DILLI, ROAR MUCH-A?

From inspired nail art and tattoos to offers at eateries and graffiti, here's how Delhi is prepping to host its season's first IPL match

Haircuts, tattoos and nail art inspired by the IPL have made their way to the Capital; (inset far right) Delhi Street Art members pose with the portrait of Rishabh Pant that they painted

Saumya Rastogi and Kriti Kambiri

The IPL is finally in town. The peaking Delhi Capitals' clash against the rampaging Sunrisers Hyderabad today at Arun Jaitley Stadium, its season's first — has fans flocking to salons and tattoo parlours and artists expressing their love for the game through graffiti.

Delhi Street Art (DSA), one of the city's popular street art groups, painted a portrait of DC captain Rishabh Pant at Jawaharlal Nehru Stadium, recently. "We had plans on creating a mural with Delhi Capitals Toli last week, which were put on hold, but the streets might see more IPL artworks soon," shares Mayuri Saini, partner with DSA.

Earlier, SOCIAL outlets across NCR launched special menus as part of their #DoostraStadium campaign geared for group gatherings in a stadium-inspired ambience. Brouhaha - The Bar & Brewery, Radisson Blu, Kaushambi, too, is offering IPL packages such as unlimited draught beer, for those planning to catch the home game away from the stadium.

Fanucures, the latest IPL fan trend, have entered Delhi, too, according to Reena Batra, founder, Claw Nails, Greater Kailash. "Fans are incorporating team logos, player jerseys, cricket equipment in nail art," Batra adds. "Pant's fade is also quite a rage among youngsters opting for new haircuts," says makeup artist and hairstylist Clint Fernandes.

Salman back at work; Dubai calling

Sugandha Rawal Tagra

sugandha.rawal@hindustantimes.com

Actor Salman Khan has swiftly moved forward with his professional commitments following the firing incident outside his residence. He departed for Dubai, with plans to attend a brand opening, on Friday morning, ensuring his safety by travelling to the airport in a bulletproof SUV acquired in 2023. We have also learnt that Khan will commence shooting for his upcoming project in June. A source close to the family reveals, "The whole family is in shock with the incident, but at the same time, they are not letting it get to their heads. They are coping with it fine and focusing on their respective work commitments."

The whole family is in shock with the incident, but at the same time, they are not letting it get to their heads.

A SOURCE

Specifically addressing Khan's reaction, the source adds, "No shoot was cancelled or postponed because of the incident." Khan remains dedicated to his craft, with preparations underway for his role in AR Murugadoss' directed project, Sikandar, scheduled to begin filming in June. An insider discloses, "Salman is paying all his attention to working on his character and getting it right. The shoot location is still not finalised, as the team is on a recce," assuring that the production team prioritises Khan's security while planning the shoot.

Clean chit for Nawazuddin Siddiqui and family in decade-old molestation case

Actor Nawazuddin Siddiqui's wife, Aaliya Siddiqui, had filed a molestation case against him and his family nearly a decade ago. On Thursday, the 49-year-old and his family were granted a clean chit by the court.

The special POCSCO court accepted a police closure report that cleared Nawazuddin and the other four accused. Aaliya had been ordered to appear in court multiple times, including to respond to the clean chit, but her failure to do so led to the acceptance of the closure report. Initially filed in Mumbai, Aaliya's FIR against Nawazuddin and his family was later transferred to the Budhana police station in Muzaffarnagar in 2020. According to government counsel Pradeep Balyan, Aaliya alleged that Nawazuddin's brother Minazuddin molested a minor in 2012, with the actor and other family members allegedly supporting him.

After an extensive investigation, the police filed a report last year exonerating the actor and his family of all allegations. The closure report gave a clean chit to Nawazuddin, his mother Mehrunisa and brothers Faizuddin, Ayazuddin, and Minazuddin.

Nawazuddin and Aaliya have faced marital troubles for some time. But in March of this year, Aaliya announced that they were willing to set their differences aside for the sake of their children.

'I WANT TO BE FIT LIKE AKSHAY KUMAR'

Sood is cognisant of how drastic physical transformations can take a toll on the body. Citing the examples of actors Randeep Hooda and Joaquin Phoenix, he shares, "It's not healthy but it is justified. If a normal person were to try it, I'd say don't do it because your job doesn't require it. If a role requires it, you get it done. But an actor has the resources to come back to their normal self." Who's an actor he feels has done a great job of maintaining their physique? Pat comes Sood's reply: "Akshay Kumar. Even at the age of 56, he is doing a film like Bade Miyan Chote Miyan. I would like to lead a fit life like him."

VARUN: NEVER LOOKED AT CELEBS FOR FITNESS INSPIRATION

Actor Varun Sood, who went from buff to lean for his role in Karma Calling, talks to us about his fitness journey and being at his physical peak

'DON'T MISS A SINGLE WORKOUT'

The actor's fitness journey began when he first picked up weights as a 20-year-old. He says, "I was just running around, playing basketball, pull-ups, push-ups, all of that. Now, I don't miss a single day of working out and it's usually an almost four-hour session." This consistency has helped him maintain internal fitness alongside his physical wellness and he shares, "I very rarely fall sick. I'm very lucky and fortunate that my physical fitness has kept me internally healthy."

'FITNESS IS PURELY TRIAL AND ERROR'

While the actor works with MMA trainer Nitish Yadav and weight training coach Sandeep Yadav — whom he credits with being "extremely fit" — he says he has found a trial and error system that helps him find his fitness rhythm. Ask what works and what doesn't and he says, "Recently I tried a crash diet, where you don't eat for 16 hours, then eat for four. I felt that was not working because in one go you can eat for a maximum of 45 minutes. But I was still hungry! I do a lot of trial and error with diets that I think might work for me. But I don't think every diet works for everybody."

Kriti Kambiri

Actor Varun Sood shot to popularity with his stints on reality shows like MTV Roadies, Splitsvilla and Ace of Space and later with his appearances in Jugg Jugg Jeeyo (2022) and Selfie (2023). Now, his physical transformation in the web series Karma Calling has grabbed eyeballs and made headlines. The 29-year-old tells us all about his fitness idol, achieving a unique on-screen persona and shares his fitness regimen and the challenges of intense workout sessions.

'WAS AT MY WEAKEST WITH A SIX-PACK'

Speaking about how visual fitness is very different from internal fitness, the actor explains, "A healthy body has some body fat and one that has a six-pack is probably at its weakest. While shooting for Karma Calling, I was very ripped, had a six-pack and was down to 8% body fat. I didn't drink water, didn't eat salt or carbs and was on a calorie deficit. Even though I looked very muscular, internally I was very weak. On the other hand, for Call Me Bae (his upcoming web series), I had to look like a Delhi boy and

