-age temple, considered among the oldest in India. Sources who know about the Nachne dig told TOI that what they have found so far encourages them to believe it's the top half of a temple.

"The oldest known temples in the country are from the Gupta era (4th to early 6th century CE). The majority of the earliest known temples of the country are in MP — Temple No. 17 in Sanchi, Nachne Parvati temple, Tigwa's Vishnu temple and Bhumara's Shiva temple. We are conducting these excavations with the hope of finding pre-Gupta-era temples, Bajpayee told TOI.

"If we are not able to find it here, we will continue our exploration as it cannot be that only Gupta-era temples exist. There can be temples older than that," he reasoned.

Tell Voters All

As SC says, all electoral bonds data must be made public

Friday capped an embarrassing week for SBI in Supreme Court. India's largest commercial bank was pulled up for submitting incomplete info to Election Commission on electoral bonds. It was the second time SBI found itself at the receiving end.

Silos of confidentiality | On March 11, SBI's request to extend the deadline to submit details of EBs was dismissed by SC. Court transcripts of the proceedings showed a mix of physical and digital storage at SBI to maintain confidentiality. Info was broken up and stored in silos. Info on the name of EB purchasers and related KYC were stored physically. Bond numbers were stored digitally.

Missing bond numbers | SBI has submitted EB details without passing on bond numbers. Soon after EBs were notified in Jan 2018, GOI put out a statement explaining that EBs do not carry names. Neither donor nor recipient can be identified. However, each bond carries a random serial number invisible to the naked eye to prevent forgery during encashment.

SBI did not hand over info on the serial numbers to EC. A fallout is that on Monday, SBI's lawyers have a lot of explaining to do in SC.

EC's explanation | EC was in SC yesterday to ask for the return of EB data related to the period before LS 2019. It had submitted the data in a sealed envelope. EC didn't keep a copy – to preserve confidentiality, it says. SC will scan and digitise EB info before handing the original back to EC today.

The maze of silos that characterised EB data storage has made retrieval a complicated affair. Once EC has the complete info on EBs, including bond numbers, it should put it all out for transparency. That was the main message of SC's judgment: the voter has a right to know.

Don't Stop The Dice

What a lottery king buying electoral bonds says about us

It was like a proper jack-in-the-box surprise. After waiting and waiting to see which business has bought how many electoral bonds, turns out Buyer No. 1 is 'lottery king' Santiago Martin. The OMG of his caper derives from the obscurity of Martin's company, Future Gaming. But we have to wonder, is this in any way a reflection of how deep gambling runs in our veins.

Ancient & lovely | The epic-turning throw of dice in Mahabharat is just one of the many references to games of chance in our classical past. For example, the Rummy, Teen Patti, Blackjack and Bluff that are the mainstay of Diwali parties today, have been traced back to mythological play between Shiv-Parvati.

Jekyll & Hyde | But we have a split personality disorder on these things. Play to win. Or stay away from sin. This is also why our laws are bewilderingly knotty. Buying lotteries is legal in some states and illegal in others. Casinos are okay on some waters, but not land. Lately, the frothing has been on gaming, whether based on skills or not. The question is whether all of society's choices should be restricted because some of it is prone to addiction.

Sports & politics | The Super Bowl held in Las Vegas this year, reflects how NFL has cosied up to sports betting. Mahjong has new speed from electronic tables. Despite ever new forms of entertainment, the ancient one of gambling retains its popularity.

Elections Are Emotional, Even Cathartic, Events

They bring up a voter's identity, family, memories

An election is an exercise in hope and goodwill. Inside the Mind of a Voter: A New Approach to Electoral Psychology by Michael Bruter and Sarah Harrison, flips the gaze away from electoral institutions and towards the voter's psyche. It analyses six countries, France, Germany, US, UK, Georgia and South Africa. How do voters experience elections, what feelings do they evoke, and when does voting bring a sense of democratic resolution?

Elections are not just one-off occasions. The act of voting changes us, our perception of our role and of our democratic context. They are emotional, often cathartic events. They bring up one's identity, memories of the past and the family. They evoke both hope and hostility.

SHORT TAKES ON BIG IDEAS

While politics leads to flaring tensions, elections usually have a way of bringing out the best in people, the book argues. Many voters imagine that they are not voting for what's best for them, but for what is right for the country.

This emotional displacement, or sociotropic impulse that lets people imagine other people's realities, or project on to future generations, is common for voters when they are not feeling fragile themselves. Young people tend to display this impulse more than older ones.

And when they act out of this motive, elections can be a moment of civic communion between people and the larger system. This explains the 'electoral honeymoon' effect, where even those who didn't vote for the winner give it significant support in the early months.

A third of the voters surveyed admitted to having tears in their eyes because of an election. Voting can leave citizens feeling stronger and tighter-knit into society, while those who abstain drift further away from those who feel emotionally about voting.

Voters can be either supporters or referees. Referees tend to look at their vote as an evaluation of the situation. While political differences are based on a scale of values – say respect for private property, or for bodily autonomy, which are weighted differently by different people – they assume a moral cast for voters. From one lens, the opposing side can seem immoral. These differences are getting sharper.

Interestingly, when it comes to populist victories like those of Trump and the Brexit referendum, while those on the losing side did feel alienated, resentment and vulnerability also persisted for those who voted for the winners. Sections across the voter spectrum felt marginalised, just for different reasons.

Hostility can be managed in electoral democracies if winners and losers play ball, contributing to a common system out of solidarity with people they've opposed. But this book found one in five people didn't want to speak to someone who disagrees on fundamental issues, over one in 10 said they could get into a physical fight with them, and over a third resent paying taxes to protect those who voted differently.

In South Africa, 31% people said they'd opt for a revolution if they didn't like the democratic outcome. Over 21% in France said they'd move to a different country.

This animosity is not just a personal difference, it is a moral and projective hatred. Voters imagine it is on behalf of society that they abhor the other side. If these differences spin out of control, then elections will cease to serve their purpose. That future looks terrifying, the book concludes.

Five Facts, Five Takeaways

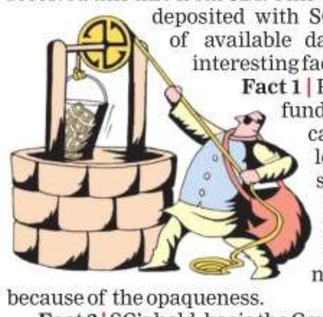
• Problem wasn't EBs, but lack of transparency • Data on EC website reveals this opaqueness • Bulk of companies are unlisted • Some may be shell companies • Data takes us to SC's question: What favours, if any, did donors receive?

Trilochan Sastry

Chairman, Association for Democratic Reforms

On March 6, Supreme Court struck down the Electoral Bonds scheme as wholly unconstitutional – a step forward for reform in campaign funds. While the petition in SC was only to cancel the EB scheme, SC rightly directed the data be made public.

Much-awaited info on EBs is now available on Election Commission's website. To read the data is to also find the gaps. Data from April 12, 2019, is available. Donations before that are not yet public as EC has not received this info from SBI. This earlier data had been deposited with SC. A quick analysis of available data throws up very interesting facts and questions.



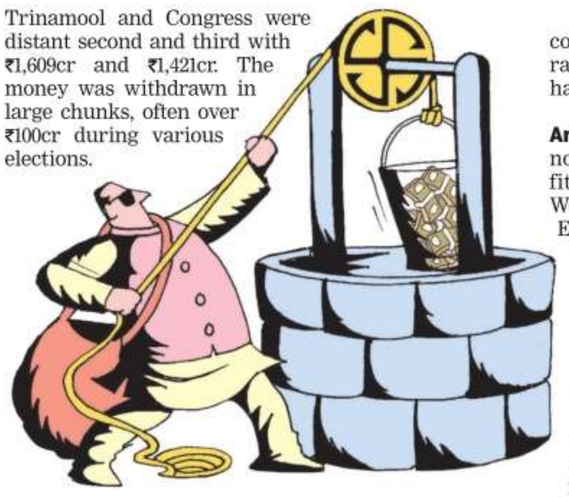
Fact 1 | Political parties need funds to run election campaigns. There is legitimate need for such funds. So, there is nothing illegal about funds received through EBs – SC has now put a stop to these because of the opaqueness.