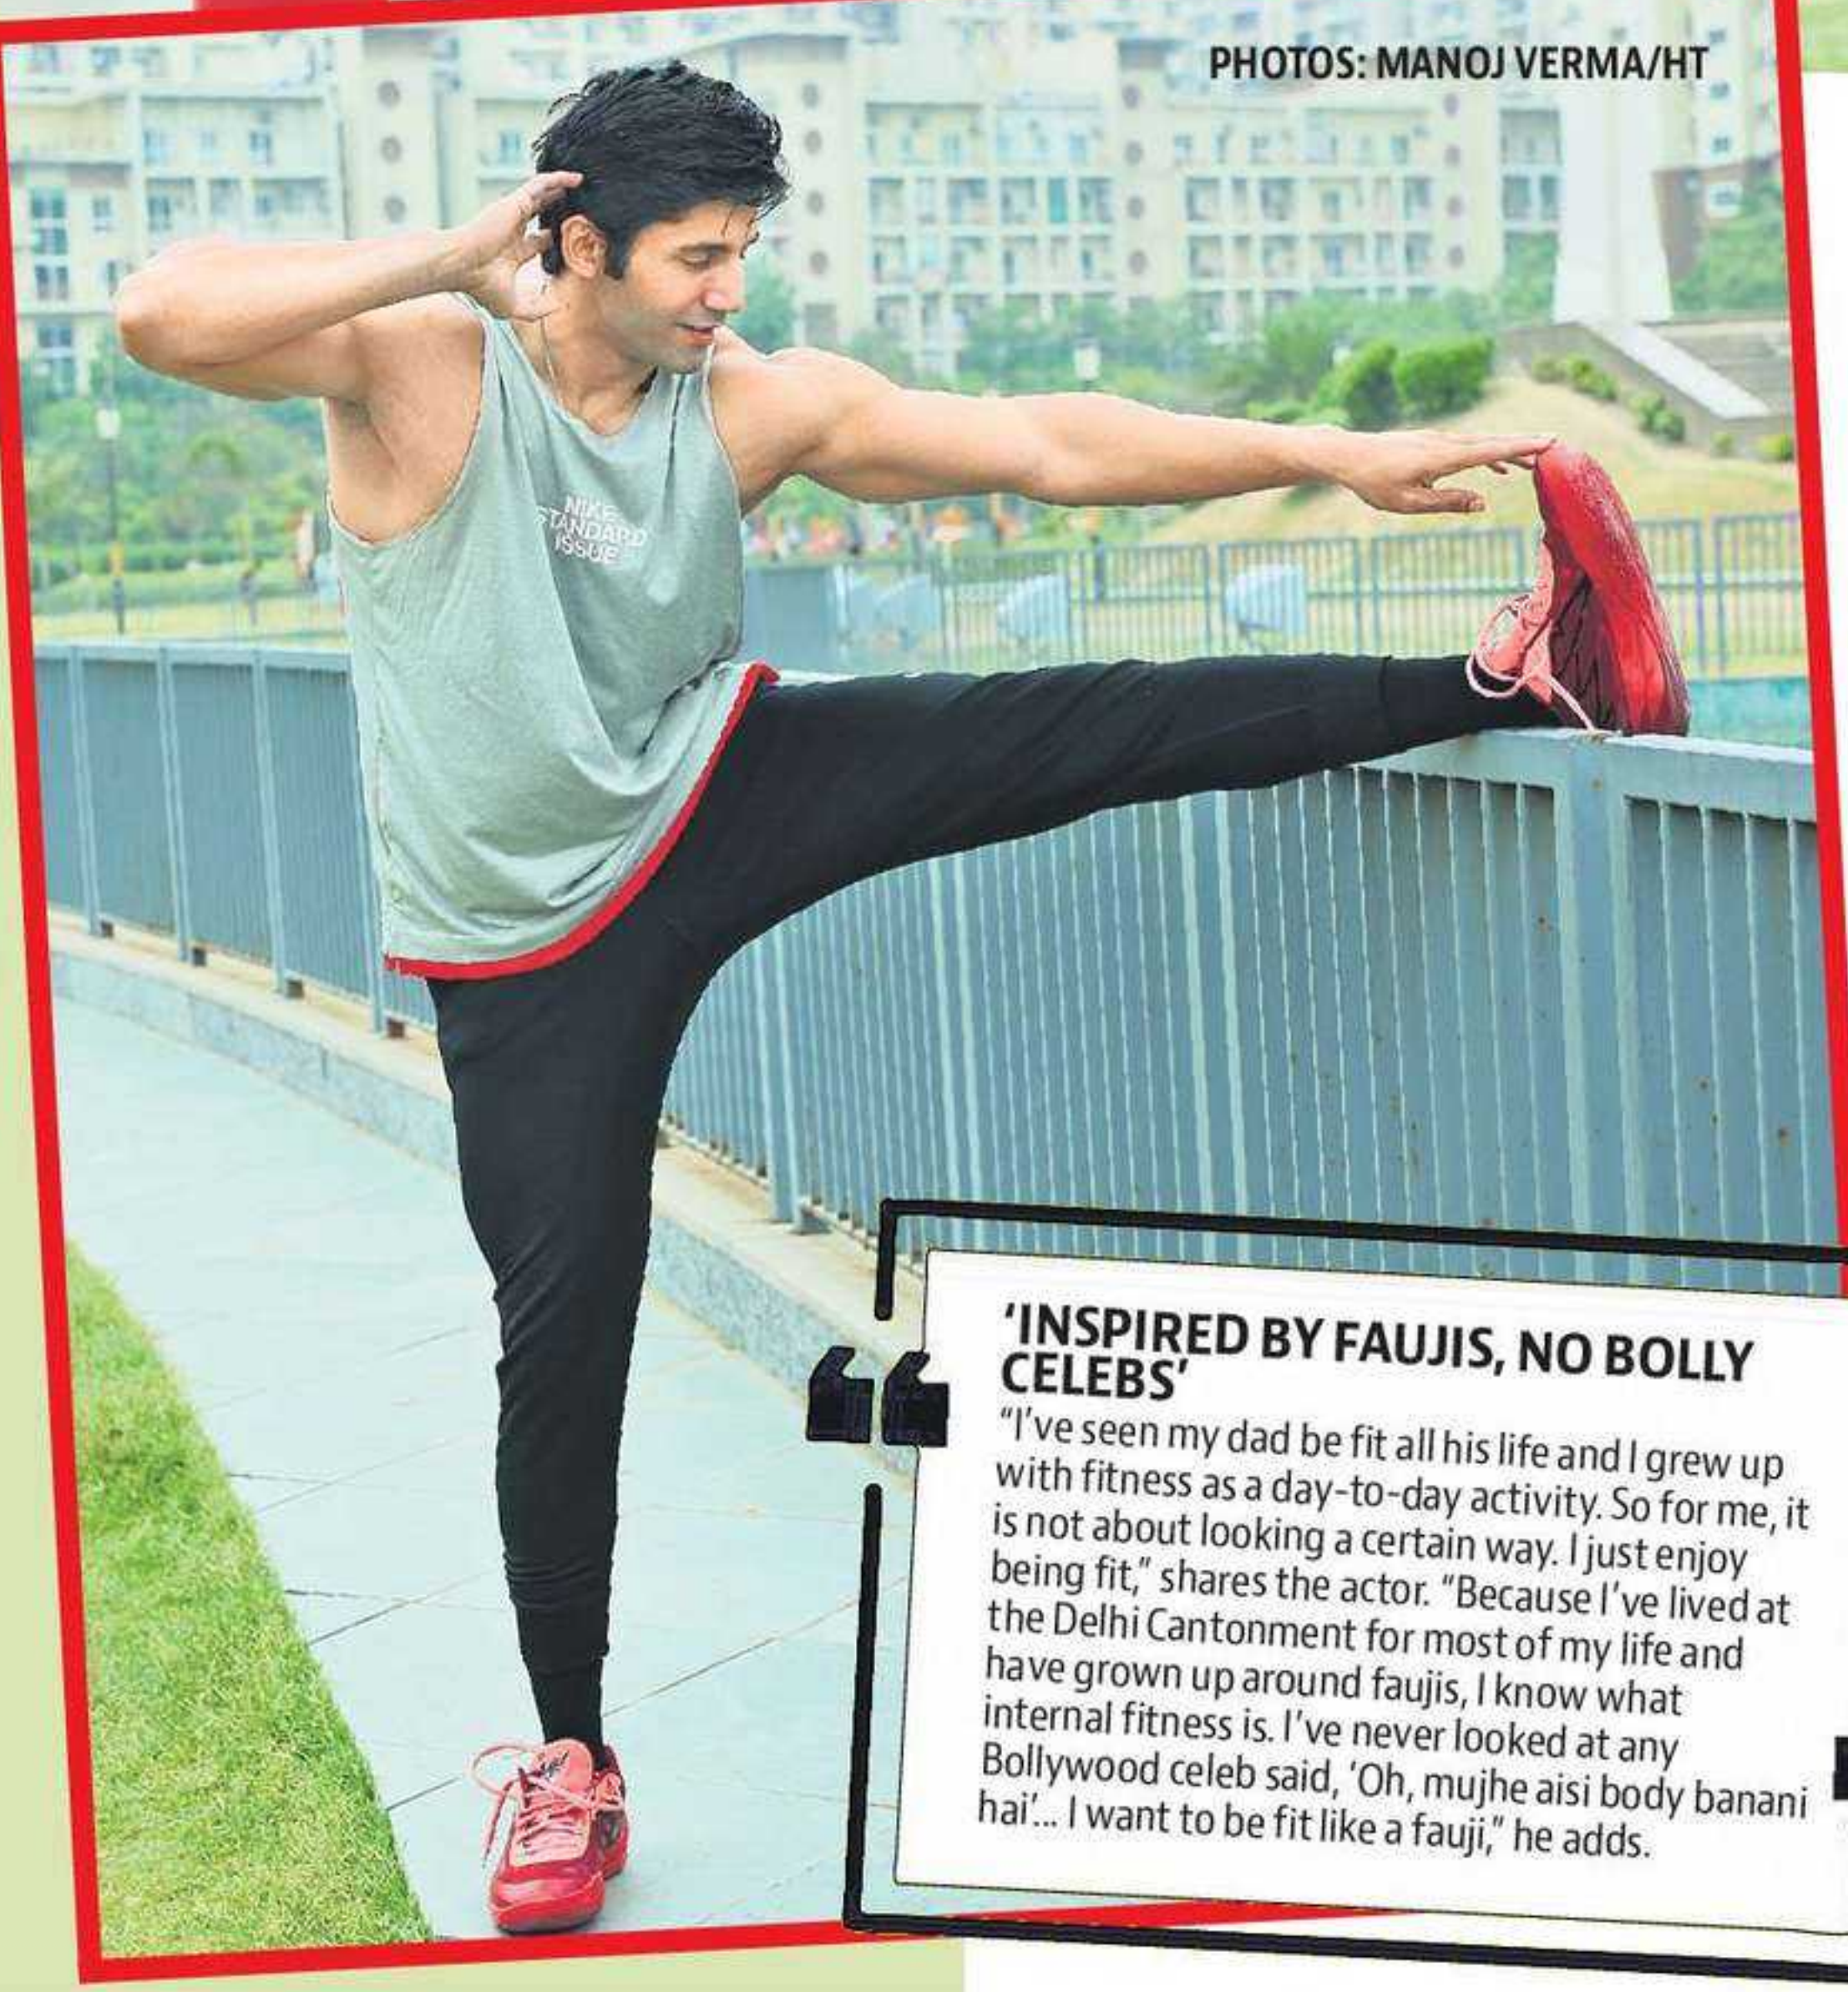

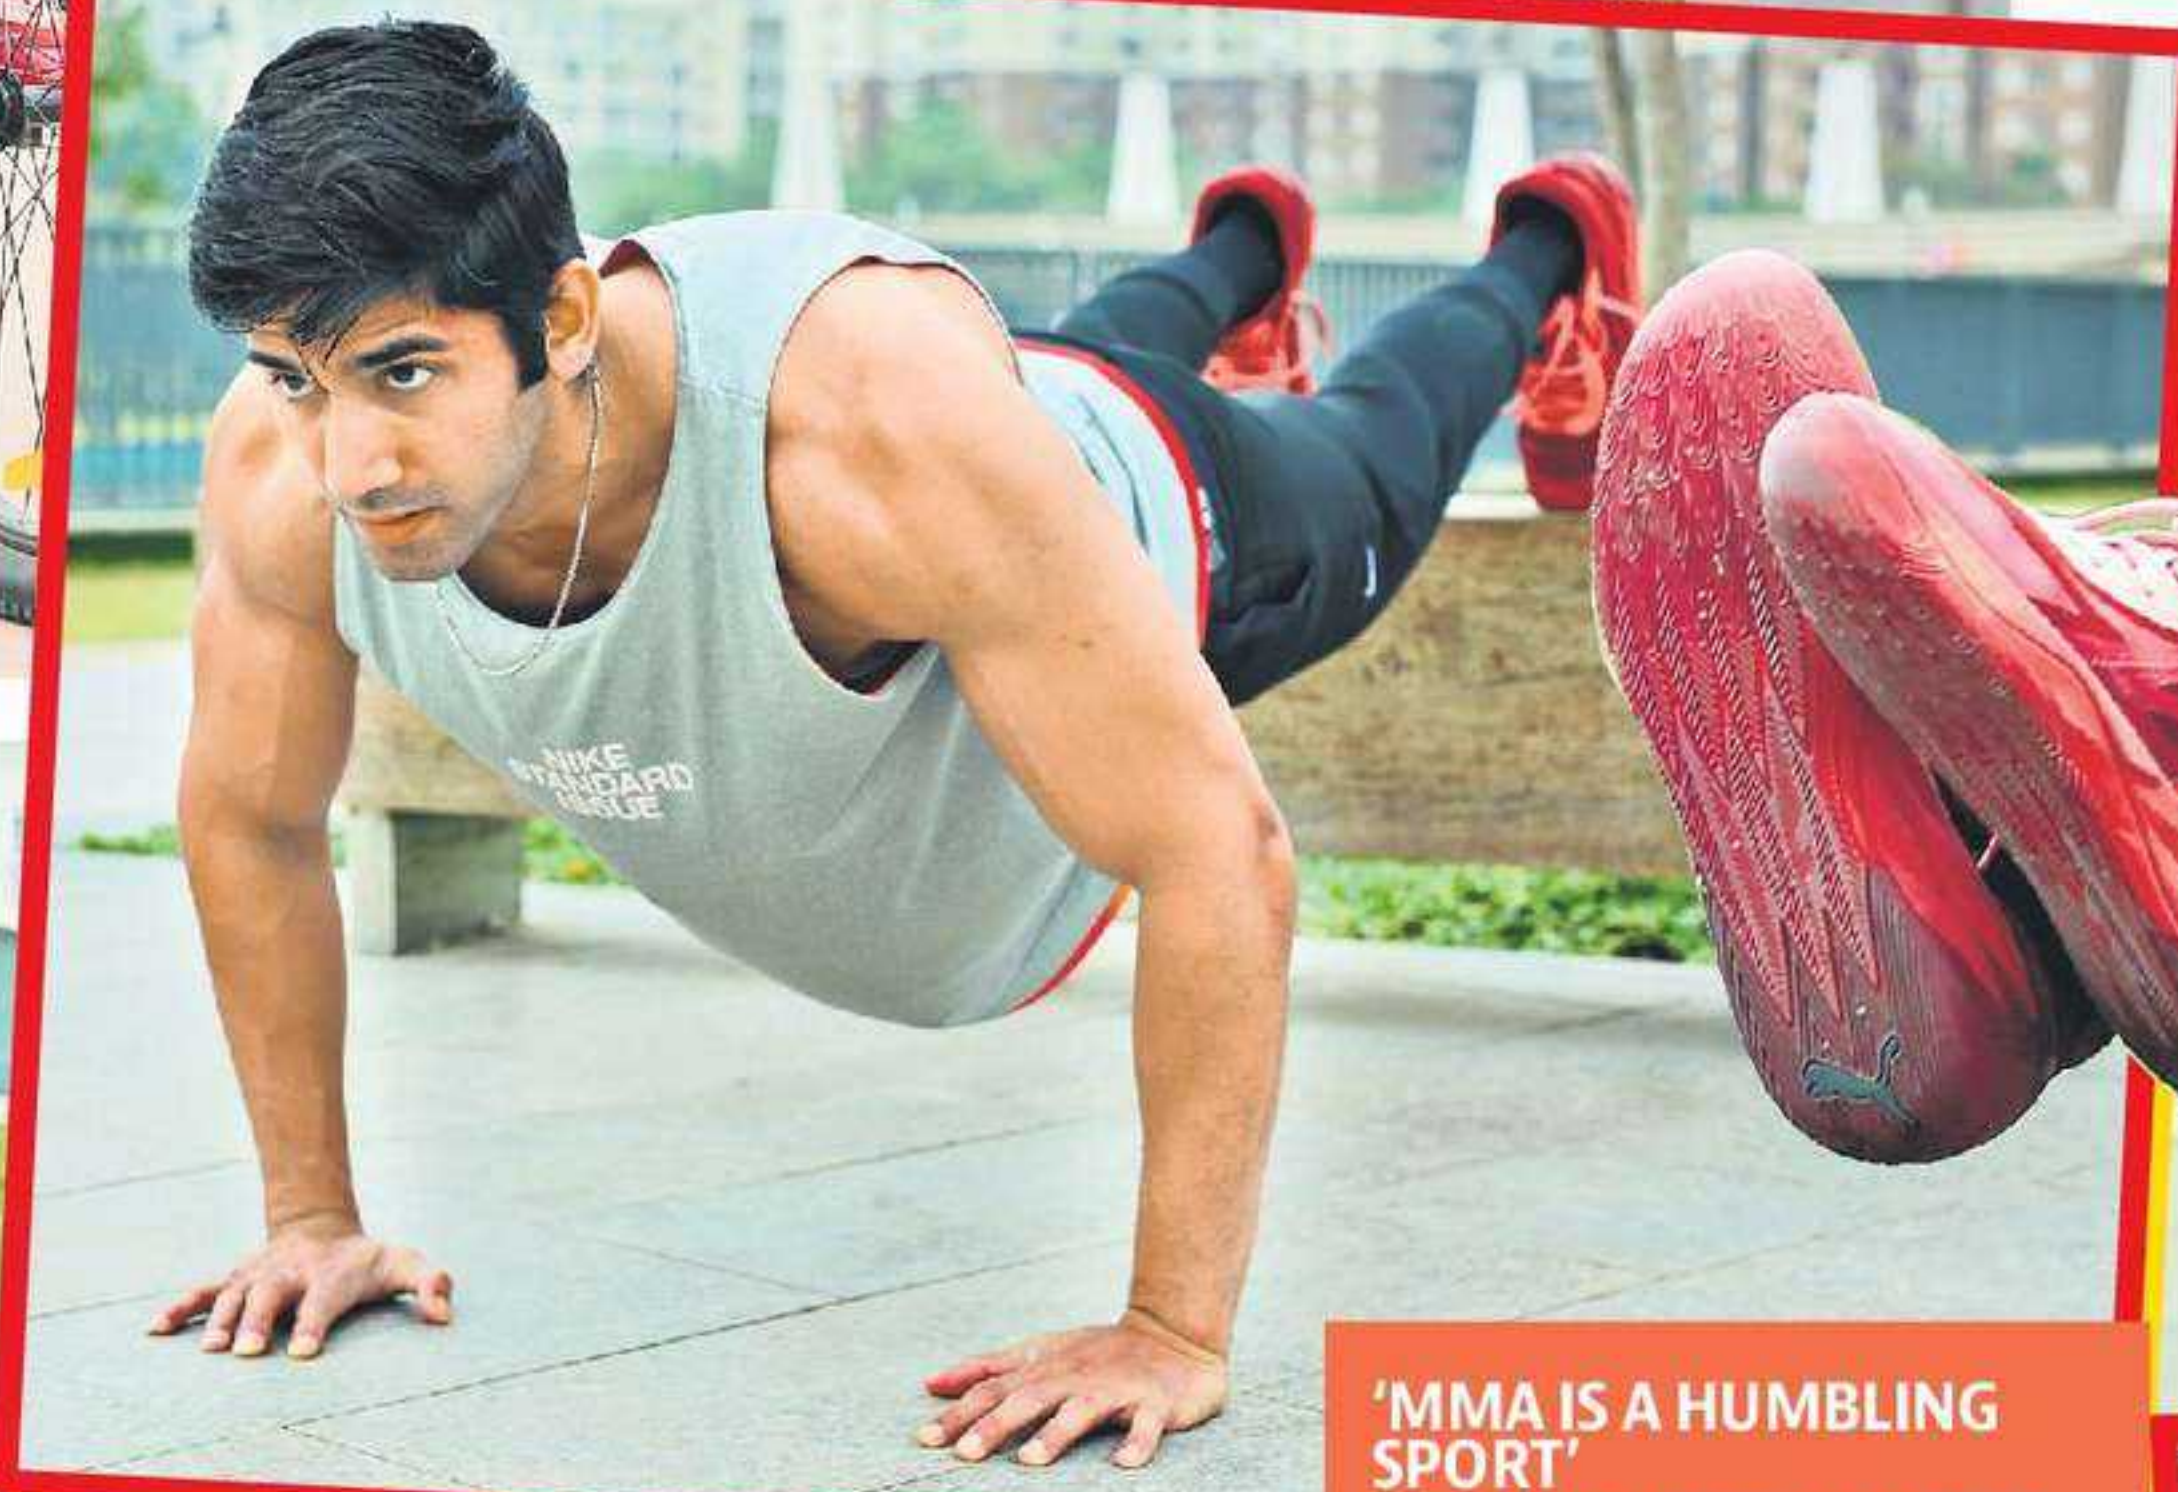

'MMA IS A HUMBLING SPORT'

It's not just the gym that gives him those muscles. Sood is also a runner, basketball player and an MMA (mixed martial arts) junkie. He tells us, "Every time you think you're fit, MMA breaks that idea completely. It's one of the most difficult things that I've done. I think it's a very humbling sport and that's why I got into it." Another fitness venture the actor has recently picked up is yoga. "If I have to go back and talk to my younger self, one thing I would say is 'stretch kar lo!' I tried yoga classes with people my age but they are far superior than I am. I'm either with kids or with older people who haven't done it at all. Bahut mushkil hai yoga" he quips.

needed to look bigger so I lifted very heavy weights and reduced my cardio."

'AT MY PEAK'

Through a system of trial and error, Sood has finally found momentum in his fitness journey. "A lot of people say that when you're approaching 30, your fitness declines. But I went through a mad body transformation and stuck by it. My fitness journey (at this level) began two years ago when I was 27 and I have absolutely been at my peak ever since," he wraps up.

'INSPIRED BY FAUJIS, NO BOLLY CELEBS'

"I've seen my dad be fit all his life and I grew up with fitness as a day-to-day activity. So for me, it is not about looking a certain way. I just enjoy being fit," shares the actor. "Because I've lived at the Delhi Cantonment for most of my life and have grown up around faujis, I know what internal fitness is. I've never looked at any Bollywood celeb said, 'Oh, mujhe aisi body banani hai...' I want to be fit like a fauji," he adds.