Fact 2 | SC's held, basis the Constitution, and in line with best international practices, that voters in India have a right to know who the donors are and the amount they donate.

Fact 3 | The possibility of what SC called "quid pro quo", where donors get some favours in exchange for donations, is the fundamental reason for transparency world over. GOI is the custodian of the public's money, collected through taxes, and needs to use these funds for public benefit. And not for that donor's benefit, who gave funds to the governing party.

Fact 4 | Donor list shows bonds worth a total of ₹12,679 crore were purchased, of which ₹12,155cr was cashed. Some ₹613cr remain uncashed, and perhaps the 15-day deadline for redeeming them has expired. What will happen to this money is not known.

Fact 5 | EBs were cashed by 28 parties. As already known, the top recipient was BJP, with over ₹6,000cr. Trinamool and Congress were distant second and third with ₹1,609cr and ₹1,421cr. The money was withdrawn in large chunks, often over ₹100cr during various elections.



Info on donors is all new. It is important to note what the data does not show. The top well-known companies of India are not in the list of major purchasers of EB. This does not mean they are not donors. Two other means are available for political donations – through direct donations or through Electoral Trusts that are different from EBs. This info is publicly available – a separate analysis is required for this.

Giving beyond means | Among the listed companies, one admitted it donated more than ₹90cr when its net profits were less than ₹50cr. Was this fair to its shareholders? One such company's tax liability came down from 48% to 27% after it gave donations through EBs.

Most companies unlisted | Of the over 1,300 donors, less than 20 are publicly listed companies. This means that around ₹12,000cr have come from unlisted, relatively unknown companies. Most donors are unknown private limited companies. The top donor is a company called Future Gaming and Hotel Services Pvt Ltd, followed by Megha Engineering and Infrastructure Pvt Ltd and Qwik Supply Chain Pvt Ltd. Of the top 10 donors, only two are publicly listed companies.

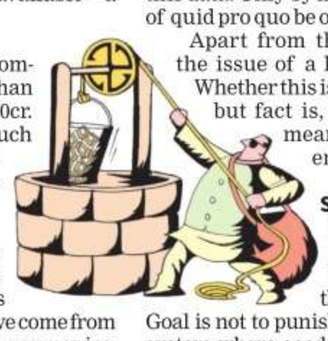
Info on them is not publicly available. Some of these companies were involved in controversy, or were on the radar of the Income Tax department. Hardly any action has been taken against any defaulters.

Are some shell companies? | Since they are not listed, it is not known whether these companies were turning profits or making losses, and when were they incorporated. Were any of them set up just for the purpose of buying EBs? Are any of them shell companies? These issues need deeper investigation. It is not merely a legal question. It is about governance – such companies donate money only to receive some benefit, which could be at the cost of the public.

Favours against funds? | Voters need to know why political parties accepted money from such sources. Here the precise question raised by SC on quid pro quo is relevant: What favours, if any, did these donors receive?

We need to be able to match donor with recipient for each electoral bond. SC on Friday did not ask SBI to give this data. Only by matching can a better understanding of quid pro quo be obtained.

Apart from the issue of quid pro quo, there's the issue of a level-playing field in any election. Whether this is possible or desirable can be debated, but fact is, if so much money is required, it means ordinary citizens simply cannot enter politics.