Mrunal, Siddhant to shoot for SLB

akash.bhatnagar@partner.hindustantimes.com

Actors Mrunal Thakur and Siddhant Chaturvedi are teaming up for the first time for filmmaker Sanjay Leela Bhansali's next. We've exclusively learnt that the duo is all set to start filming for the project next week.

"The actors have been taking workshops with director Ravi Udyawar since the first week of April as part of their prep. Both actors will play musicians in the film and have put in a lot of work in their preparations," a source familiar with the matter tells us.

Produced by Bhansali, the musical will be helmed by Udyawar, who previously directed Mom (2017). The fresh pairing has fans of both actors excited, especially with Thakur's recent releases Sita Ramam (2022) and Hi Nanna (2023) — both romances — having done well at the box office. Chaturvedi, too, had praised her work in Super 30

Siddhant Chaturvedi

(2019) and Sita Ramam in an earlier interview. Recently, Thakur had recalled how the two had a long call to discuss cinema, with the Kho Gaye Hum Kahan (2023) actor praising her performances. The source adds that Bhansali aims to finish the shoot of this film, billed as a contemporary romance drama, before jumping to his next directorial, Love and War, which stars Ranbir Kapoor, Alia Bhatt and Vicky Kaushal.

'Two little' baby feet are on the way for Masaba-Satyadeep!

Designer-actor Masaba Gupta is expecting her first child with husband, actor Satyadeep Misra. The couple, who tied the knot in January 2023, made the official announcement in a joint Instagram post on Thursday. The series of images featured an emoji of a pregnant woman, heart eyes avatars of the couple's faces and an adorable picture of them sitting on the floor. STRIKING A CORD WITH GARBH SANSKAR

Deepika Padukone's recent Instagram post sparked interest in Garbh Sanskar, an ancient practice for foetal development. We speak to experts about the growing interest around this practice

snehachakraborty@hindustantimes.com

Actor Deepika Padukone recently posted a picture on Instagram, showing her practising embroidery. This led social media users to speculate that the expecting mum was following Garbh Sanskar, an ancient wellness practice for maternal and foetal health. "Part of garbh sanskar... this is majorly to keep the mummy relaxed! (sic)," wrote one user.

Another wrote, "Excellent. That's part of Garbh Sanskar and also improves concentration...sense of fulfillment and right brain development." Surbhi Bhagat, founder and counsellor at the Uttam Garbh Sanskar workshop in Noida says, "Embroidery is one of many activities prescribed during Garbh Sanskar to promote brain development during the fifth and sixth months of pregnancy."

ORIGIN
Garbh Sanskar is believed to have originated in the Mahabharata era (approximately 400 BC). Abhimanyu, the son of Arjuna and Subhadra heard his uncle Krishna narrating the formation of a Chakravyuha (a safeguarding military tactic) while he was still in the womb.

Training the mental state to overcome external circumstances is an aspect crucial to Garbh Sanskar.

ARPITA AGARWAL, Founder, Garbh Sanskar Jaipur

ARISE INTEREST?

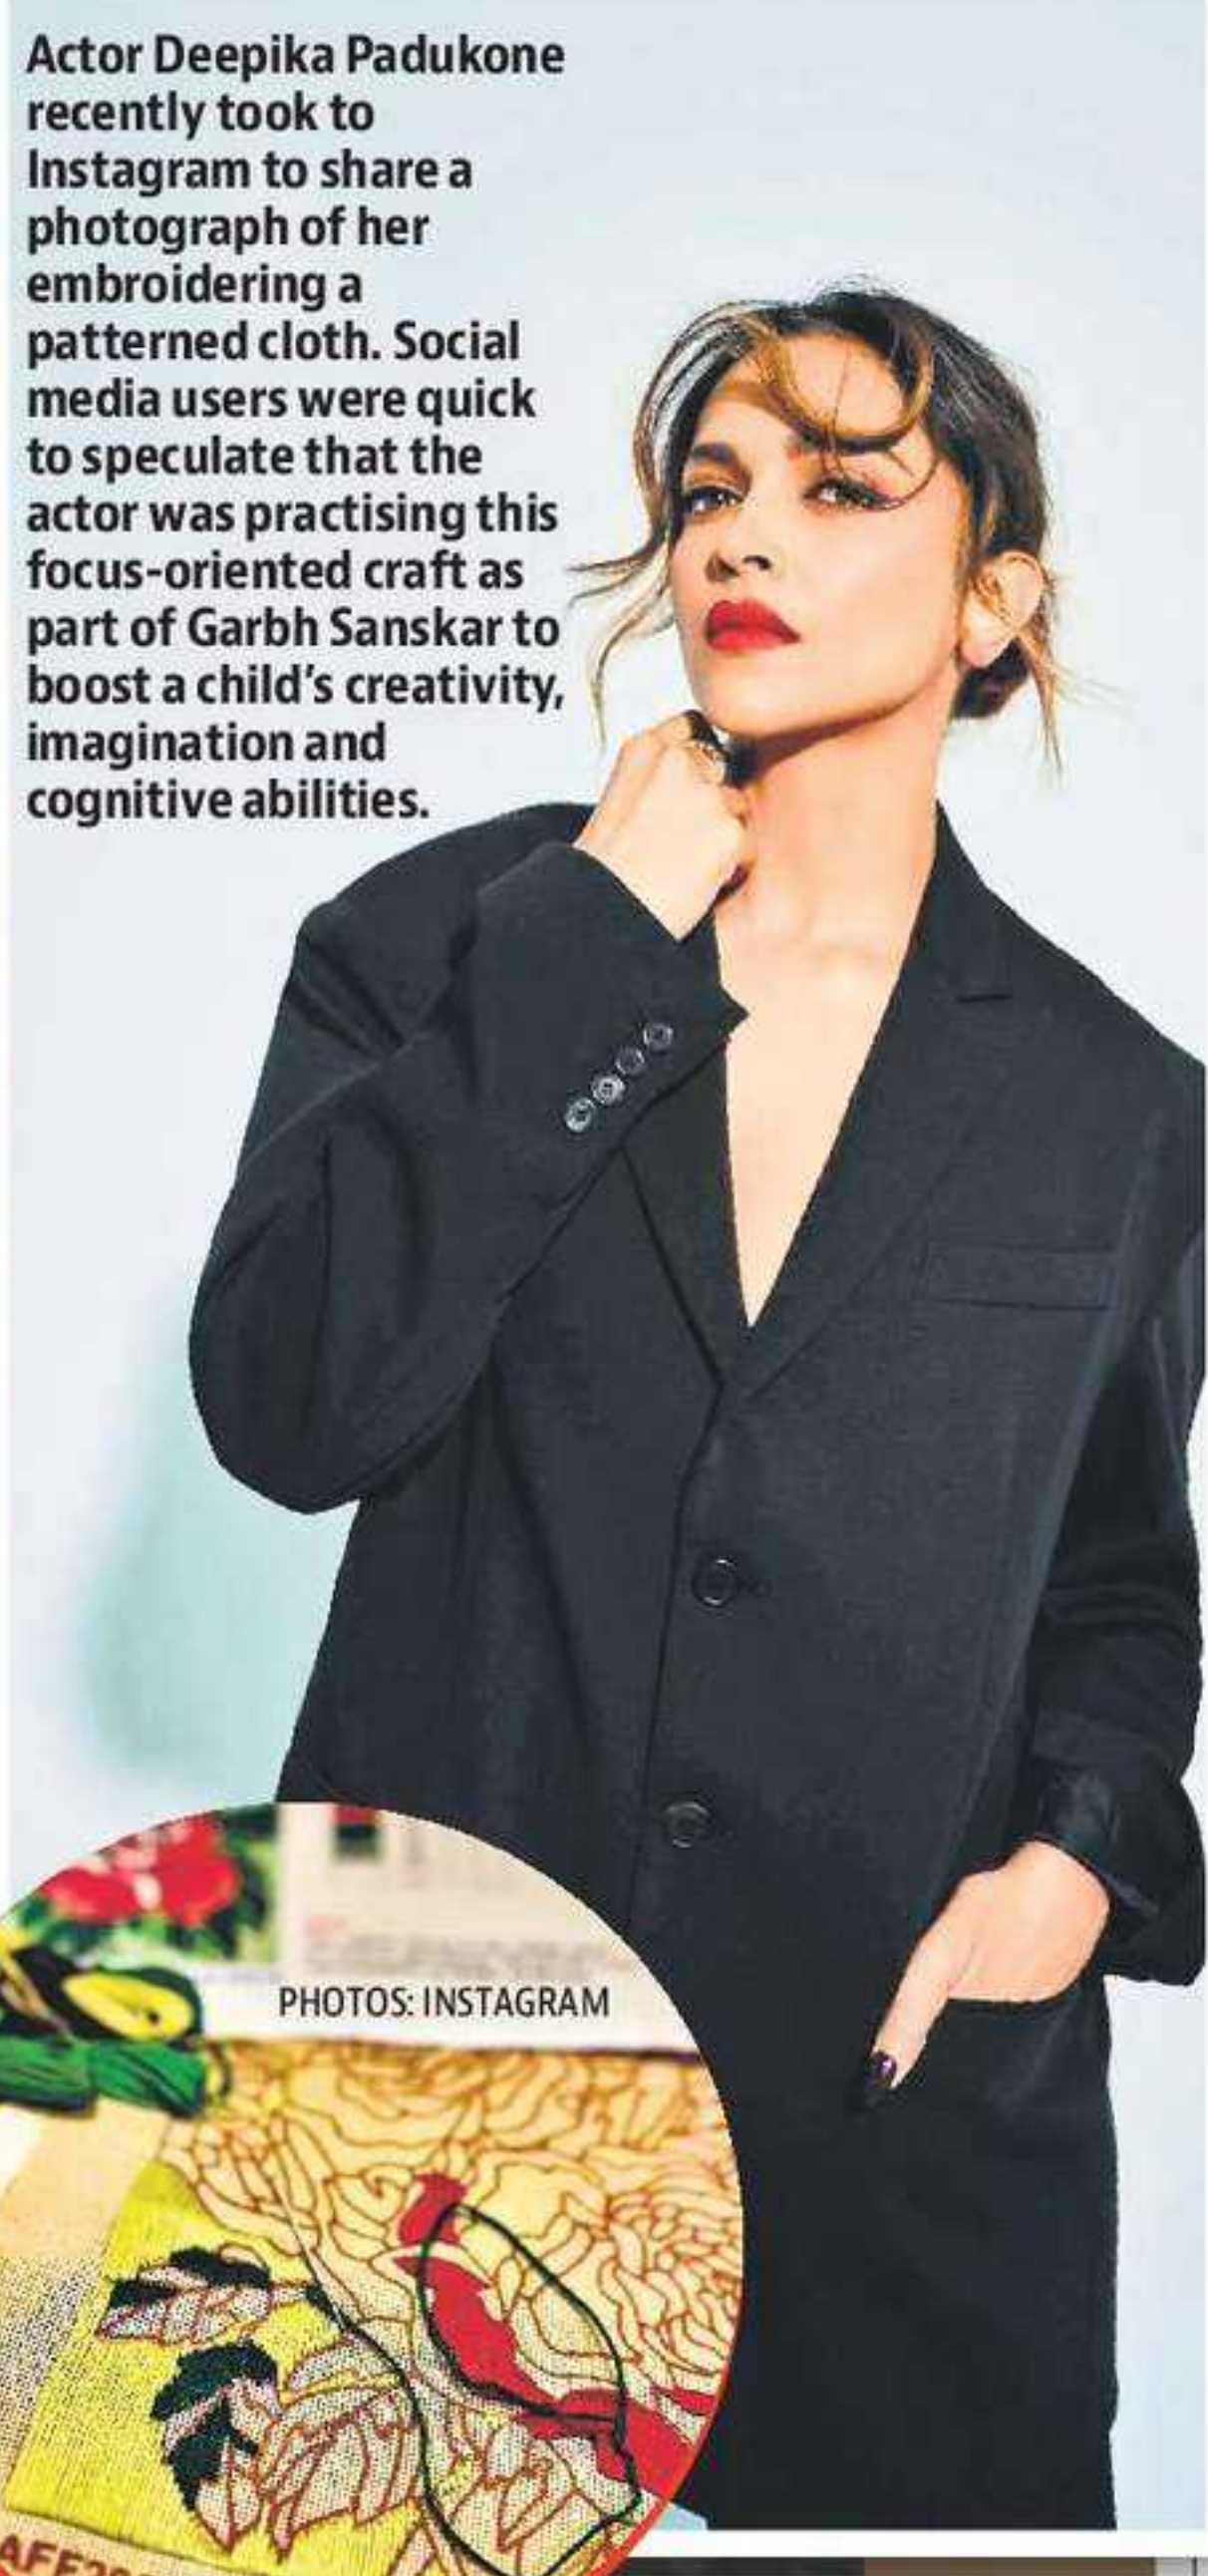

Bhagat notes that she has seen a rise in interest countrywide. "Garbh Sanskar has become a topic of interest for people from various walks of life, from top professionals to creatives," she explains. Launched in January 2020, her holistic practice offers webinars and practical classes, varying from free sessions to courses priced at ₹15,000.