Spending reforms | The way campaign funds are spent also needs reforms. Distribution of gifts to voters is illegal under the Representation of the People Act, but happens all the time. Goal is not to punish wrongdoers. We need to establish a system where good clean elections, with honest capable candidates, become a reality. Only then will democracy and good governance be established. All stakeholders – govts, ECI, courts, media, civil society, and most important, the voters – are part of this journey. It's a long road to campaign funding reforms.

Ahmednagar To Ahilyanagar: The Return Of The Native?

This renaming is particularly unconvincing. Because the Nizam Shahs' connection to the city was longer, richer, and more meaningful. Ahilyabai left Maharashtra aged eight

Manu S Pillai

Ahilyabai Holkar (1725-95) was a woman of high accomplishments. On the one hand were her religious charities: feeding houses, riverside ghats, and temple reconstruction, most famously of Kashi Vishwanath, demolished by Mughal emperor Aurangzeb in 1669. But she was also capable of good governance. A British official – who had no special incentive to flatter "native" figures – would describe her as "one of the purest and most exemplary rulers that ever existed".

She showed much personal fortitude too. Widowed before 30, Ahilyabai watched her son go insane and her daughter commit sati. As a woman in a world of men, she forcefully asserted her right to administer the Holkar dynasty's lands herself. Remembered as part-queen, part-saint ever since, there's no doubt that Ahilyabai is a historical figure of importance.

Earlier this week, Maharashtra govt decided to honour the queen by renaming the city of Ahmednagar to Ahilyanagar. On the face of it, this is somewhat odd. The rani left Maharashtra aged eight, and her career was largely spent in today's MP. She was born in Ahmednagar district, yes, but at Chondi, almost 100km outside the city that now bears her name.

As such, the Holkar dowager had little to do with Ahmednagar. So, we are left with another explanation. Ahilyabai belonged to dhangar caste, which has lately been agitating against govt – renaming Ahmednagar is part of a broader package of mollification. Besides, in the general trend of today, erasure of an "Ahmed" in favour of "Ahilya" holds its own subtexts and signals.

Naming (and renaming) of cities has always seen a fusing of the political with the emotional. Not long ago, Aurangabad was turned into Chhatrapati Sambhajinagar. One can see the appeal.

"Aurangabad" commemorated Aurangzeb, who bulldozed his way into the area as a conqueror. In what was a traumatic moment in local history, he would also order the brutal execution of Chhatrapati Shivaji's son and heir. Why then, many might justly ask, should a town in Maharashtra celebrate a man who rained fire and blood on its people?

Aurangzeb had named the place after himself to advertise imperial might and make a political statement. Ditching that name is an equally political act. To supporters of the move, it highlights resistance while honouring a more appropriate hero – a bold son of the soil.

The problem with emotion, though, is that it doesn't always align with hard facts of history. We must recall that Aurangzeb was despised not just by Hindus. Branding Shia sultans of the Deccan heretics, he terminated their dynasties. When the region resisted him, it was also under Muslim rulers of these Deccan sultanates.

Indeed, if Aurangabad had to be renamed, it should perhaps have been after Malik Ambar (1548-1626). A general of African origin, this was the man who founded the city in the first place. For some 25 years, two generations before Shivaji, it was he who led the movement against Mughals. In the Sivabharata, a Sanskrit poem Shivaji commissioned, rich tributes are paid to Ambar; he is "as brave as the sun" and compared to the gods. Why, the Chhatrapati's father and grandfather both were associated with this slave-turned-warrior.

The simple fact, however, is that such a proposal would not fly. For Ambar, despite his heroic work in the region, was a devout Muslim. And even political parties of the so-called "secular" bent hesitate to stand up nowadays for our Islamic heritage.