VITAL ASPECTS

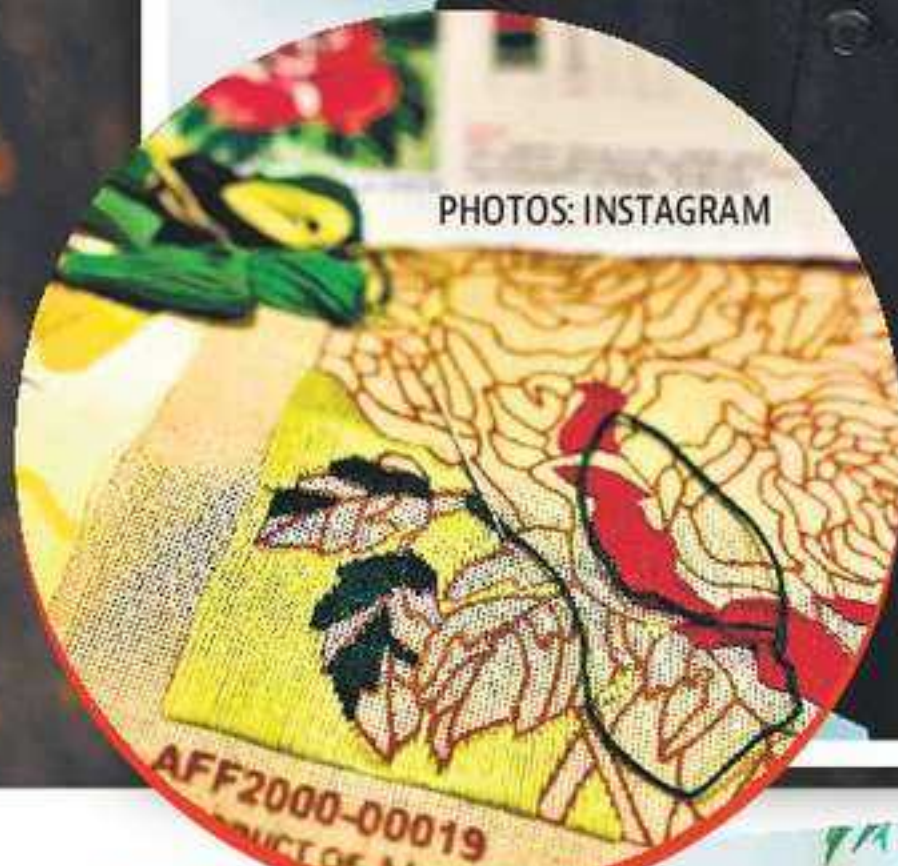

From wholesome foods to meditative practices, Garbh Sanskar tailors nutrition and wellness for each month of the pregnancy.

Arpita Agarwal, founder of Garbh Sanskar Jaipur, which offers online classes designed around holistic well-being (around ₹10,000 for a nine-month service) mentions pre-conception rituals like Garbadhan (to ensure the child's good health) Punsavan (stabilise the pregnancy) and Simantanayan (purifying the mother's environment).

Agarwal, who has educated over 10,000 expecting mothers about the practice since 2018 also underscores the significance of mantras as well. "From the seventh month onwards, the foetus can hear and respond to external stimuli, including calming music and sacred mantras," she ends.

Actor Deepika Padukone recently took to Instagram to share a photograph of her embroidering a patterned cloth. Social media users were quick to speculate that the actor was practising this focus-oriented craft as part of Garbh Sanskar to boost a child's creativity, imagination and cognitive abilities.

Sattu: Know the benefits of this cooling elixir

NUTRITIONAL BOUNTY

Sourced from roasted gram flour, sattu powder comprises protein, fibre, and essential minerals such as iron, magnesium and potassium. Its low glycemic index renders it suitable for managing blood sugar levels, while its antioxidant content contributes to overall health and immunity reinforcement.

Sattu powder, derived from roasted gram flour, is gaining traction in the fitness community due to its rich nutritional profile. Packed with protein, fibre and essential minerals, it offers numerous health benefits, including muscle repair, improved digestion, and blood sugar regulation. With its origins in traditional Indian cuisine, sattu powder is celebrated for its versatility and can be enjoyed in various dishes, from refreshing beverages to savoury snacks.

Nutritionist Deepti Lokeshappa notes that the preferred approach involves blending it with water or buttermilk to concoct a refreshing beverage. To make this drink, combine a two tablespoons of sattu powder with water or buttermilk. Season it with a pinch of salt, roasted cumin powder, and chopped green chillies or mint leaves if you want extra zest. This cooling elixir serves as the perfect antidote to summer.

Sattu powder also elevates the taste and nutritional profile of savoury snacks like litti chokha or stuffed parathas. "It can be used for sattu sharbat, laddoos, porridge, soup, and even pancakes," suggests Lokeshappa.

NAVIGATING SATTU POWDER CONSUMPTION

"While the recommended daily intake of sattu powder varies, individuals can typically consume 2 tbsp (20g) daily on an empty stomach," advises Lokeshappa. This allocation ensures a wholesome intake of protein, fibre and essential minerals, harmonising with other dietary sources. For those engaged in physical activity, the dosage may increase to 2 to 4 tbsp (20g-40g) per day for enhanced nutritional support. Ideally, sattu should be had during the day, either on an empty stomach or at least 2.5 hours post-meal ingestion to maximise its benefits.

Rashmika Mandanna

PHOTOS: INSTAGRAM/ RASHMIKA_MANDANNA

Dripping glamour

Actor Rashmika Mandanna gave her fans stunning fashion inspiration with her latest look, donning an exquisite black gown adorned with sequins and intricate embroidery from Mishru. The dress featured applique work which added to the look. Her hair was styled in side-parted soft waves and she finished off the look with smoky eyes, matte lips and a peachy glow. The actor kept her jewellery minimal with just a statement ring and earrings.

Steal the style

Looking to turn heads for an evening soirée? Then emulate Mandanna and don a sequined evening gown in a dark tone. Go minimal with accessories like the actor and add only a couple of statement pieces. For makeup, opt for defined brows, smoky eyes and matter lips, while keeping your mane side-parted and finished in waves.

Hats off to a very trendy summer

Here's how celebs are rocking the summer hat

Katrina Kaif

Ismat Tahseen

ismat.tahseen @partnerhindustantimes.com

As the heat continues to intensify, it's time to prepare your summer arsenal. Alongside sunglasses, shorts and breezy muslin dresses, don't forget the essential accessory: the large, floppy sun hat. Celebs have been effortlessly showcasing this trend, providing ample inspo for your next holiday or casual outing in town.

BOLLYWOOD'S SUNNY STARS ROCKING SUN HATS

From straw hats to oversized bucket hats, Bollywood actors have been flaunting various styles of sun hats. Katrina Kaif paired a large black and white sun hat with her monokini, exuding chic summer vibes and Mouni Roy went all out with an oversized hat worn with a bikini. Meanwhile, Alia Bhatt embraced the sunny accessory for her summer look and Pooja Hegde opted for a casual day out with friends, perfectly complemented by her choice of hat.