Popular imagination – what shapes political sentiment – sees resistance of the Deccan to Mughal imperialism through chiefly a Hindu-Muslim (Maratha-Mughal) lens. So, in excising vestiges of past conquest and subjugation, it selectively elevates only Hindu icons. Besides, in the age of Hindutva, most things Muslim are suspect. Colonialism too did not begin, from this perspective, with Europeans' arrival; India's enslavement started with the advent of Islamic rule long before. In this view, even if Muslim figures did good, they were never truly Indian. Hindu icons belong, non-Hindu figures don't.

This becomes almost amusingly stark with this business around Ahmednagar. The city never bore the name of a conqueror or invader. It was founded by the first Nizam Shahi sultan, who was of wholly local Deccani descent. Ahmed I's family were in fact Brahmins who converted to Islam. In 1518, the Nizam Shahs even went to war against another sultanate to reclaim their ancestral village and present it to their Brahmin relations.

The Nizam Shahs' connection to Ahmednagar was longer, richer, and more meaningful than Ahilyabai's, who happened to be born in the general vicinity. But then again, facts too are not immune to cultural currents and political convenience.

Conscious Awareness Or Aware Consciousness

Deepak Ranade

Consciousness is an attribute of life, embedded in all life forms, right from the unicellular bacterium to the multicellular, multi-organ human being. Consciousness has been considered an emergent phenomenon by neuroscientists and physicists alike.

Emergent properties arise when the interaction of individual components produces totally new properties or functions. "The whole is greater than the sum of its parts," as mentioned by Aristotle. Can tangible chemicals and proteins by this process of emergence culminate into an intangible alchemy of consciousness?

Emergence does not involve only the bottom-up causation by which the parts at the lower levels interact to cause novel, emergent, features at the higher levels. It mandates a synchronous top-down effect wherein the higher level influences the lower levels to subserve the whole system.

Emergence is the antithesis of reductionism. It is an escape route for scientists who thereafter hypothesise that life properties cannot be fully reduced to the mechanics of their parts. This still was just the easy problem of consciousness.

David John Chalmers, philosopher and cognitive scientist, proposed an ontology of cognitive phenomena associated with consciousness – the easy problem of consciousness: mechanisms controlling wakefulness and sleep and the underlying neural networks, easy because experiments to study them pose no conceptual difficulty. These mechanisms are inextricably associated with conscious processing but are not consciousness.

What really defines consciousness is the subjective experience that is associated with all the cognitive phenomena mentioned above. This has been defined by Chalmers as the hard problem of consciousness, because of the so-called explanatory gap between neuron-level mechanisms and subjective experience.

The hard problem of consciousness, Qualia, still remains unanswered. What constitutes individual experience and makes it unique?

Human consciousness is not just conscious but is also conscious of the fact that it is conscious. Whilst westerners are engaged with a bottom-up approach of addressing the easy problem of consciousness, Advaita Vedanta adopts a top-down approach. Isha Upanishad provides the concept of Organic Wholism: 'Purnam Adah Purnam Idam Purnat Purnam Udachyate Purnasya Purnam Adaya Purnam Evavasisyate' – the 'Organic Whole' produces 'organic wholes'. An organic whole cannot arise from parts that have to be assembled. That process can only produce inorganic, mechanical or chemical processes, not living organisms.

THE SPEAKING TREE

Scientific endeavours will eventually have to surrender their reductionism to the existence of an 'A Priori' sentience that transcends and, in fact, spawns the spatio-temporal grid. A sentience that is formless, attributeless, without a beginning or an end. An unqualified, intelligent awareness that is eternally in a state of causeless bliss. An intelligent singularity that can manifest as diverse plurality. A formless awareness – Brahmn – that can trifurcate into a trichotomy of the observer, observed and observation.

"It would, therefore, be futile to reduce consciousness to the brain or matter because it is fundamentally irreducible in principle. That implies consciousness is ubiquitous in the universe by itself and it interacts with the physical world through the nervous system and brain," says Chalmers.

This lends credibility to the Rig Ved quote: 'Ekam Sat Vipra Bahudha Vadanti' – the Reality, Truth, is One, Consciousness; the wise call it by various names.