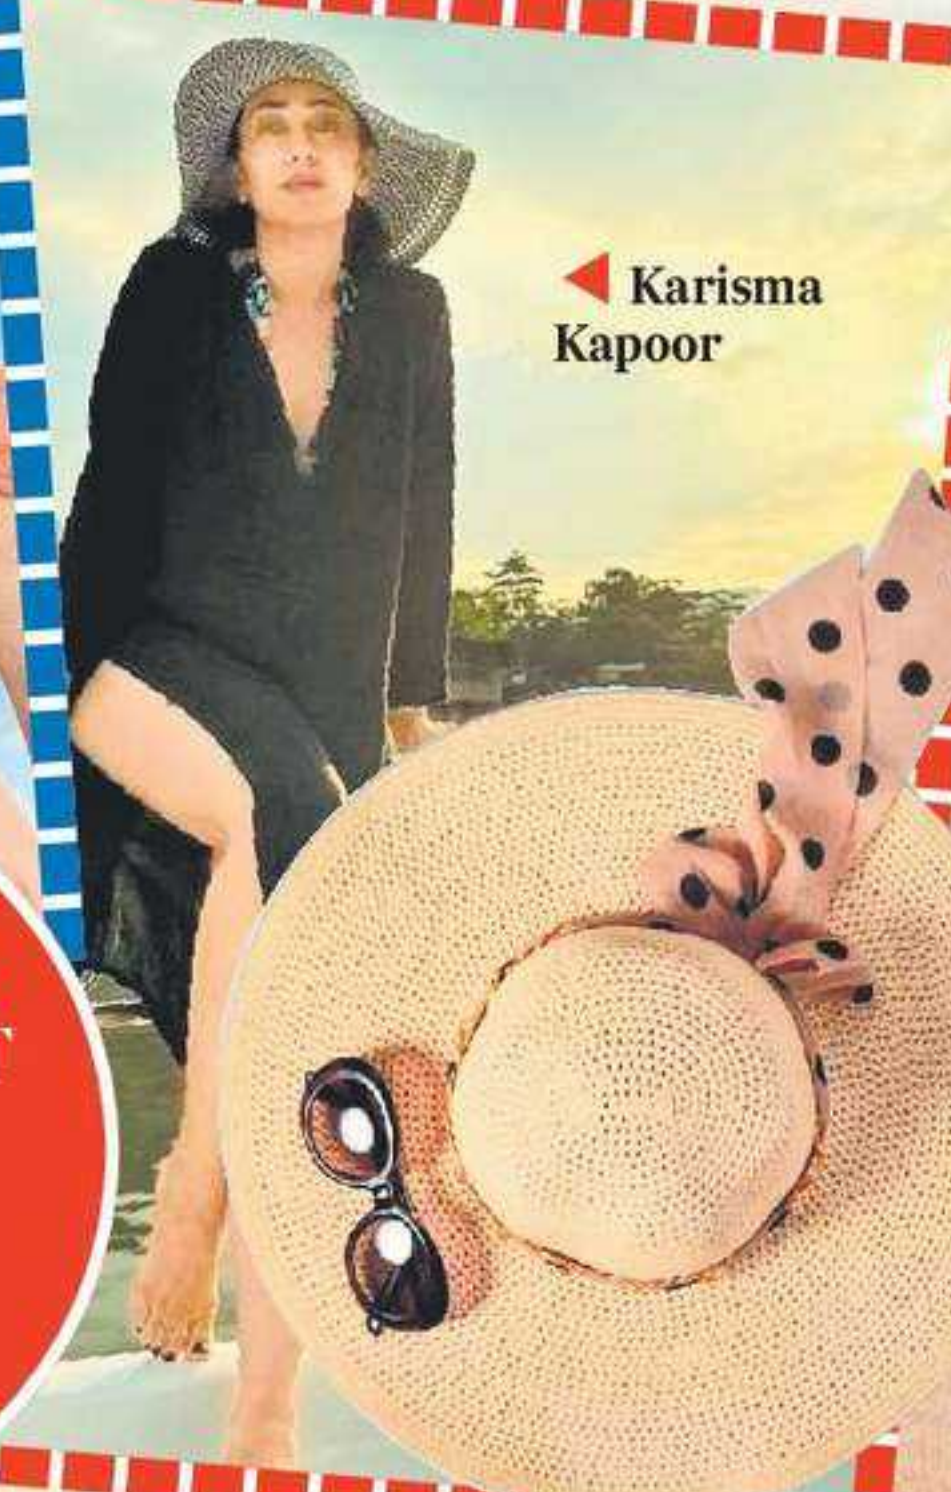

Planning an island getaway? Take cues from Ileana D'Cruz and customise your hat with a fun line, or channel Ananya Panday's adorable baby blue sun hat for a picture-perfect ensemble.

STYLIST INSIGHTS

According to celebrity stylist Shubhra Sharma, "straw hats are a summer essential, exuding an easy-breezy vibe". She says, "Large sun hats in classic black or white with a contrasting border add a touch of chic elegance, while cream or beige

SUN-SATIONAL HAT TRENDS

Celebrity stylist Vasudha Gupta shows how to wear a straw hat and a baseball hat:

- Beach-day chic
Pair a wide-brimmed straw hat with retro swimwear. For jewellery, go for mixed metal bracelets, statement earrings and ear cuffs. Add oversized sunglasses to the look.
- Be a baseball babe
Elevate your denims and white shirt with a red baseball cap if you step out in town. Add on gold or silver jewellery and throw on a pair of Mary Janes.

options frame the face. Customise your hat to match your sarongs and dresses, adding a personal touch to your summer ensemble."

CREATIVE VERSATILITY

The beauty of sun hats lies in their versatility. "A sun hat effortlessly complements various outfits. Pair it with a long dress, kaftan, shorts and halter top, or a coordinating set for a stylish summer statement," says Sharma.

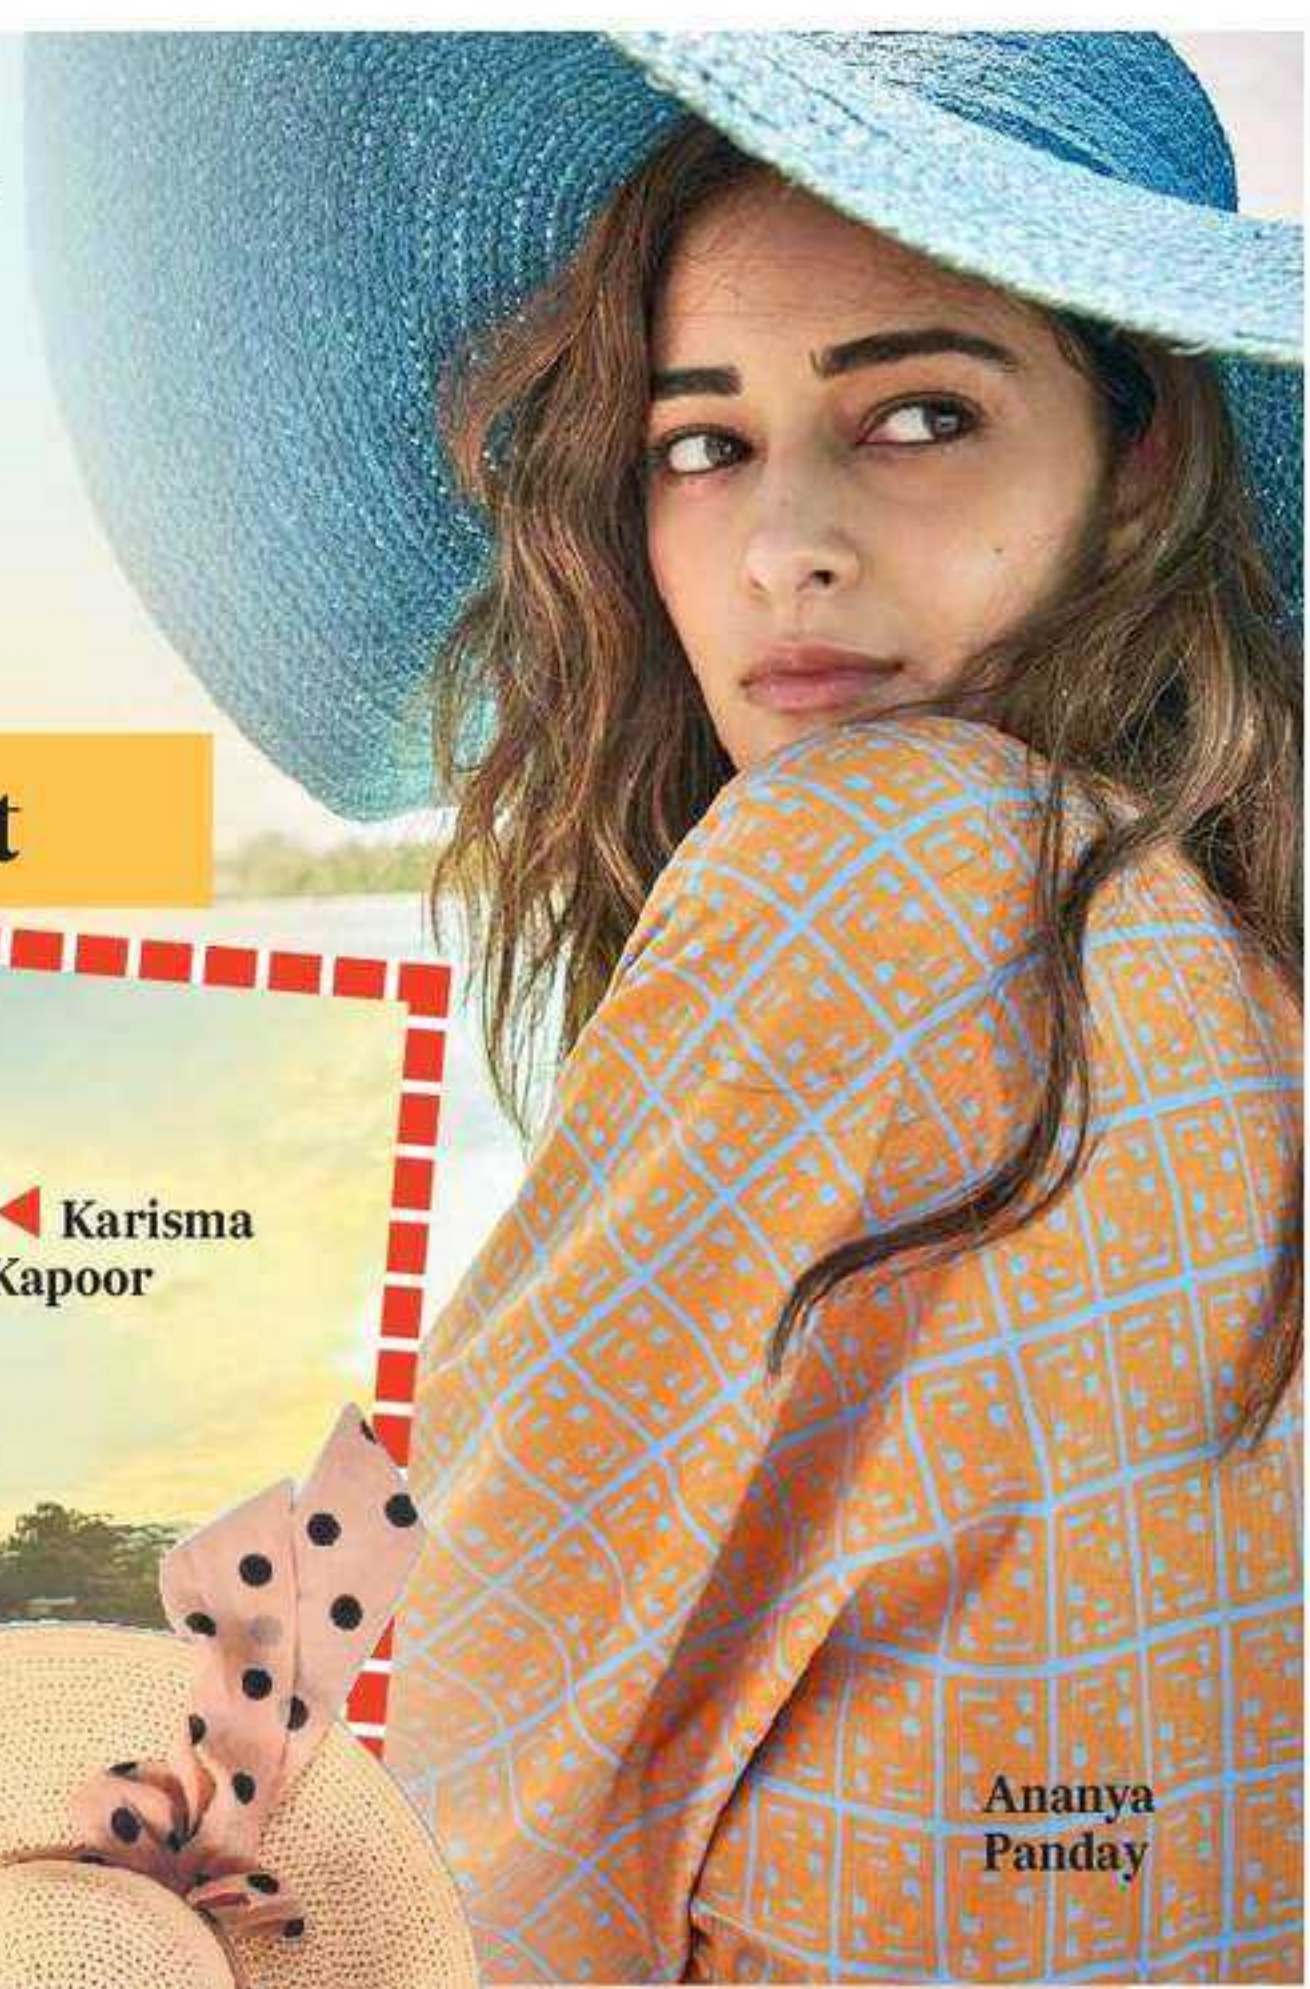

BEYOND STRAW: BUCKET HAT SEASON:

In addition to straw hats, bucket hats are also making a statement this season. She says, "Contemporary bucket hats pair well with denim outfits, while oversized hats evoke a timeless elegance reminiscent of Princess Diana's iconic style from the Victorian era."

'I'VE GROWN UP EATING ROSHAN DI KULFI FOR FREE!

On a short tour across his neighbourhood, Karol Bagh, 'Dilli ka launda' Mrinal Dutt tells us all about the food joints and shopping haunts he loves and his #CampusKeDin

Kriti Kambiri
kriti.kambiri@hindustantimes.com

He's played some suave and edgy characters on screen, be it His Story, Ishq-e-Nadaan or Ishq Next Door (2023). And when it comes to real life, Mrinal Dutt is someone who is always on and always up for a good time — a quintessential Karol Bagh wala Dilli ka launda! The Swatantra Veer Savarkar actor took HT City on a short tour of his neighbourhood, spilling the beans on his favourite food joints, shopping haunts and college days.

The nostalgia for kulfi and sweets hits hard

The kulfi here is legendary! We used to play cricket in the ground nearby and come straight here and have kulfi for free! I have grown up with the owner's son — and so now my friend is the owner... But I love, love, love sweet — like, I had root canals when I was 26! Sweet is my guilty pleasure, the one nemesis I have... But all bets are off when I come here. That nostalgia hits hard.

My mum prefers chhole bhature from Om while dad loves Sitaram, I love eating

After coming home, I had only chhole bhature for two days. I can't say no to them. It doesn't get better than Om's Corner in Karol Bagh and Sitaram's in Paharganj. Actually, my dad gets Sitaram and mum prefers Om. I can't choose between the two — I eat both!

'I STILL DON'T KNOW IF I PASSED COLLEGE OR NOT'

A 2009 graduate of BCom (Prog) from Delhi University's (DU) Zakir Husain Delhi College, Dutt got admission via the sports quota and spent most of his time on the field, playing cricket. "I had no interest in studying. I was told, 'Go and play, win matches, forget about your attendance.' Actually, I still don't know if I passed my final exams or not," he confesses, adding, "I already had a few backs in the previous years, and in my final-year also, I left a few answer sheets blank. Also, I knew I probably might have to take 10 more exams later. So, I never bothered to check my final results or take my degree." Dutt, who joined the dramatics society of the college in his second year, shares, "I was also doing fests at that time, and while performing a play in Connaught Place, got picked up by an ad agency. Later, I went to Mumbai and got a job there even before the results were out. Nobody from that point on ever asked me for a degree."

'YOU CAN FIND THE BEST 'FITS' IN SAROJINI, KAROL BAGH, JANPATH'

"I'm a smart shopper and look for stuff in Sarojini or Janpath. I found a really cool hat at a shop in Gaffar Market (Karol Bagh). In fact, I even bought my first second-hand phone from the market after saving my pocket money, during my school days!" says Dutt. Sharing how he scouted the streets before his Europe trip earlier in the year, he recalls, "A designer sent me a really cool jacket, but I was going for a longer time and needed more than one. I just didn't have the time, so I said, 'Chalo, Sarojini!' and let me tell you, I found the best jackets! I think we should all thrift. But one must bargain!" Does he haggle? "Karol Bagh ka naam roshan karna hai!" Dutt laughs.

Green Day: Law comes to the aid of residents rallying for park

Kriti Kambiri

Inspired by an abiding love for trees and zest to preserve greenery at all costs, residents of A3 Block, Janakpuri, have successfully brought to justice the miscreants who cut down and uprooted close to 80 trees and saplings in their beloved Heaven Road Park, with the help of Delhi High Court (HC). "We've seen it flourish on a barren tract of land for the past four decades. But on the evening of Holi, some misguided people slaughtered our park, as we watched with tears in our eyes," says resident Poonam Marwah. Resident Vipin Gupta, who was among the five people who first confronted the group who first began cutting the trees, says, "We requested everyone to come for the cause, which is how 36 residents signed the petition... Clean air is our fundamental right. We were asked if we wanted to press criminal charges but we just want our park back. Advocate Petal Chandhok says, "Delhi's air pollution concern has a lot to do with vehicular pollution, but also the lack of green cover and plantation of trees. This contempt petition was filed because a group of people would like to use this green space for personal use (wedding pandal). Residents complained to the MCD and the Delhi tree officers, but nothing happened."

THE CHRONOLOGY

- March 25: Miscreants enter A3 Block Heaven Road Park, Janakpuri, and chop down and uproot close to 80 trees and saplings
- April 13: PIL filed before the Delhi HC
- April 15: The PIL receives a mention
- April 16: Delhi HC passes a status quo order that the park may not be used for weddings or other commercial purposes and orders the MCD and Deputy Conservator of Forests to restore the space to its original glory

It's a very positive way of looking at this... Hats off to the judiciary for acting very well on the matter.

Cracking the camphor code for dry heels

PHOTOS: ADOBE STOCK AND SHUTTERSTOCK

▲ Camphor oil has the ability to soothe dry and flaky skin

Natalia Ningthoujam

Cracked heels, also known as heel fissures, are a common foot condition characterised by dry and flaky skin. These cracks can range from superficial to deep fissures and may cause discomfort, pain or even bleeding, according to cosmetologist and skin expert Dr Jatin Mittal. The solution? Looks like it all lies in the bark of a particular tree.

HOW DOES CAMPHOR HELP?

Camphor, which is derived from a tree of the same name, has been used since ages for its medicinal properties including its ability to soothe and heal the skin. It makes the skin hydrated, reduces inflammation and redness around cracked heels, and helps provide pain relief.

HOW TO USE THE OIL

Dilute it: Mix a few drops of camphor oil with a carrier oil like coconut oil to avoid skin irritation.

Soak your feet: Before applying the oil, soak your feet in warm water to make it easier for the oil to penetrate in the skin.

Dry your feet: Make sure to dry your feet in order to prevent infections.

Apply the mixture: Take a small amount of the diluted mixture and gently massage it.

Wear socks: Finally, put on a pair of socks to lock in the moisture.

'SOMETIMES NUDITY, FOUL LANGUAGE ARE NEEDED'

Actor Huma Qureshi believes bold content may be necessary for narrative impact, but she cautions against gratuitous depictions

Rishabh Suri

rishabh.suri@htlive.com

Huma Qureshi has experimented with a variety of genres in both film and OTT platforms. She's appeared in a lot of films lately, including the dark comedy Monica O My Darling (2022), the suspenseful thriller Mithya, the biographical drama Tarla (2023), and the politically charged series Maharani, whose third season debuted last month and for which the actor has been receiving plaudits. However, amid the plethora of options available to viewers today, Qureshi acknowledges the challenge of standing out. When we ask about the difficulty of making a project distinguish itself in the competitive OTT landscape, the 37-year-old responds, "That's a very marketing related question. I don't think it comes from a place of honesty. You make a good film or series when you are just trying to make it with the right intention. It will travel. You don't think about marketing and then make a project around it."

acknowledges the responsibility to self-censor content. "I feel OTT has often been blamed for showing too much nudity and foul language. I feel some of it is needed in the script sometimes, for shock value. Sometimes it is zabardasti. Dikhane ki zaroorat nahin hai," she reasons.

QUEEN'S JOURNEY

Her portrayal of Rani Bharti in Maharani has particularly resonated with audiences, evident from the show's success and the renewal for multiple seasons. Qureshi describes Rani's journey as a classic "hero's journey", highlighting her evolution from naivety to courage amid political turmoil. "She is somebody who was naive in the beginning, she doesn't know anything about politics, and she is thrust into a position of peers along the way. She meets people and realises her husband is a bad guy. How she finds inner morality and courage is what has evolved over the different seasons. I am amazed to see the response and respect the show has received," says the actor.

'TARLA WAS SCARY'

Reflecting on her role in the direct to OTT biopic, portraying the late cooking legend Tarla Dalal, Qureshi admits it was her most challenging yet rewarding experience. Mastering the "dialect and portraying the iconic figure with authenticity" were paramount for her, as she "aimed to avoid caricaturing the character". "I am a hard-core North Indian; Gujarati and Marathi sounds are alien to me. I had to work hard to get the dialect right," she ends.

Zendaya doubtful about Euphoria 3?

A few weeks ago reports claimed that Zendaya-starrer Euphoria 3's shoot has been delayed. Now, during her ongoing press tour, the actor gave some disappointing update. During the Challengers premiere in Los Angeles, Zendaya, who is also the executive producer of the series, shared that she is "not in charge" of whether the show returns for season 3. "If it's right for the characters and everything turns out the way it should, of course. But it's beyond me," she said.

It's a wrap for Mismatched 3

Actors Rohit Saraf and Prajakta Koli have wrapped up the shoot of the third season of Mismatched. The Netflix series follows their characters, Rishi and Dimple, as they explore love, life, friendship and its complexities.

The second season ended with the two completing their course and Rishi bagging the internship that Dimple was vying for. Directed by Akarsh Khurana, it also features Vidya Malavade, Rannvijay Singha and Taaruk Raina.

Time for Dil Dosti Dilemma

Web show Dil Dosti Dilemma, starring Anushka Sen recently dropped its trailer. The series is an adaptation of author Andaleeb Wajid's book Asmara's Summer. The show also features Kush Jotwani, Tanvi Azmi and Shishir Sharma in the lead. It starts streaming from April 25 on Prime Video.

#theburningquestion

What qualifies as a successful show/film on OTT today? How can streamers measure the success of a release?

The conventional metrics of evaluating the performance of a movie or show on a streaming platform would range from total number of watched hours, number of users who've watched it to the number of users who've completed a show or movie within a given period. That said, streaming platforms are now evolving to consider new parameters to measure the kind of buzz or excitement a show or movie generates and how that alters their perception and engagement level with users. For instance, platforms are also increasingly measuring the propensity of a movie or show to drive subscriptions or renewals. There is also a concentrated effort to deep dive into titles that bring dormant users back to the platform.

Sonali, Jaideep back with The Broken News

Actors Sonali Bendre, Jaideep Ahlawat and Shriya Pilgaonkar are back with the second season of their thrilling newsroom drama, The Broken News. The show's trailer dropped this week and it will start streaming on Zee5 from May 3. The show explores the field of yellow journalism, TRP battles, politics and more.

Emma Thompson, Ruth Wilson come together for Down Cemetery Road

Actors Emma Thompson and Ruth Wilson will be headlining the series adaptation of Mick Herron's novel Down Cemetery Road for Apple TV+, reports Variety. The investigative drama centres on Sarah Tucker (Wilson) and Zoë Boehm (Thompson) trying to find answers to the mysterious explosion of Tucker's neighbour's house, where a girl goes missing. As the duo digs deeper, they find themselves ensnared in a complex conspiracy.

Reliving the action of Balakot

Lara Dutta Bhupathi and Jimmy Shergill-starrer Ranneeti: Balakot & Beyond's trailer was unveiled recently. The show delves into behind-the-scenes action of India's largest defence operation, set in the background of the Pulwama attack in 2019 and the subsequent Balakot airstrike by the Indian Air Force. The series also features actors Ashutosh Rana and Ashish Vidyarthi, and will be out on Jio Cinema on April 25.

Given the cyclical nature of the fashion industry, it's no surprise that many fashion aficionados are now embracing their cherished archival collections. Archival fashion, referring to clothing from a designer's older collections, particularly those with significant influence in the fashion world, has drawn attention.

Designer Pawan Sachdeva elaborates, stating, "Exploring archival collections provides us with a historical record of rare materials and the broader popularity of luxury goods. Preserving these pieces for future generations fosters a sense of identity and appreciation for past cultural trends."

Actor Zendaya recently showcased her affinity for archival fashion by wearing a metallic bodysuit from Thierry Mugler's Fall/Winter 1995 couture collection. This move solidified her status as a true proponent of archival fashion.

Closer home, celebrities like Alia Bhatt, Sonam A Kapoor, Bhumi Pednekar and Swara Bhasker have also joined the archival fashion trend.

Archival pieces are renowned for their priceless value and often reflect the uniqueness of the garments. The surge in popularity can be attributed in part to the pandemic, which prompted fashion enthusiasts to shift their focus from streetwear to archival styles. TikTok users showcasing their vintage Margiela finds online also contributed to the trend. Additionally, the prevalence of fast fashion has led consumers to seek out pieces of higher quality and exclusivity.

Designer Anju Modi reflects on the trend, noting, "We yearn for a return to a slower, more meaningful way of life. In the past, people focussed on particular arts, resulting in intricately crafted pieces. Today, the fashion industry is dominated by speed and technology, leading us to crave the beauty and craftsmanship of ancient, handcrafted marvels."

But how do designers incorporate archival references into their own collections? Modi explains, "As designers, we often draw inspiration from the past. I frequently visit museums before embarking on a new collection. While the inspiration from historical artifacts is timeless, the challenge lies in reinventing these designs to meet contemporary demands."

Celebrity stylist Isha Bhansali offers tips on styling archival pieces, suggesting, "For many Indians, archival pieces often include their mothers' sarees or jewellery. Pair vintage jewellery with a white shirt, dress, or any solid outfit. Ensure that the accessories complement the ensemble or opt for a minimalist approach to avoid overshadowing the pieces."

Snailed it! How mucin madness is hitting the skincare scene

Whenever a snail moves, they leave a slimy substance behind them, and this is known as snail mucin

Packed with proteins, peptides, enzymes, and hyaluronic acid, snail mucin stimulates collagen production, enhancing skin elasticity and firmness sheet masks, snail mucin offers a natural and effective solution for radiant, youthful-looking skin. Dr Khuraana elaborates on the benefits of snail mucin for skin health:

- Boosts collagen production: Packed with proteins, peptides, enzymes, and hyaluronic acid, snail mucin stimulates collagen production, enhancing skin elasticity and firmness.
- Promotes skin hydration: The high hyaluronic acid content deeply hydrates and moisturizes the skin, preventing moisture loss and maintaining a soft, plump complexion.
- Delays skin ageing: Rich in antioxidants and nutrients, snail mucin combats visible signs of aging such as fine lines and wrinkles, providing nourishment and protection to the skin.
- Improves skin texture: With gentle exfoliating properties, snail mucin removes dead skin cells, gradually softening and smoothing the skin's texture.

- Protects from external pollution: Loaded with antioxidants, snail mucin forms a barrier against environmental damage, shielding the skin from premature aging, sunspots, and pollution.
- Aids in wound healing: Containing manganese, zinc, and glycoproteins, snail mucin accelerates the healing of skin wounds like cuts and acne scars, while its anti-inflammatory properties soothe redness and irritation.

Whether in the form of serums, moisturizers or sheet masks, snail mucin offers a natural and effective solution for radiant, youthful-looking skin

Folks, snail mucin is surely the latest sensation in skincare. This revolutionary ingredient has captivated the attention of beauty enthusiasts and experts alike, marking a shift in skincare trends toward innovative and high-quality products. With the global skincare market projected to surpass $167 billion by 2030, emerging treatments and ingredients like snail mucin are sparking excitement and driving industry evolution. But what exactly is snail mucin and how does it work its wonders? Let's delve into the details. Snail mucin, or snail secretion, is a viscous substance produced by snails as they move. Dr Neha Khuraana, MD, a board-certified dermatologist explains, "This slimy secretion is rich in proteins, nutrients, and antioxidants, serving to protect snails from cuts and wounds. It has gained popularity in the skincare world due to its potential benefits." Whether in the form of serums, moisturizers, or

From bamboo fountains and table-top fountains to pondless waterfalls, one can explore several home décor ideas this summer

After a long, exhausting day, imagine sinking into your sofa, closing your eyes and simply listening to the soothing sounds of falling water. You don't need a luxurious resort for this tranquil experience; you can create your own Zen fountain at home.

Harsha Murarka, an interior stylist, explains the appeal of water fountains in home décor: "Water features effortlessly enhance interior spaces, serving as captivating focal points. They are also believed to promote positive energy flow within the home, evoking feelings of abundance. The sound of flowing water has an immediate stress-reducing effect, inducing relaxation."

If you're considering adding a water feature to your home, here are some tips:

- Indoor fountains: Whether it's a small tabletop model or a large floor-standing piece, indoor fountains offer versatility. They can be placed anywhere from the entryway to the living room or even the bedroom. Incorporating a fountain into the office lobby is also a popular trend.
- Wall-mounted fountains: Opt for a wall-mounted fountain if you have limited living space. It adds a vertical dimension to the area without taking up valuable floor space.
- Garden fountains: Extend the tranquility outdoors with garden fountains or pondless waterfalls. These features create a serene oasis and add a rustic charm to outdoor spaces. They are perfect for outdoor gatherings, parties, or simply as a personal retreat amidst nature.

KEEPING IT NOSTALGIC: SPIN-OFFS CARRY THE LEGACY

Compiled by Sugandha Rawal Tagra

Recently, loyal fans of The Real Housewives series were treated to a new tantalising spin-off that followed the legacy of the original. Riding this wave of old glory, Hollywood is set to keep many beloved classic series afloat with new spin-offs serving fresh storylines in the OG universe

RAY DONOVAN
A spin-off of Ray Donovan, a hit crime drama, is set to be directed and executive-produced by Guy Ritchie, who recently directed The Covenant (2023). Titled The Donovans, the new series will be loosely based on the successful 2013 series that ran for seven seasons and starred Liev Schreiber as a professional mediator for law firms in Los Angeles (US).

YOUNG SHEDDON
The world of Young Sheldon will expand with a spin-off series centred on new parents Georgie and Mandy. Actors Montana Jordan and Emily Osment are set to reprise their roles in the new half-hour, multi-camera comedy, which is slated to launch during the 2024-2025 season. It will be created by The Big Bang Theory and Young Sheldon executive producers Chuck Lorre, Steven Molaro and Steve Holland.

LEGALLY BLONDE
Hollywood star Reese Witherspoon's popular film Legally Blonde (2001) is getting a spin-off series for the streaming world. Screenwriters Josh Schwartz and Stephanie Savage, best known for their work in the hit teen drama series Gossip Girl, will write the show, as per Variety. The series will be backed by Witherspoon's production banner.

THE REAL HOUSEWIVES OF BEVERLY HILLS
In this spin-off of The Real Housewives of Beverly Hills (RHOBH), we follow singer Erika Jayne as she prepares for her solo music residency in Las Vegas. The documentary series, titled Bet It All on Blonde, features exclusive behind-the-scenes footage of her performances that also feature in the 13th season of the original reality show. While the first part of the series was aired in March, the second part is set to come out in the latter half of 2024. Jayne first made her appearance in RHOBH in the sixth season of the series.

GAME OF THRONES
Several spin-offs stemming from the world of Game of Thrones are in development. The first spin-off, House of the Dragon, has already emerged as a success. Other series in development include one focusing on the legends of Aegon the Conqueror, The Hedge King and The Sea Snake. However, a possible spin-off centered around Jon Snow, which was initially said to be in the works but has encountered delays, has been cancelled.

SUITS
The Suits franchise will continue its story through a brand-new spin-off. Titled Suits LA, the upcoming series will be set in the same universe as the original 2011 legal drama with a brand-new cast. In the new storyline, actor Stephen Amell is set to lead the show through the character of Ted Black. The original series featured actors Patrick J Adams, Gabriel Macht, Rick Hoffman, Meghan Markle and Gina Torres.
